As We Live

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PH.D.

Most children, if they can get away with it, delight in teasing and bullying their younger brothers and sisters. This makes life miserable for the whole family, as the mother who wrote the following letter is finding:

(Q) "I have five children, ranging in age from 10 years to one year. My two oldest children, both boys, take delight in teasing the little ones. Then the little ones come to me, crying, and I have to stop what I am doing to comfort them. The boys are so rough that they sometimes hurt the toddlers. How can I put a stop to this teasing as it makes life difficult for us all?"

(A) Tell them if they tease their brothers and sisters, they will be sent to their rooms at once and deprived of some privilege they like, such as going to the movies, playing with their friends or watching television.

The chances are that they will think this is just a bluff at first. But, don't let it be just an idle threat. Carry through, no matter how much they plead with you to give them "just one more chance."

Aside from the inconvenience this teasing causes you, it is bad for all your children to let it go on any longer. The little ones are seeing a pattern of behavior which they are likely to imitate when they play with other children. This certainly will not make them popular.

And it is unfair of your older sons to pick on others smaller than themselves. It is unsportsmanlike and, unless it is curbed at home, they are likely to do the same when they are with neighborhood children. This will make other children dislike them, not only those who are teased, but those who see the teasing.

Most older brothers like to tease. They find it fun to see the little ones cry. It gives them a feeling of power and self-importance to be able to be the master of the situation, and it gives them satisfaction for the jealousy that invariably exists among older children in a family. But, it must be curbed and this is the responsibility of every parent who is faced with the problem.

Dr. Pepper Salesman

Your Health and Its Care

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
Readers should address inquiries to: William Brady,

STILL EXTANT IN NEW ENGLAND

A New England man evidently enjoys the benefit of something which is approaching extinction in other parts of the country, namely the friendship and advice of a family physician.

Dr. Brady

Dear Mr. Brady:
It is impossible to tell you of the hours of pleasure I have had reading your column — this in addition to the knowledge...

Fortunately, I have a family physician who told me, when I asked whether he intended to specialize that he would be a family doctor all his life, just as his father had been, and he said it with reverence.

It was apparent to me then, 18 years ago, that this man had dedicated his life to the relief of human suffering. With him, monetary gain is secondary.

It makes me and my wife, also, feel good just to talk with him. We love this man in the true sense of the word. His inspirational guidance has kept us happy because, as he says: "Live a good clean life in all respects and you will be richly rewarded with an abundance of good health." In that we have found, he is right.

Many more years... and don't let the Grumps get you down.

Our best regards,
(Signed) — — — —
It was an effort to restrain myself from breaking in upon the New England man at the monetary gain is secondary, to observe that it is so with every good doctor. It is the trick specialist who charges exorbitant fees.

Who is to blame for the preponderance of so-called specialists and phony clinics over family doctors today? Not the doctors. The doctors merely try to supply what the public demands. And you, the public, demand a specialist for every little problem or ailment you have. You have to keep up with the Joneses.

The absurdly long schooling students must undergo to obtain the medical degree today might reasonably be required for the training of specialists, but it robs the prospective doctor of four years of active professional life, and that, I contend, is more than a man can afford to pay for the right to practice as a family physician.

Four years of high school, four years of medical school and two years of internship should qualify any earnest student for general practice. I say this not

MOO-O-OS and MUSINGS

One of the chickens currently employed on the D. O. Fredericks ranch recently strayed laying eggs encased in 14 carat gold.

When our poultry expert questioned the chicken as to why she was laying such an egg, the chicken replied,

"Oh, just for the shell of it."

because that was the extent of my training but because I believe it would tend to restrain the conversion of the practice of medicine into a business.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
Calcium and D for Restless Legs
Interested in your suggestion of nitroglycerin tablets for restless legs. In my case "booping" by daily intake of calcium and D for a few days brings relief. If I forget the calcium and D for a few weeks the trouble recurs. This applies also to cramps in legs. (Mrs. W. A. E.)
Answer — Use of nitroglycerin for restless legs is a matter to submit to your physician. Druggists cannot or will not supply nitroglycerin tablets without physician's prescription. Mrs. W. A. E., notwithstanding all my cautions, evidently regards calcium and D as medicine. It is food and every one needs it every day. BUILDS OWN GYMNASIUM Ardmore, Okla. — (U.P.) — After a century without a gymnasium, the students of the Carter Indian Seminary here are building one themselves. L. E. Larson, principal of the 100-year-old school, said the students are building the gymnasium in their spare time out of war surplus material given the institution by the Navy.

friend in our office says she had such troubles for five or six years... another insists she had no difficulties at all. (A. W.)
Answer — Insists. Still, it won't do you any harm to use some elementary knowledge of physiology and hygiene to counteract the morbid ideas of your first friend. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet on THE MENOPAUSE. National Newspaper Syndicate, Chicago 6, Illinois.

FISH STORY FLOPS
Louisville, Ky. — (U.P.) — A fish story failed to save Randolph Maggard from a 10-day jail sentence for drunken driving. Maggard explained he been fishing all night and was tired, not drunk. Judge Michael Hellmann wasn't impressed. A search of Maggard's car had failed to reveal any fishing equipment.
