College Announces Workshop on Art; Instructor Coming

Ashland — Presentation of a special art workshop at Southern Oregon college on June 24, 25 and 26 was announced today by Marion Ady, associate professor of art. The class will be instructed by Cleo Heller, San Francisco, a representative of the Binney and Smith Art company.

The workshop will be open to any teachers and art students of the valley, whether or not they are enrolled in the summer course at the college, Miss Ady said. There will be no charge for the course and all materials will be furnished.

Workshop hours will be from 3 to 9 p. m. on the three days. Interested students are asked to register with Miss Ady as soon as possible as the class must be limited to 45 members.

Miss Heller will demonstrate use of new art materials and explain new teaching techniques Miss Ady said. The California art specialist presented a similar class here two years ago and teachers were able to arrange credit for attendance through individual school superintendents.

Coming Art Show To Be Major Event

One of the major events of the summer for valley artists will be the fifth annual southern Oregon art exhibit which will open June 21 in the high school library in Grants Pass. The show, which will continue until June 29, is sponsored each year by the Grants Pass branch, American Association of University Women.

Judges for the show will be Mrs. Rachel Griffin and Michele Russo of the Portland Art museum. Entry cards for the show may be obtained from the Art center in Medford.

The Grange

Sams Valley Grange met June 8 with Lester James presiding as master. Ralph James was on his way to La Grande to the State Grange convention. Emmet Nealon reported that hay prices were $18 to $25 in the field. A report was made on the last Soil Conservation District meeting concerning irrigation for Sams Valley. State engineers there stated that irrigation was possible and could be obtained if the farmers in Sams Valley were willing to go out and fight for it.

The Grange sponsored Pankey Cemetery Association met recently and organized and set up a committee to look after maintenance of the cemetery. Paul Schulz was elected chairman. Jerome Fitzgerald and Bill Dugan were other members of the trustee committee. Rosie Abbott was elected clerk.

It was voted that Grange members continue to vote locally and elect their state officers instead of passing that responsibility on to State Grange members.

Charley Sanderson was reported as ill. And it was agreed that some help in getting better road maintenance should be given Max Shulz who has not been well.

Lester James, presiding as master, asked all members to be thinking about ideas and projects the Grange could sponsor that would bring about a better and more progressive community.

The Bill Dugan family had charge of the display table and had an interesting and informative display of marine life and Mexican handcraft brought back from their trip to Mexico. They also had a set of Kodachrome slides taken on this trip which were shown with appropriate narration from Bill Dugan. In addition he had some beautiful slides of local scenes taken on a horseback trek into the mountains.
