

Newly Discovered Disease Hits Hogs In Fourteen States

Washington — (U.P.) — Agriculture Department officials and nine state veterinarians Thursday recommended immediate slaughter of hogs which have been struck by vesicular exanthema, recently discovered hog disease.

After a two-day meeting here the officials also recommended that infected farms or premises be kept free of swine until after they have been thoroughly disinfected. They also advised that the pigs be fed only cooked garbage.

Raw Garbage Is Factor

The report said the feeding of raw garbage has been a major factor in the introduction and spread of the disease at several stockyards and farms in 14 states in the last few weeks.

The disease is similar to foot and mouth disease but does not affect cattle or sheep. It has appeared chiefly in the Midwest.

Affected animals show blisters around the feet, the skin of the mouth or nostrils. They may become lame and usually have high temperatures.

The veterinarians recommended that live hogs on affected premises be "moved direct to federal meat-inspection plants for immediate slaughter and processing in order to reduce the amount of virus on farms or other premises."

Finding of Crater Lake To Be Theme Of 1952 Pageant

Jacksonville — The theme of the 1952 pageant for the Gold Rush Jubilee will be the "Discovery of Crater Lake," according to M. L. (Doc) Tweedy, pageant chairman.

The event will be based on Rogue valley writer Dale Vincent's feature story telling of the lake's discovery. Tweedy expressed the belief that this story would be the most interesting that has ever been portrayed in Jacksonville as interest in the volcanic wonder is high — locally and nationally.

The stage to be used for the pageant will be a replica of an old building in the town in which much of the action which led to the discovery of Crater Lake took place.

Work on the stage began last Monday and the pageant will be performed Saturday evening, August 2, with admission free.

Marion Davies Seeks Divorce

Hollywood, Calif. — (U.P.) — Marion Davies, friend and long-time confidante of William Randolph Hearst sought Thursday to end her nine-month marriage to Capt. Horace J. Brown.

The former film queen was the protegee of the late publisher for 31 years. Two months after his death she surprised Hollywood by eloping with Brown to Las Vegas, Nev., on Oct. 31.

She sued Brown for divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty in Santa Monica Superior Court Wednesday.

"The marriage couldn't help but break up," a close friend of the couple said. "After 31 years of not being married, she had a compulsion to marry. Any woman would feel that way."

There will be no alimony or property settlement, her attorney said.

Seaside Vacationers Must Tell Own Future

Seaside — (U.P.) — If you are planning to spend your vacation at Seaside this summer, don't expect to have your future foretold from the palm of your hand.

The city council has refused to rescind an ordinance which prohibits palm reading.
