

Farm Safety Week Noted by McKay; Slogan Suggested

Salem—(U.P.)—Next week is National Farm Safety week and Gov. Douglas McKay has called on Oregon farmers and their workers to observe the occasion. He urged adoption of the week's theme: "Adopt right attitudes: Think Safety—act safely."

The accident prevention division of the State Industrial Accident Commission said the farm accident record for 1951 was slightly higher than the 1950, with 2,252 accidents reported by agricultural concerns covered under the workmen's compensation act. These included three fatalities and 1,508 time-loss accidents. Ninety-two were listed as victims of occupational disease.

Farm occupations in which the greatest number of accidents occurred included:

General farm hand, 59 per cent, fruit picker, 13 per cent, carpenter, 3 per cent, tractor operator, 2 per cent, and tree pruner, 1 per cent.
