

District Meeting VFW and Auxiliary To Be Held Sunday

Veterans of Foreign Wars, District 7, and ladies' auxiliary will hold an encampment June 15 at the VFW hall in Rogue River. Dinner will be at noon and the meetings will open at 11:30 p.m. Department Commander Bill Ashworth and Mrs. Ashworth, department president, will be present.

District 7 is made up of posts and auxiliaries in Curry, Josephine and Jackson counties, there being ten posts and nine auxiliaries in the district. Charles L. Smith, district commander, and Mrs. John O. Walker, district president, anticipate a large attendance at this district meeting.

Both post and auxiliary members take part in many hospital activities. Since the Camp White post is a "bachelor" post, the auxiliaries of the district take turns at serving refreshments and furnishing entertainment at the open meeting which this post holds the third Wednesday of each month.

June 1, district 17 post and auxiliary members took homemade cookies, furnished by the auxiliaries, to the Veterans Administration hospital, Roseburg, distributed the cookies and visited with patients. Those making the trip were Henry Lafferty and Cornelius Rost, Walter A. Phillips post, Ashland, Mrs. Lafferty, president of that auxiliary, and Mrs. Rost; Mrs. Amy Randle, auxiliary district hospital chairman, and Mrs. John O. Walker, president of district 7; District Commander Charles L. Smith; Mrs. Ruth Johnson, president of Del Rogue auxiliary, Grants Pass, and other members of Grants Pass post and auxiliary.

Jerome McDougall Both Acts, Directs Footlighter Play

Jerome McDougall, Crater High School drama teacher, is cast as Dr. Rendle in the Footlighters' drama, "Suspect," now in rehearsal. Mr. McDougall, who is also directing the play, stepped into the part when circumstances forced Robert Corliss to withdraw. He directed "Light Up the Sky" for the group last year, and played the role of Doug Proctor in "A Guest in the House."

Playing Janet Rendle, the doctor's daughter, is Jerve Cleek. She is making her second appearance with the amateur theater group, having been seen as Ellen Griswold in "Goodbye My Fancy." Janet is the outspoken young modern whose determination to win Robert Smith away from the possessiveness of his mother precipitates the crisis in the suspenseful drama.

"Suspect," written by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham, begins a five-day run at the little theater on the Fairgrounds on June 24th. Ticket sales will begin soon, according to Frank Buchter, president of Footlighters.

What's New at BELL'S

Next Sunday's the day to pamper Pop! This year let's be different — and make his gift a bit out of the ordinary. For example: Tickle his funnybone with a zany figurine for den or rumpus room. Cannibals and Western characters. Add to his pride as a host with some hollow stem beer glasses. These lend a champagne flourish to that favorite summer beverage. If he's a barbecue chef, encourage him with some really good stainless steel tools. Broilers, forks, turners, etc. Equip his desk with a functional brass lamp. Two adjustable arms make it a cinch to solve any lighting problem — and its simple lines and fine finish appeal to masculine tastes.
