

Shrine Fray Opens Heavy Grid Slate

Portland — The fifth annual Shriners' hospital all-star game will open one of the most ambitious football schedules ever attempted here at Multnomah stadium when the Oregon and Portland All-Stars meet Saturday night, August 23.

It will be the forerunner of a slate which consists of 14 games, including a professional encounter and six Pacific Conference engagements.

As in previous years, the Shrine game may prove to be the most colorful and exciting of all, particularly if it follows the pattern of last year's contest, generally considered one of the finest football battles ever viewed in Oregon.

Rubber Match

A 20 to 13 triumph by the Oregon All-Stars in the 1951 Shrine classic evoked the traditional series at two victories for each team and set the stage for the forthcoming "rubber" match on August 23.

It's but a short jaunt from the Shrine game to collegiate fame evidenced by such performers as George Shaw, acclaimed the best defensive back in last year's game and then named to All-Coast teams as safety for the University of Oregon in his freshman year.

Choice seats are now available for the all-star encounter for out-of-town mail order reservations. Reserved seats may be secured through Shrine game headquarters here in the Jackson Tower building.

Gordy Brunswick Leads Vancouver To 10-6 Victory

By UNITED PRESS

Big Gordy Brunswick, an option to Vancouver from the Seattle Rainiers, would like nothing better than to go back up to the Pacific Coast league. And the way he's been hitting lately may give him another chance with the parent Suds, who have been short of consistent outfield strength this season.

The former Washington State college star scored four runs and blasted a three-run homer Monday night as the Caps dumped league-leading Victoria, 10-6, in the only Western International league game scheduled.

Brunswick's round-tripper came in the third inning and gave Vancouver a five-run lead which put the game out of reach for the Tyees.

Tuesday's action sees Vancouver at Victoria again, Salem at Tri-City, Yakima at Wenatchee, and Lewiston at Spokane.

IN BROOKLYN DODGER FOLD—Pictured above for the last time in his Medford Cheney Studs uniform is Pitcher Derald Wootton who Saturday signed a contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Baseball circuit. The pact included a five-figure bonus Wootton left by plane yesterday and joined the Great Falls club, Dodger farm team of the Pioneer loop, last night at Boise, Ida. ### Cheney Studs Sign Hueners

The Medford Cheney Studs, dealt a harsh blow by the loss of Pitcher Derald Wootton, who contracted with the Brooklyn Dodgers, today announced the signing of Carl Hueners.

Hueners, an ex-Jacksonville high school baseball ace, has seen considerable semi-pro duty in the valley and his experience includes a short stint with the professional Medford Rogues. He has been chucked for the Central Point Millers this season.

Last Wednesday, borrowed by the Studs, Hueners pitched in an exhibition game against Dunsmuir, giving up four hits and two walks, hitting one batter and fanning nine. Ashland tagged him for 13 wallops Sunday in a Rogue Valley league encounter.

Business Manager Bill Askwith of the Studs also reported that the Cheney club is dickering for another infielder.

The Studs this week-end face a pair of severe tests. They tangle with Coos Bay-North Bend on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon at the fairgrounds baseball park. The Lumberjacks currently are riding in second place in the circuit. There are five Coos Bay hitters among the top nine in the league.

Hollywood's League Lead At Stake in Angel Series

San Francisco—UP—In Pacific Coast league competition continuing Tuesday night the Hollywood Stars, holding a newly-acquired three-game lead on the pack, tangle with the cross-town Los Angeles Angels in Gilmore field.

In another back-fence rivalry the San Francisco Seals, battling to stay out of the basement, entertain the pennant-threat Oakland Aacorns.

In the other games, last place Sacramento invades Portland; and the San Diego Padres, knocked out of first place last week by the Stars, travel 1500 miles north to take on up-and-coming Seattle.

There were no games scheduled Monday.

Meanwhile, Al Boyd of Seattle retained his grip on the PCL hitting leadership during the past week with a .330 mark, according to statistics released by William J. Weiss and including games of June 22.

Boyd Still Ahead
Boyd dropped 10 points during the week, but he still had a 14-point advantage over Bill Glynn of Sacramento, who is second among the regulars.

Joe Collins' Hot Batting Streak Paces Yankees to 14-10 Victory

By UNITED PRESS

They say the best baseball deals are the ones that never are made, and that was exactly the way the Yankees felt Tuesday about first baseman Joe Collins—the kid from Scranton.

The 29-year-old guy from the Pennsylvania hard coal country was in the midst of the hottest batting streak of his career and it started significantly about the time he was sure he wouldn't be traded away from the three time world champs.

Talent PeeWees Defeat Medford Team, 10 to 3

The Talent PeeWees handed Medford PeeWee nine a trouncing in their opening game of the season last night by a 10 to 3 margin. The Medford team, handicapped by a lack of practice, committed five errors.

Talent took advantage of the errors and only three hits to chalk up the victory. The Talent and Medford Cubs are slated to play tonight.

A PeeWee contest scheduled between Ashland and Phoenix last night was postponed because of the death of Lynde Sales, Phoenix businessman. The game will be played at a later date.

U. S. Women Start Play At Wimbledon

Wimbledon, Eng.—UP—Defending champion Doris Hart meets a substitute opponent and U. S. champion Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly tests her injured shoulder Tuesday as women's singles play opens in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Miss Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., who scored one of the most popular victories of recent years in this tourney last year, was matched against Miss S. I. Odling of London.

Late Replacement
Miss Odling, a virtual unknown, was a last-minute replacement for Mrs. Joy Mottram, British Wightman Cup star who was forced to withdraw because of pulled stomach muscles. The Hart-Odling match was in the second round, both having drawn first-round byes, and was to be the opening match on Wimbledon's famed center court as the honor due the reigning champion.

Miss Connolly's match against Britain's Mrs. Barbara Moeller also was in the second round. Miss Connolly's shoulder was the question mark in this match. For the 17-year-old U. S. champion from San Diego, Calif., suffered a shoulder muscle injury during the recent London grass courts tournament, from which she was forced to withdraw.

Rule Banning Women From Organized Ball Called Unreasonable

NEW YORK—(UP)—Three better-than-fair samples of the fair sex, who'll match their curves against Bob Feller's any time, Tuesday called the barring of Mrs. Eleanor Engle from baseball proof that men are "narrow-minded and unreasonable."

The glamorous Hollywood trio—Marilyn Monroe, Laraine Day and Doris Day — even managed to gain the support of several mere males, including Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Broderick Crawford.

"This could result in the formation of a third league," said Bing. "And if it does, I'm available."

Miss Monroe, the famous calendar girl who learned her baseball from Joe DiMaggio, adopted the most realistic view toward Mrs. Engle's attempted invasion of the dugout.

"The lady should be permitted to play," she said. "I can't think of a better way to meet outfielders."
