

Problems of Fruit Viruses Discussed By Pathologist

Two major virus fruit problems in the Rogue river valley the albino cherry and pear measles, were discussed Monday evening and this morning, according to C. B. Cordy, county agent, horticulture, when 14 plant pathologists, specialists in stone fruit viruses, visited Medford.

The specialists, who are on a tour led by L. C. Cochran, principal plant pathologist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture stationed at the citrus station, Riverside, Calif., stopped here on route to a meeting at Corvallis, the agent added.

Cherry Virus Disease

They looked over the albino cherry virus situation, "which is very destructive, and has more or less ruined the cherry industry in the county by completely eliminating the major portion of the cherry acreage," Cordy said. He pointed out that this is the only place where the albino disease is found in Oregon. It is almost identical, with a few exceptions, to the California "buckskin" disease, but is more destructive.

The group also met Monday evening with the Jackson county Fruit Growers league and discussed the virus called the pear measles — one which causes "great loss" to the bosc pears, according to Cordy.

Members of the group are the leading specialists of each of their home areas and were, besides Cochran, George Cochran, and Bryce N. Wadley, Logan, Utah; George N. Nyland, Davis, Calif.; Gilbert L. Stout, Sacramento, Calif.; William Rader Modesto, Calif.; E. L. Reeves, R. C. Lindner and H. C. Kirkpatrick, Wenatchee, Wash.; A. S. Costa, Campinas, Brazil; E. C. Blodgett, Prosser, Wash.; and J. A. Milbrath, Corvallis, Ore.

Oregon University Given Polio Grant

Portland — (U.P.) — The University of Oregon Medical school Tuesday received a $7,556 grant from the March of Dimes to continue research in an effort to increase the yield of polio virus in non-nervous tissue.

The grant was announced jointly by Dr. David W. E. Baird, dean of the medical school, and Basil O'Connor, president of the national foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The research work will be directed by Dr. Arthur W. Frisch, associate professor of bacteriology.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY

Hollywood—(U.P.)—Hollywood, land of neuroses and ulcers, abounds in psychiatrists and psychologists, and Tuesday there's even one who will "analyze" you over a $5 steak.

The House of Murphy, a swank steakhouse that is the Toots Shors of Hollywood, Aline Mosby features a table-side psychologist who drops around between courses to listen to your trouble.

Blond David Rice doesn't claim to be a doctor or any disciple of Freud. But he insists that for $1.50 he tells the movie celebrities some of the same things they find out on an analyst's couch at $25 an hour.

There's one difference. Rice is a happy fellow who tells his customers only the good things.

In Capsule Form "I analyze a person in capsule form," he explained with dignity between table-side consultations. "I tell people their better points and how to overcome their weaker ones through constructive criticism. I give them a mental lift.

"If they want sincere judgment, I give it to them. Or if they want just entertainment and flippancy for a lark, they get that."

Rice is a familiar fixture to such steady customers at the eatery as Corinne Calvet, Betty Grable and Jimmy Durante. He "analyzed" Shelley Winters as "someone who needs a man to control her and her temperance, and I think she has found one. If she is allowed to dominate a man she loses respect for him."

Marie Wilson, according to his quick appraisal, "has found emotional and mental security in her new marriage."

He's also "analyzed" Paulette Goddard, Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra and other luminaries.

"The hardest persons to analyze are Texans because they think they already know everything," he sighed. "Last night I had 10 at a table and they kept trying to out-talk me."

Gags about psychiatry are fashionable in the plaster city these days, too. One local wit claims a Beverly Hills psychoanalyst's office has a sign, "Four couches! No waiting!"

But there is no truth to the story that one movietown analyst has two couches, one for "A" movie producers, one for "B's."
