BELL'S

Even a Plain Jane of a kitchen takes on glamor and personality when you add Ransburg kitchen accessories. Canister sets, bread boxes, step-on cans, cake covers, and many smaller items. For durability, they're made of steel and finished with baked-on enamel. For beauty and gaiety, each piece is hand painted in oil with a sprightly bouquet. Background colors are red, white, black, or yellow.

Do you have a gift problem? Give them the bird—in ceramic, of course. Exotic peacocks and cockatoos—ducks that obligingly hang on the wall and serve as planters—half a dozen kinds of roosters—a precious little dove that doubles as a candy dish.

Braleys Travel East To Warner Family Home; Noted Journalist There

Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Braley, 245 Valley View drive, Medford, will leave by air Monday for a family reunion at Seneca Lake, N. Y.

Albert Warner is the author of the article in this week's Saturday Evening Post, "Our Secret Deal Over Germany." Through his research he has brought out in his article what he has learned from key diplomats and military men about the formation of the occupation boundaries in Germany. The two main documents relating to the negotiations of the zones of occupation are still ruled secret, so Warner has investigated the situation and come out with several conclusions.

He is convinced that much of the blame for the present trouble in Berlin should go to President F. D. Roosevelt, and tells that his findings show General Eisenhower blameless. He said that Winston Churchill made many mistakes in the negotiations. As he tells of the London conference he shows its consequences today.
