Hung Jury Results In GP Slots Trial

Grants Pass — Trial of a man charged with possession and ownership of illegal gambling machines has concluded here with a hung jury, according to the Grants Pass Courier. A new trial will be set later.

Clifford G. Martin, the defendant, was on trial in the court of Justice of the Peace J. R. Mathews. The six-person jury was deadlocked, three to three, with no hope of a settlement when the trial ended.

During the trial Martin testified that none of the "console" type machines had been in use since 1950, and none of the "one armed bandits" type since before that. He told the court that in the past he had had machines in Josephine, Jackson, Curry and Douglas counties in Oregon, and two California counties.

He said all were operated on a "free-play" basis.

The machines whose ownership was in question were part of a cache of 154 found recently in a raid on a chicken house in Grants Pass.

Eugene — (U.P.) — University of Oregon's 75th anniversary year observance ended Saturday with the presentation of degrees to 1952 graduates in commencement exercises.
