FEED STORE GOSSIP

By Paul E. Wilson

WILL PREDICT RAINFALL
Astronomer Dr. Hall reports the use of photo electric cells and other sensitive instruments to measure the brightness of stars in broad daylight to determine the amount of water vapor and potential rain water in the air.

MORE FINE PULLETS
That are doing mighty well are the 2000 out at L. S. Ties place on Anderson Road. Talent. Ties is bringing them into lay gradually and it looks as though he will hit the best egg price market with his top production. Ties is to be congratulated on his management with these pullets. Of course he has been in the business a long time and knows what he is doing, and always follows the Albers plan all the way.

CONGRATULATIONS
Are also in order for George and Rose Barr on the new addition to their family of a wonderful and healthy baby girl. So if you folks don't see George around the store all of the time now, you will know why—he'll be home running the washing machine.

We also want to congratulate our secretary, Amelia Kaufman on her engagement to Bob Semon, a local boy who is in the Navy at present and is stationed in Alameda, Calif. We will miss you Amelia, but are sure that you will enjoy your future life much more than your present feed store surroundings.

LAX-LIVE NASH
OR PAKS is another Albers First-Aid Feed and is a complete ration in itself. It is a mild laxative which gently sweeps the digestive tract clean without dehydrating (as when salts are used) or weakening the fowl (as milk lumps do). The disease organisms in the digestive tract are reduced without lowering the bird's resistance. While treating them it builds additional resistance and vitality. For birds on wire it should be fed regularly one full day in every seven. Also feed Lax-live when turkeys or chickens are changed from one location to another or from one phase of management to another. For instance when pullets go into the laying house.

Don't hesitate to ask us about Lax-live and don't be bashful folks, about talking over with us any of your feeding or management problems. We just might be able to help you.
