Health Association To Work Against State Means Test

Oregon Tuberculosis and Health association will renew its efforts the coming year to have the "means test" abolished according to delegates from the Jackson County Public Health association who attended the recent summer institute for state and county workers held at Willamette university in Salem.

The Jackson county delegates included Mrs. John C. Cotton, Ashland, president; Mrs. Ray L. Casterline, vice-president and Mrs. William J. Miller, health education chairman. Board members, volunteers and executive secretaries discussed common problems, objectives and techniques in the workshop sessions. About 50 attended.

The means test is the examination of the financial status of the victim of tuberculosis for the purpose of discovering his ability, or the ability of his family, to pay any amount up to a maximum of $60 per month for treatment in a state tuberculosis hospital. It is pointed out that at the present time, only three per cent of the expense of the state hospitals are paid by individual patients, and it is felt that this sum does not justify the embarrassment and worry caused the patient by the means test. Oregon is one of a few states which still have this outdated law, it was said.

At present, TB is striking hardest at the wage-earning group, and the victim is reluctant to admit that he has tuberculosis when he knows that his hospitalization and the necessary period of inactivity following will mean the loss of his savings and undue hardship to family as well, delegates to the institute were told.

Workshop sessions dealt with administration and organization, case finding, Christmas seal sale, public relations, rehabilitation, health education and social hygiene.

Guest speakers included Ben K. Kinighan, executive secretary of the Illinois Tuberculosis association; Oregon State Senator Robert Holmes, Clatsop county; Miss Viola Vreeland, executive secretary of the Oregon State Nurses' association; Mrs. Caidie Orr Dunbar, consultant to the board of OTHA and pioneer in TB work in Oregon and Dr. John Tuhy, chest surgeon from Portland and a member of the executive committee of OTHA. Dr. Kenneth C. Ross, executive secretary of OTHA, was moderator.

Delegates were taken on a tour of the state tuberculosis hospital near Salem and were permitted to visit the patients from their own counties.

Trips and Outings Planned for Holiday; Guests Entertained

Picnics, fishing trips, excursions to the lake and mountain resorts and all manner of outings are planned by Medford and Rogue valley folk for the July Fourth week-end. Many families are entertaining guests, and others are taking advantage of the holiday week-end to visit relatives and friends in distant cities.

Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Findley and family, 36 Glen Oak court, and Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Pierce are spending the week-end at Winchester bay, on the Oregon coast, and the men have planned ocean fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brainerd and son, Paul, East Main street, will spend the holiday at their summer cabin, Diamond lake, and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buonocore, and family, 433 West Eighth street, accompanied by Miss Delores Cox, are at the resort, Rifles on the Rogue, for several days.

A visitor in Medford is Mrs. Stanley Jacobs, Victoria, B. C. Mrs. Jacobs is a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, the Rev. and Mrs. George R. V. Bolster and family, 203 North Oakdale avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Durno, 222 Valley View drive, plan to spend the July Fourth holidays at their ranch near Redmond, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Merriam, 515 North Bartlett street, will visit their daughter, Mrs. A. K. Casad, at Sacramento, Calif., for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rifenberg, and two children, Wapato, Wash., will arrive tonight to spend the week-end with Mrs. Rifenberg's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bren H. Starcher, South Stage road.

Church Leadership Institute Planned On College Campus

Oregon's sixth leadership institute of town and country churches will be held at Oregon State college July 15-18. The institute is sponsored this year by the college in cooperation with the archdiocese of Portland in Oregon, the Home Missions Council of North America, the Oregon Home Economics Extension council, Oregon Farm bureau, Oregon State Grange and the Oregon State Farmers' union.

The institute is for ministers, church laymen, members of farm organizations and all rural community leaders. Speakers will be from the Home Missions Council of North America and the Archdiocese of Portland. Two studies completed during the past year will be reported and discussed. They are a statistical study of Oregon religious life by John Berry, Pacific university, and a study of Oregon rural life made by the Oregon State College Extension service. A field demonstration of how to survey a rural community is planned.
