To Commemorate 100th Anniversary Of Historic March

Yreka — Dedication of the monument commemorating the march of Capt. Braford Ripley Alden from Yreka to the Rogue valley will take place Saturday, August 8, at 11 a.m., on the centennial of that march.

The monument is located on the actual line of march on state property at the quarantine station about 20 miles north of Yreka on Highway 99.

Fought Indians

On Aug. 8, 1853, Captain Alden led 10 men of the Fourth U. S. Infantry from Fort Jones and 80 volunteers from Yreka over the mountains to the assistance of Rogue valley residents who were engaged in a war with the Indians.

This force, augmented by 100 volunteers from Oregon, defeated the Indians on Battle Mountain, where Captain Alden was severely wounded.

A bus will leave the County Library grounds in Yreka at 9:15 a.m. on a tour of historic locations. At the dedication ceremony Gordon Jacobs will speak on the life of Capt. Alden. Harry Bryan, whose father served under Capt. Alden, has been invited to unveil the monument. Following the ceremony there will be a picnic at Colestin.

Washington Growth Up 1200 Per Week

Seattle, Wash. — (U.P.) — Population experts, studying current trends in the Pacific Northwest, say the population of Washington is increasing at the rate of 1,200 per week.

The northwestern office of the National Association of Manufacturers said that "Washington's population will be 3,020,000 by 1960, if the current trend continues."

The figure is based on a projection of populations made by the U. S. Bureau of the Census which shows a 3.7 percent rise in Washington's population during the first two years of the 1950-60 decade.

Washington's 957,611 wage-earners will have their ranks swelled to 1,208,000 by 1960, according to P. G. Lewis, Seattle lumberman and a member of the NAM Washington advisory committee.

The NAM study was designed to show how much money will be necessary to put these new workers into jobs. The survey estimated that $12,000 is needed to put one man to work at present-day costs.

Trip to Kansas City Seen Business Start

Cleveland, O. — (U.P.) — A vacation trip to Kansas City started 15-year-old Dale Smythe on what may be a profitable business enterprise.

The 10th grader, while visiting an aunt in the West, became absorbed in frontier lore. He visited blacksmith shops and found dozens of old wagon wheels of all sorts lying around useless.

Upon returning home, he conceived the idea of renovating and finishing the wheels as decorative pieces for homes and yards.

Fifteen wheels weighing 900 pounds were shipped to him. Shipping charges and purchase of materials to finish the wheels in natural wood tones came to around $325. He used his own savings from mowing lawns and the like and his mother, Mrs. Madge Smythe, also chipped in.

Morse Given Chance To Save Republicans

The remark was made by the Rt. Rev. D. Ormonde Walker, Wilberforce, O., who is presiding bishop of the fifth Episcopal district of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

Saying he believed in Morse, the bishop added, "he has the opportunity to use his great brain to direct the Senate in the direction in which the American people want. The old line Republican party policy of caring for a few and neglecting the many must go, and Morse realizes this."
