Medford Soprano Leaves Soon for Academy of West

Miss Frances Thrun, Medford soprano, will leave the middle of the week for Santa Barbara, Calif., where she will study this summer with Madame Lotte Lehmann, famous singer and former opera star, at the Music Academy of the West.

Miss Thrun was accepted at the school and by Madame Lehmann, director of the vocal department, upon recommendations from her teacher here, Caroline Andrews Werner, and after hearing recordings of Miss Thrun's singing sent to the academy. In addition, she has been granted a $250 scholarship.

Madame Lehmann has been in correspondence with Miss Thrun and has already outlined some of the work to be done this summer and designated numbers and operatic selections which Miss Thrun will be expected to sing. Weekly concerts are given by the academy in order that the musicians may gain experience.

In addition to other numbers, Madame Lehmann has asked the Medford soprano to begin study of an aria from "Der Rosenkavalier," to be sung in German for a concert August 2, and one from "The Marriage of Figaro" to be sung August 8.

Miss Thrun last fall auditioned at San Francisco for the opera star, Astrid Varnay and her coach, and was encouraged to train for operatic work. The soprano gave her first full-scale concert not long ago in First Christian church here, and has received much praise locally for her vocal talent. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thrun, 716 East Jackson boulevard.

Also teaching at the academy this summer are Alexander Raab, piano instructor; Henri Temianka, leader of the Paganini Quartet and distinguished violin teacher; Gabor Rejto, head of the cello department of the Eastman School of Music; Simon Kovar of the New York Philharmonic orchestra and the Juillard School of Music, and Emanuel Bay, for 17 years accompanist for Heifetz.

Assisting Madame Lehmann in the vocal department are Tilly de Garmo, who will teach voice, and Fritz Zweig, who will coach operatic roles. Students in the vocal department are coached in German, French, and Italian diction. Dramatic expression and acting, under Madame Lehmann's supervision, is taught by Carl Ostertag, who is a product of the Max Reinhardt Seminar of the University of Vienna.

Gwendolyn Williams Koldofsky of the faculty of the University of Southern California school of music, will accompany the Lehmann master classes, and also teach the art of song accompaniment.
