Your Health and Its Care

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
Readers should address inquiries to: William Brady,
265 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Cal.

NO COLD GRADATIONS OF DECAY

A casual reader—at least I hope not a regular reader—child of me recently because I persist in telling readers that the instant after we attain full growth and development, maturity or the peak of life, we begin to die.

Dr. Brady

House guests of a fabulously rich man who dwelt in a castle by the sea were warned on arrival that any reference to dissolution in the nabob's presence would make the visitor persona non grata.

Perhaps the reader envisages the end of the process whereas I tell readers only about the beginning of it.

Dying, it is well to remember, is naturally a long, one might say gentle and, from a philosophical point of view, interesting process, not at all the dismal plight described by Samuel Johnson (Bartlett tells me) as "the cold gradations of decay."

I've been dying for at least thirty years and I can assure you young 'uns that it isn't nearly so sad a fate as you think and I thought when I was your age. Of course I remain considerably younger than you will be when or if you reach my age, but I have been hammering away at you since I was your age in the endeavor to teach you how to keep your arteries soft, your blood nimble and your teeth. It's not my fault if you have ignored these teachings.

The reader who resents enlightenment about degeneration, decline and dying added a typical stu—oh, oh, I must not use that adjective any more—remark: "Few people have the time or will take the trouble to buy wheat and grind it in the coffee grinder as you advise us to do."

How true! And that trait, unwillingness to take the trouble to get out of the wrong way of living, accounts for the early beginning and short termination of the dying process in America today.

Buying and grinding wheat is just one of the "troubles" you have to take today if you preserve the characteristics of youth, extend the prime of life in both directions, build and maintain a higher level of positive health throughout the life cycle.

In the booklet The 7 Keys to Vite, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I have condensed as much of these teachings as possible. However, if that seems steep, send just a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks.

I don't take trouble very well myself. Big troubles or little troubles, that is. Some readers tell me I'm hard boiled and cynical because I strive to keep pathological matters out of this health column. But I am confident, from what most correspondents say, that the less medicine and the more hygiene we can serve newspaper readers the better for their health and happiness.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
Mental Deterioration
Woman, 57, has developed some ac—centricities—for instance after every simple statement she makes, serious or not, she laughs. She seems constantly under the apprehension that some one is looking in on her—she rushes to close windows and blinds and draw the curtains regardless of the hour of day... (K. L. T.)

Answer—She should have a medical examination to determine her sanity. It is useless to try to reason with such a person.

Cucumbers
What elements are in cucumbers? They cause indigestion when I eat them. Others tell me the same.

Answer—Ho-hum, I can think of nothing less interesting... A pound of cucumbers will yield 75 calories, nearly a third as many as a pound of lemons, a little less than a pound of lettuce. If you like 'em, they can do no harm, but why a biped should eat 'em I don't know.

Dr. Hope
I guess that the spelling "dormitol" by her doctor, also he advises a dose of paregoric at bedtime... half teaspoonful of the dormitol in every bottle of formula... (A. L. P.)

Answer—Paregoric is camphorated tincture of opium. I'm not sure what "dormitol" may be. Surely even a little opium is not good for a baby. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for THE BRADY BABY BOOK. (Protected by John F. Dille Co.)

MOO-O-OS and MUSINGS

The New Industries Committee is certainly to be congratulated for getting the new turtle soup factory built here instead of Grants Pass.

The only drawback at the present time is the shortage of raw materials but if we can get over the turtle hurdle, it will certainly be a soup coup.

Little Daisy

THE VILLAGERS WAIT EXPECTANTLY TO SEE THE DEMONSTRATION. HERE COMES BILL IN THE FIRST PLANE, HE PULLS THE LEVER AND LETS GO A BLAST OF SPRAY.

Imagination Used In Pioneer Names

Sturgis, S.D. — (U.P.) — Pioneers used their imagination when they picked names for geographical features and mines hereabouts.

Here, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, are such names as Shirttail Gulch, Holy Terror and Homestead Mines, Bogus Jim Creek, Deadman Creek, Two-Bit Gulch.

Shirttail Gulch was named when an irate father, clad only in nightshirt, chased his daughter's noisy and over-eager suitor up the canyon.

A prospector named his rich prospect Holy Terror for his wife.

Bogus Jim Creek is testimony to what happens to unusual words in the wear and tear of usage. It is all that is left of the name of Francis Calabogus, a pioneer.

Two Bit Gulch was named because it yielded the prospectors
