Jungle Stew Satisfying Indoors or Outdoors

If we say out-of-doors, why shouldn't we say in-of-doors? No matter . . . Wherever you serve this, everyone will declare it good eating.

2 cups navy (white) beans
8 slices bacon, minced
4 onions, sliced
8 small potatoes
1 large can tomatoes
1 quart water
1/2 tablespoon salt
2 cloves
1 bay leaf

Soak beans overnight and in morning, cook until half done in a large kettle. Be sure to leave them in the "soaking" water because it has valuable nutrients. Add water as needed. Brown onion with bacon and add with everything else to the kettle. Cook until tender with the beans. Cole slaw is fine with this. Combine white and red cabbage for color interest. Relax and wait for declarations of satisfaction.

Deviled Eggs Variations

No one ever heard of a picnic without stuffed eggs. Fine thing about this recipe is that you can vary it by adding deviled ham, finely minced meat or fish, chopped parsley or green pepper. Cut 6 hard-cooked eggs in half. Remove yolks. Press yolks through sieve and combine with 1 tablespoon softened butter, 2 teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon salad mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper. 1 tablespoon salad dressing. Beat until smooth. Add more whites. Garnish with parsley and perhaps paprika. Twelve stuffed halves.

Kamp Kabobs. Cut cored apples into 1/2 inch thick rings. Slice white onion into 1/4 inch slices. Cut beef or lamb into 1 inch cubes. Run a pointed stick through one end of a long slice of bacon, then a ring of apple, a slice of onion and a cube of meat. Lap the bacon up over this and run stick through it again. Broil in kitchen broiler or over glowing barbecue; a matter of about 20 minutes. If removed to patio or yard, serve from hot casserole.

Outdoor Enthusiasts Will Like These Foods

Good inside, also. First we crave to get into the wide open spaces and no sooner do we get there than we want to eat. Any barbecued meat tastes better with a little smoke in the eyes, hamburgers taste better with a twig or two and a really superb hot dog on a green stick must have a portion of it burned to a crisp.

Hot Dog Sprees. Give any child (or his father) a choice and this will be "it". Plenty of franks and buns (toasted or plain), catsup or chili sauce, mustard and pickle relish and you're set for an informal feast. If you like spicy stuff, whip up a barbecue sauce, cook it down until thick and have ready for spooning over the franks (or hamburgers or beef or pork or canned meat "fingers") after they're nestled in the split buns.

For a balanced meal, serve an assortment of green onions, carrot sticks, radishes and perhaps pickled fruit. Or accompany with a big salad of tossed greens or cabbage slaw with diced pineapple. Hot coffee and an iced beverage are both practically mandatory.

For a dessert, a fluffy pudding or strawberries served with crisp cookies seems about right. Or one of the new-season melons that is just putting in an appearance.

All-American Picnic Plates

Eatable anywhere. Meat loaf and pickle sandwiches, deviled eggs, cole slaw, lemonade or orangeade quickly made from a frozen concentrate, brownies, toasted marshmallows. Sliced baked ham, hot baked beans, tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese, fruit punch, layer cake.

Dutch Lunch. Cold-cut assortment might include salami, olive loaf and luncheon meat with deviled eggs, crisp radishes, cabbage slaw in bowl lined with garden fresh green onions, rye bread, fresh fruit, coffee and milk.

Family Choice. Meat loaf and Thüringer sausage make good companions, along with potato salad atop thick tomato slices, perhaps corn-on-the-cob, cookies and fresh fruit.

Hot Cheese Potato Salad

Every week-end has its potato salad and here is one that is different. So good that it is certain to be repeated often during the summer ahead.

6 medium potatoes, boiled in skins
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1/3 cup vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 hard-cooked eggs
1/4 cup hot bacon fat
2 cups grated American cheese

Peel potatoes and cube. Combine with chopped vegetables, vinegar, seasonings and hard-cooked eggs. Toss gently. Pour bacon fat over. Spoon into greased baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese and broil until cheese melts. Serve at once. We warned you that it was "different."

