Girl Scout Camp In Closing Week; Campers on Hikes

Low Echo, Girl scout camp at Lake O'Woods, will close Saturday, August 9, after five weeks of operation. Parents are asked to call for their daughters at about noon, and a sack lunch is being provided for the campers.

Each week's activities are brought to a close with a ceremonial campfire and "wishes for Low Echo" are made. Campers in the senior unit have been wishing for a tent frame, since at present the girls' cots are set on the ground.

Some of the parents are also considering a project whereby a tile floor covering would be provided for Beaver lodge, the dining room of the camp.

Breezeway unit planned the closing program for the third week of camping, and an international program was given. Breezeway unit members dressed as Hollanders, Sunny Dale as Africans, Conifer Grove, North Americans; Pitt View, South Americans; Meadowland, Asia. Each group prepared part of the evening menu, and each presented a skit or song.

Miss Knox, Pitt View senior unit leader, showed colored slides which she made while accompanying a group of senior scouts to a Girl Scout and Girl Guide jamboree in Sweden a few years ago.

A highlight of the camping season for older scouts is the Mt. McLoughlin hike. Taking the hike were August Krause, staff member from Portland; Virginia Jones, Corona Del Mar, Calif.; Katherine Clabby, staff member from Medford; Harriett Osborn, Portland, and Campers Verna MacDudley, Dinah Hutchinson and Carol Pringle.

Campers Roberta Abbey, Sharon Doyle, Beverlee Coalney, Paula Fisher, Pat Hussick, Rosalie Pence, Wilma Parker, Sandra Goucher, Ruth Ann Coggin and Florence Stacey, accompanied by Joan Dean, Medford, Jean Hamilton, Central Point and Ann Denman, Medford, staff members, made a hike to Harriett lake.

Those making a hike to Four mile lake were Barbara Roach, Kathy Reagan, Karen Johnson, Linda Norris, Gail Prentice, Jeanne Klatt and Donna Morrison, with Miss Osborne, Nancy McKinstry, Medford, and Anne Hart, Medford, staff members, accompanying them.

During the third week at camp the program aids and counselors in training cleared a new games area south of the general Low Echo camp grounds.

News, Gossip, Comment From Camp White

By SID HOLLINGSWORTH
Edgar Rice Burroughs, the noted author of Tarzan stories, had a palatial estate near Los Angeles. And at the time, he owned a stable of thoroughbred horses which he prized highly.

Now Basil Reed, of Camp White, is not a jockey. But he certainly looks like one. And this resemblance, which serves as recognition most anywhere in Hollywood, enabled him to "crash the gate" at Burroughs' estate in quest of a job.

He says someone in Los Angeles tipped him off that the author was looking for a good handyman about the place. And he not only got in but was ushered into the dining room filled with "notables, including the great Tarzan writer himself."

"I told him I was looking for a job, that I was a disabled veteran and built willing to work, and he just laughed," Basil says.

Then on the way out the servant who let him in flew into a rage. "I thought you were a jockey," she piped, "and that something had happened to one of Mr. Burroughs' horses."

Police to Return Burglary Suspect

Medford city police went to Eugene yesterday to return Robert L. Ferrier, 25, Allen hotel, on a warrant charging burglary in a warehouse, according to police records.

Ferrier is wanted in connection with the burglary of a set of "Speedmaster" tools from the Morton Milling company, 10 West Jackson street, sometime between July 26 and 28. He is a former employee of the firm.

Disabled American Veterans, has reorganized "under new leadership" and is conducting a modest campaign for new members among disabled veterans at the dom. Office hours are Tuesday and Thursday mornings in the service organization building, where information can be obtained.

Billy Andrews, Mail Tribune newsboy at Camp White, has joined the ranks of the disabled and is limping around with a snag in his right leg, sustained in a fall on a nail projecting from a board walk. The tight bandage is more bother to him than the wound itself.

Home members who have been absent for some time, on their return are pleasantly surprised at finding the barber shop converted into a "tonorial emporium" with all the trimmings.

Book reviewers are needed for a hundred or more donations at the Library to determine which are acceptable for the shelves. Several classics among the gifts will be placed without a preliminary reading.
