Brides, Babies and Bibles . . .

The men of vision who own forest land with young tree crops see prime markets for the future among the 3,900,000 babies that were born in this country last year. The census experts, who had predicted 3,500,000 babies for 1951, are now optimists who suggest a possible increase in the population of as much as 28,000,000 for the period 1950-1960. They say we may even have 180,000,000 people by 1960.

More timber! More wood for more honeymoon cottages, and for cribs, scooters, schools, churches, more lumber, plywood and shingles for buildings on the new farms, more woodpulp for the extra newspapers and comic books that all the new generation will require.

And in this picture there's a feature that perhaps contains the greatest significance of all. The various versions of the Bible show an ascending curve of sales and use since 1926, with a steep and steady climb for the last 15 years. Current example is the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, in preparation since 1930 by 32 renowned scholars, which will be published on September 30. A million copies are now being printed. The job is taking 1,400 tons of paper at $440 a ton.

Forest Bibles . . . I expect that "significance" is no word for an old logger to sling. I'd shy away from the Bible as a topic, too, except that I've never yet read anything about the power the forest tree has exerted in the circulation of the book of books. This has grown into untold millions of copies in the century since Hugh Burgess invented the soda process of pulping wood and C. B. Tilgham discovered the sulphite method of stewing trees, to make printing a mass production industry.

Right at home on a rough plank shelf in my boom-pond shack is a King James Version of the Bible that I bought in 1931 for a dollar. Its page is 5x7 inches, and there are 1808 of them. The type is easy for even my lone weak eye to read. The cover is limp plastic composition. The gilt title has long since faded away. The cover's corners are about gone. It has pencil marks all the way through. A sample:

"The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the fir tree, the pine tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my sanctuary . . ."

And now the pine and the fir come together to make millions of Bibles each year that poor people the world around are able to buy. Through the power of the tree, released by science and industry, this treasure of faith, hope, poetry and wisdom is made all but free to every one.

It is a common delusion that we are becoming less religious as time goes by in these states. However, history records that only one Colonial American in 20 belonged to a church in 1776, while the census shows that nearly 59 per cent of the population has church ties today. Increase in church membership has been double the population increase since 1926. Advance orders for the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible already total 600,000 copies from the initial edition of 1,000,000 copies.

The ruling theme of the new translation is, "The word of life in living language." It was "authorized" and will be brought into use by 40 Protestant denominations. It may or may not become the Bible of the babies today. But certainly it will fortify the future of religion in America, which is greater than you think.

Harriman Lashes At Sen. McCarthy

West Point, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Democratic presidential aspirant Averell Harriman lashed out at Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Monday night.

In a nationwide radio address from a Democratic dinner here, Harriman accused the Wisconsin Republican of introducing the un-American concept of "guilt by smear, rumor and association" into the American way of life. He said Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, must share McCarthy's guilt because he supported McCarthy on many issues.

Harriman also attacked the candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying the former NATO commander would be a "prisoner of Old Guard Republicans" if he were elected.

Medford Woman Hurt In Highway Accident

Mrs. Wilbur Eicher, Beall Lane, was still unconscious in a Myrtle Creek hospital this morning after suffering shock and concussion in an automobile accident near there Sunday, according to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Potter, Airport cafe.

Mrs. Eicher's condition was reported to be improved this morning, Mrs. Potter said. Also injured in the accident were Mrs. Eicher's five-month-old son, Bill, and W. A. Hoskins, 208 Tripp street, a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Eicher's husband. Both the child's legs were broken and Hoskins suffered possible broken ribs. Eicher was uninjured.

The accident occurred at about 9 a.m., Sunday three miles south of Myrtle Creek. The three passengers of the other car were uninjured, Mrs. Potter said.

Around Hollywood

Hollywood—(U.P.)—Hollywood has celebrated the contract signing of everything from a sultry foreign star to a cat. And a studio got a doll's name on the dotted line. Not a "doll" meaning a shapely starlet, either. This doll is a real toy that's so unusual it was signed to an exclusive contract by 20th Century Fox studio.

Jimmy, the doll, is an animated toy clown that does stunts on a trapeze, and all concerned claim this is the first time a doll crashed the movies in Hollywood history.

He was signed as one of the stars of "Top Man," and the new thespian upstages Joanne Dru, Richard Widmark and other human actors. Jimmy the toy gets close-ups, the opening scene and even feature billing. . . . introducing Jimmy the Clown."

The doll's agent is the man who made him, Harold Gelber, better known as the owner of a swank movie colony restaurant, Fox and Hounds.

"The studio needed a doll to figure prominently in the plot of the picture and to be seen with a child actor, Georgie Winslow," Gelber explains.

"They'd heard about my doll because all the movie people who come to the restaurant see it. I keep it on a table and everybody stops to play with it. Bob Hope often has dinner with the doll. George Jessel and June Haver have had Jimmy at their tables, too."

U.S. National Bank Dividends Increased

Quarterly dividends of the United States National bank of Portland are now being paid at a new annual rate of $2.40 a share, according to E. C. Sammons, president of the organization.

The current rate is a 20 per cent increase over the rate which has been paid since April, 1946. The bank's paid-up capital and surplus now total $30 million, Sammons said.

Enough Cans Sought For Summer Pack

Washington—(U.P.)—Government officials said Tuesday they are fighting to assure enough cans for the summer food pack despite the steel strike.

They are redistributing tinplate stocks, giving perishable foods first priority and taking other emergency steps.

"I am sure we'll ride out the strike, if it's settled fairly soon," an Agriculture Department official said. "We haven't lost any food for lack of cans in 50 years."

But never before has there been a nationwide steel strike during the peak canning period. The last two steel walkouts, in 1946 and 1949, came in the winter and fall.

Ceiling Prices Set For Softwood Lumber

Seattle—(U.P.)—Ceiling prices for manufactured western pine and other softwood lumber went into effect in 12 western states Monday.

Regulation 152 applies to about one-fifth of all lumber produced in the United States, the Seattle district price stabilization office said. It applies to lumber cut from ponderosa pine, sugar pine, Idaho white pine, lodgepole pine, inland larch, engelmann spruce, incense cedar and inland red cedar.

Douglas fir and white fir lumber, produced in the east of the Cascade mountains in Washington and Oregon, also is covered.