Meal Loaf, Hot or Cold

Or both. Double the recipe and have it hot one day, cold another.

3/4 pound ground veal
3/4 pound ground lean pork
1 small clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons grated cheese
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk

Combine ingredients in order given, mixing well. Pack firmly into a greased loaf pan. Bake in fairly hot oven, 400 degrees, for 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 45 minutes longer. Serves 5 or 6. The cheese makes this loaf slice exceptionally well either hot or cold.

Hamburger Easily Toted

Good western word, "toted." A steady rival of the frankfurter among grilled delights is the hamburger. Hamburgers are easily toted to a picnic. Shape patties from seasoned hamburger. Stack, using pieces of waxed paper a little larger than each to separate patties. Pack in a box if you're leaving the yard, wrapping in waxed paper or aluminum foil.

Picnic Pointers Predominate In Holiday Market Report

Plan ahead, do your shopping early, carefully scan the advertisements for food, in this newspaper. Be ready for whatever the fates provide; a quick picnic, a motor trip, beach barbecue, dutch treat or family and friends dropping in unexpectedly.

A really up-to-date picnic menu is as interesting and nourishing as a meal in the house.

Chilled fresh fruit and crisp green vegetables as well as hot foods now go everywhere. There are insulated containers available in various shapes and sizes for "keeping" foods cold. Other things also may well serve as an "ice chest." The very biggest kettle can accommodate everything that needs chilling. Cover kettle bottom thickly with crushed ice.

Then place the food in plastic bags or glass jars in the kettle and pack with more crushed ice. Wrap thick layers of paper or towels around kettle for obvious reason. For the same obvious reason, keep in shade when you "arrive."

Hot foods of the mixed dishes variety that contain meat, poultry, fish, cheese, eggs, etcetera, really should be packed in one of those insulated wide-mouthed gallon jugs commonly used for keeping liquids hot or cold. Heat jug first by filling with hot water. Empty, and immediately pack in the food, piping hot.

Cooking-out-of-doors addicts already know most of the answers. Broilers and fryers are happily plentiful and reasonably priced; perfect picnic food.

Turkeys for family affairs are packed with several days good eating; reasonably priced.

Popular meats. Have plenty of frankfurters and an extra supply of hamburgers on hand. Pick up a few extra cans of such things as ready-to-use, sliceable luncheon meats, chicken, pork sausage, ham, beef tongue, lunch tongue, corned beef, vienna sausages, dried sliced beef, corned beef hash, spaghetti with meat balls, tamales, beef stew.

Choose vegetables, fruits and melons from the wealth of good seasonal things available.

In and Around Eagle Point

Eagle Point — Twenty-one neighbors and friends drove to Tiller on June 10 to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dahack and enjoy a picnic in their beautiful flower garden which is known as "Dahacks' Gardens." Enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Clifford and Miss Alice Stinson, Medford; Mrs. Ray Harnish, Mrs. Ethel Coy, Mrs. 'Rick' Walgamott, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Ballard and family, Mrs. Ben Boren and family, Mrs. Mildred Register, and Wm. Nickell of Eagle Point; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Messall and Maxine and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Messall of Lake Creek.

Eagle Pointers arose Thursday morning to find that 'old Frosty' had stolen through their gardens during the night leaving evidence of 'his' dirty work in many places, which came as a surprise considering it being near the middle of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coy, Eagle Point, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Henderson and Mrs. Augusta Perry at dinner June 11. Mrs. Gertrude Stanley, Eagle Point, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Huber and two daughters, and Mrs. Vera Nelson of Midway road to Nehalem, Oregon, last Friday, to attend a community picnic of old neighbors and relatives on Sunday, June 8. Mrs. Stanley and sister-in-law Mrs. Nelson, and Mrs. Huber a daughter of Mrs. Nelson lived in Nehalem valley many years before coming to the Rogue river valley to live, so they doubly enjoyed the week-end, meeting many of the old friends again and renewing old acquaintances. They returned home Monday evening.
