Professional Baseball in Tizzy Over Signing of Woman Player

Columbus, Ohio — (U.P.) — George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues, ruled Monday that no minor league club can sign a woman player. He said Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick shared the same view.

Harrisburg, Pa. — (U.P.) — because there is "nothing about sex in the rules," organized baseball was in a tizzy Monday over Mrs. Eleanor Engle, a willowy 24-year-old brunette who is the first woman ever to sign a bona fide contract in professional ranks.

Mrs. Engle, a choke-hitting infielder who signed with the Harrisburg Senators of the Class B Interstate League Sunday, touched off a cross-country controversy immediately following her first workout with the club.

Statements regarding her eligibility in organized ranks flew thick and fast.

Pilot Storms
"She'll play when Hell freezes over," stormed Harrisburg Manager Buck Etchison whose club is in seventh place.

Dr. J. D. Smith, club president and General Manager Howard Gordon differed with Etchison, however.

"She looks pretty good," both agreed.

They added, however, that the 132-pound Mrs. Engle who is a stenographer with the Pennsylvania State Public Utilities Commission office here during the daytime, will not appear in the Harrisburg lineup until her contract, which reportedly calls for a salary of between $250 and $300 a month, is formally approved by the office of Minor League Commissioner George M. Trautman in Columbus, Ohio.

Sex Not in Rules.

Bill Veek, prank-loving owner of the St. Louis Browns who introduced a midget into his team's lineup late last season, said he would never try to sign a woman as a professional player but indicated that Harrisburg could get away with the move.

"There's nothing about sex in the rules," Veek said.

Mrs. Engle, who seemed somewhat frightened by the furor she caused, wasn't too talkative, lending belief to reports that her entrance into organized ball was merely a publicity stunt.

White Sox Sprinting For Top in League

By United Press
For awhile it looked like those high speed go-go White Sox were going, going, gone in the American League race, but they picked up their second wind and were sprinting for the top Monday.

Since May 7 when they were a sad seventh in the American League race, they have whizzed past everybody but the Yankees. Monday they were in second place, two games behind the New Yorkers after getting rid of a defeatist complex.

Tune Changed
For if it were not for the Yankees, they would be in the lead now. Prior to the week-end series in Chicago, they had lost seven in a row to the Yankees and Manager Paul Richards had predicted that the Bombers definitely would go on to win their fourth straight pennant. Now he has changed his tune and thinks the Sox could go-go-go right to the top themselves.

They gained a split Sunday, beating the Yankees, 2 to 1, on Marvin Grissom's seventh hit as Sherman Lollar drove in both runs with a double, his second of the game, and a long fly, after New York won the opener, 3 to 0 on two-hit pitching by Bob Kuzava.

Yogi Berra's two-run homer, his 14th, gave the Yankees the margin they needed. Mickey Mantle homered in the second game as Grissom outpitched loser Lefty Bill Miller.

PLAYER RELEASED
Yakima — (U.P.) — The Yakima Bears announced Monday the outright release of Second Baseman Dick Briskie and the return to the San Francisco Seals of Catcher Ken Myers.

The Grange
Lake Creek Grange
At the last meeting of Lake Creek Grange there were 39 members and one visitor present. Melvin Johnston announced that the next recreation party will be held June 28.

Live Oak Grange
Live Oak Grange met June 12 with Chaplain Zula Stocking and Ceres Edna Sheehan in charge of Memorial Services for Al Pearson and Earl Bradley.

Frank Marshall talked on fields and cattle giving prices of vetch and oat hay at $18 a ton and alfalfa $20 in the field, also some baled alfalfa at $32 in the field.

Carl Christenson reported on poultry and eggs.
Ferd Streitz said the pear crop was reported at about 50% before the last freeze.

Stella Miller reported on her visit with Harold Laws at Salem recently. She said Harold looks fine and is looking forward to being home soon. His many friends will be especially happy to have him home again.

A nice Father's Day program prepared by Ione Black included a solo by Rudy Sieger accompanied by Dorothea Sieger. Edna Sheehan gave a reading on origin of Father's Day.

Faye Rose and Mrs. Glen Hutchison presented boutoniers to all fathers present.

A barbershop quartet (Mildred Marshall, Jessie Frantz, Myrtle Streitz and Edna Sheehan) rendered the familiar "Dear Old Dad of Mine" with great pathos.

The serving committee was Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christenson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kneetson and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bayless.

Lecturers program for the meeting of June 28 should be of interest to all members as it will be on the Grange ritual.

The John Schaapmans were welcomed back again after having been absent many months due to his leg injury.

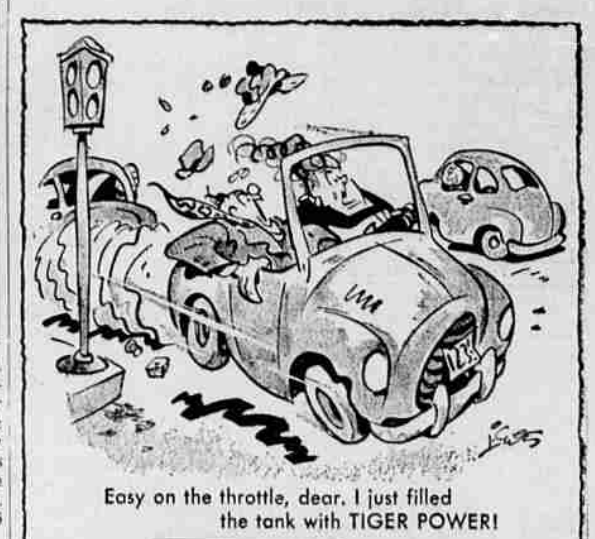

The ice cream social and dance Saturday evening was very successful the oldest father present, Francis Hadley, and the youngest father, Carleton Sandean, each received a gift.

OUR DECISION
Roads must be kept open during any extreme emergency. For every motorist that jams the highways, the life of another person at the disaster scene is threatened.
