DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOU

YOU LOOK forward with a lot of pleasure to the family dinner. Of course you do and so do all Mothers. You do your level best to have something just a little special for everyone. The favorite dishes of Mary and Johnnie and of course something for Dad. It's nice to have a pleasing dinner because that, in most cases, is the only daily assembly of the family group.

But after preparing what you felt to be a fine meal did you ever have little Johnny say: "Gee, Mother, but this meat is tough?" Someone else took it up and right away what you had hoped would be a pleasant hour became one of discord.

What we're getting at is this: The meat is the mainstay of the meal—other things can be a little off standard, but not the meat.

To be sure of happy, harmonious meal-times get Groceteria Meats.
