

Top Socialite Bachelor Jailed In Manhattan Call Girl Raid

New York—(U.P.)—Crime raiders arrested one of the nation's top eligible socialite bachelors and at least eight beautiful models and actresses Friday in the most sensational big city vice raids since the days of white-slaver Charles "Lucky" Luciano. Swooping down on Manhattan's silk-stocking East Side district in the early morning hours, vice squad detectives broke up at least four "dating" parties and arrested more than a dozen persons including Minot F. "Mickey" Jelke, 22-year-old heir to a Chicago oleomargarine fortune.

Blow to Racket

The lightning sweep was a powerful blow to the flourishing New York call-girl racket which sold lonely men voluptuousness for prices ranging up to $500 a night.

Assistant District Attorney Anthony J. Leibler said the raids were connected and the persons who were arrested "are believed to know each other." Jelke, a publicity man, and a TV bit actress were charged with white slavery, but Jelke denied the charges.

Leibler said Jelke had used his own lavish apartment for the "dates" to arranged between wealthy businessmen and curvaceous girls-about-town for prices ranging from $50 up.

Rival Luciano Scope
Authorities said the scope of the cafe society call-girl racket rivaled even that of Luciano, who was arrested in 1936 when police broke up his notorious East Harlem vice syndicate.

Just as in the Luciano case, the early morning raids featured marijuana, unregistered loaded guns, and teen-aged girls. Police said many of the persons wanted in the case had left the city. A search was on for others whose names were learned from tape recordings of telephone conversations.

Jelke and two other persons charged with engaging in prostitution were arraigned in Felony Court less than eight hours after their arrests. Seven women and a man who were picked up as material witnesses were arraigned in General Sessions court.

Symbol of Flashy Life

Parked outside the Criminal Courts building was Jelke's powerful blue Cadillac, a symbol of the flashy life that the handsome young social registerite led in the top echelons of American social life. Only last week his name was listed on society pages all over the country as an attendant at his sister's wedding in Chicago.

The 22-year-old playboy son of oleomargarine tycoon John Faris Jelke of Chicago was seized by vice squad officers in his lavish apartment in the company of Sylvia Eder, 24.

Leibler described the charges against Jelke as including "compulsory prostitution, receiving the earnings of prostitutes, conspiracy and Sullivan law violations." Police found Jelke with two unregistered pistols.

Brief on Medford-Klamath Air Service Will Be Given In Washington September 3

The aviation committee of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce met last night at the Jackson hotel with representatives from Klamath Falls and Ashland chambers to make decisions preparatory to drawing up a brief to favor airline service between Medford and Klamath Falls.

At the suggestion of Glenn Jackson, vice-president of California-Oregon Power company, the groups decided to present a single brief combining statistics from the Medford, Ashland, Klamath Falls and Grants Pass areas.

Lawrence Miles Fund Aided by Classmates

The Lawrence Miles Memorial Fund, which is administered by the Jackson county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was swelled considerably Thursday when a group of sixth grade students at Roosevelt school turned in their collections to the fund. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Miles and a member of the class which made the contribution, died in Los Angeles August 4 of acute polio. The family requested that in lieu of flowers, friends contribute to the polio fund or to the John Mann Memorial Fund.

Classmates making up the contribution were John Thompson, 1846 Woodlawn drive; Mike Bauer, 1522 Terrace drive; Gale Eastwood, 1126 Crater Lake avenue; Dickie Rankin, 842 Taylor street; Tommy Morris, 240 Sunrise avenue; Dick Sorenson, 14 North Barneburg road; Marsha Spence, 24 South Keene Way drive; Elaine Zier, 131 Vancouver avenue; Susan Knight, Foot-hills road; Pat Stagg, 2418 Hillcrest road; Jean Klatt, 132 Tripp street, and Gail Prentice, 1432 Crown avenue.

Communists Advise UN of Establishment Of POW Camp Change

Panmunjom, Korea — (U.P.) — The Communists advised the United Nations Friday they have established one new prisoner of war camp, expanded two more and moved two others to different locations.

The information was contained in a letter from North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist truce delegate, to Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate.

Talks Rescued

The latter was handed over at a brief meeting between liaison officers. The high-level truce negotiations are recessed until Aug. 19 when the delegates again will take up the problem of exchanging prisoners of war.

Nam said the Communists established a new prisoner of war camp at Yul Camps 11 and 13 have been expanded, he said, while No. 12 has been moved from Sinchang to Jaedong and No. 14 from Kipsong to Anju.

Maps Submitted

Communist liaison officers also handed over maps showing the location of the new and transplanted camps.

Harrison has pressed the Reds several times for the location of various camps in which they are holding U. N. personnel to prevent any accidental bombing of the stockades by Allied war-planes.

Nam told Harrison in the letter that the Communists have furnished the United Nations the location of all camps in which prisoners are held.

North Carolina Swimmer Fails in English Channel

Folkestone, Eng. — (U.P.) — Bob Paysour, North Carolina long distance swimmer and the only American in a field of 13 men and women trying to swim the English channel, quit Friday only seven miles short of his goal—the English coast.

The Tar Heel swimmer was forced to give up his France to England swim by the recurrence of a cramp in his left leg. The muscle was pulled in training last week.

Welsh Girl Quits

Miss Jennie James, a 24-year-old Welsh swimmer, also gave up an attempt to swim the channel from England to France early Friday. She became seasick after five hours in the water despite the reported ideal sea and calm warm weather.

However 10 swimmers — six Egyptians, three Britons and a Dane still were battling the channel waters Friday morning in an attempt to swim from England to France or vice versa.
