

Printing Office Investigation Involves Others

Washington — (U.P.) — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy said today the search for suspected Reds in the Government Printing Office has "branched out" and involves more than one employee who has figured in the inquiry.

The Wisconsin Republican called four new witnesses to appear in secret before his Permanent Investigating Subcommittee today. One "important" witness, he said, was coming to Washington from a "very long distance."

Not Identified
As he has continually done during his investigation, McCarthy refused to identify witnesses or targets in the inquiry. He said this would have to await the public hearings which will begin Monday.

The only names to come to the surface have been those of Edward Rothchild, a bookbinder at the printing office, and his wife, Esther, who revealed through their attorney, Stanley B. Frosh, that they are under subpoena by the subcommittee.

Not the Only One
"I can say very definitely that Frosh's client is not the only one involved," McCarthy told reporters. "It has branched out a little more."

"It will involve others presently employed in the printing office or at least who were employed there within the past few days."

Many Hopeful Carpenters Will Return to Union

Chicago — (U.P.) — AFL President George Meany today said he was "very hopeful" that the rebellious 750,000 member carpenter's union would rejoin the national federation.

As a result of the carpenters' withdrawal Wednesday, Dave Beck, dynamic president of the Teamsters Union, was elected a vice-president of the AFL and given a seat on the union's powerful executive council.

William L. (Big Bill) Hutcheson, the carpenter's president-emeritus was first vice-president of the 13 member council. He was forced from the position when his union walked out. The 12 other members moved up a notch and Beck came in at the bottom.

Rose From Truck Driver
Beck, 55, rose from driving a laundry truck to teamsters' president during a 28-year career with the union. He is a powerful West Coast labor leader with headquarters at Seattle.

As yet, the carpenters have not withdrawn from city or state AFL group. Their split with the national federation came Wednesday after a dispute over a proposed "no raiding" agreement with the CIO.

Oregon City, Molalla Win in ABC Tourney

Portland — (U.P.) — Warrenton meets the Legion All-Stars and Norgan's Beavers play Defending Champion Archer Blower tonight in ABC tournament action here.

Oregon City, with southpaw Ray Hyde hurling five-hit ball, blanked Willamette 5-0 and Molalla downed Firpine 7-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Tom Younts last night.

Bradley and Collins Serving Final Day As Chiefs of Staff

Washington — (U.P.) — Today was the last day on the joint chiefs of staff for two of the nation's most honored soldiers, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, and J. Lawton Collins.

Bradley, the modest, soft-spoken "GI's general," will step down tomorrow as chairman of the joint chiefs. "Lightning Joe" Collins will leave his post as Army chief of staff.

At the Pentagon today, Collins was awarded a gold star, in lieu of a third legion of merit decoration, for his services as commander of the 25th Infantry Division in the Solomons islands during World War II. Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson presented the medal in the name of President Eisenhower.

At a glittering farewell party last night, more than a thousand dignitaries, statesmen, politicians, administration officials, and military leaders, said their good byes.

The reception, given by Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, was held at the Officers club at nearby Fort McNair after the generals presided at a final military review.

The 60-year-old Bradley will move into private life tomorrow, taking a job as chairman of the Bulova Research and Development Laboratories, a subsidiary of the Bulova Watch Co.

Collins, 57, has been named U.S. representative on the military committee of the standing group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Sandwiches Make Good Eating Any Time of Day or Night

In recognition of National Sandwich Month which is here and now, we checked over a few score sandwich suggestions and picked these out as most likely to succeed... as lunch box staple, mainstay of the between-meal snack, cornerstone of casual entertaining, luncheon on the kitchen table or supper from a fancy buffet.

Bread Variety Important
There's infinite variety in sandwich fillings. Also in the stuff that holds the fillings in place... the bread. Skip the usual white and whole wheat and try round hamburger buns, long frankfurter buns, French rolls, French sour dough rolls, English muffins, canned Boston Brown Bread, date-nut bread, Swedish, Russian or other rye breads with or without caraway seeds or any other type of bread you may fancy.

Chili-Bologna Sandwich Spread
Combine 1/2 pound finely chopped or ground bologna (about 1 cup), 4 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons finely chopped green onions, mayonnaise to moisten; chill. Good on any bread that isn't sweet.

Liver Sausage Sandwich Spread
Mash 1/2 pound liver sausage (about 1 cup), and combine with 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1 teaspoon horseradish, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 3 tablespoons mayonnaise. Good on any bread that isn't sweet.

Salami Sandwich Spread
Combine 1/2 cup minced soft salami or summer sausage, 1 finely chopped hard-cooked egg, 2 tablespoons pickle relish, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and enough mayonnaise to moisten.

Sliced Cold Cuts Sandwiches
Try these combinations with any favored bread or rolls.

Liver sausage, sliced tomato, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Ham and Swiss cheese spread with mustard or use horseradish butter.

Corned beef between slices of bread spread with horseradish-mustard butter.

Luncheon meat, sliced American cheese, mustard.

Salami, sliced tomatoes, sliced cucumbers, mayonnaise.

Summer sausage, egg salad, lettuce.

Bologna or summer sausage with thin topping of cole slaw.

Beef Short Ribs

Masculine Favorite
According to restaurant surveys short ribs are a masculine favorite. Plentiful ribs are specially priced and can be made to taste just as good at home as elsewhere. To prepare them as the restaurant people do, so that the rich tasting meat is nearly falling off the bone, cook them slowly for several hours. Like pot roast and other less tender cuts of meat, short ribs should be browned, then braised slowly in liquid in a covered pan over low heat. The liquid can be barbecue sauce, tomato juice, canned tomatoes or a sweet sour sauce.

Cooking Beef Outdoors

Here are good beef cuts for outdoor grilling and using up more of your share of plentiful beef: Hamburgers are improved in flavor by mixing in onion or onion juice along with the salt and pepper; then sprinkle liberally with celery salt and garlic salt just before removing from fire. Steaks of any kind and size are good grilled outdoors but the one-inch is preferred by most. Cubes or chunks of beef are fine cooked on skewers. These are extra tasty if marinated in French dressing or vinegar and water overnight.

If you like a barbecue flavor, baste meat every few minutes with your favorite barbecue sauce. Even large roasts can be cooked successfully outdoors, but this requires a spit or some other means of turning the meat slowly while it is cooking and calls for longer cooking time than oven-roasting.

Cherry Festival Sauce
Ideal for any cottage pudding, bread pudding or custard. Heat 3/4 cup water and 1/2 cup sugar to boiling. Add 2 cups dark sweet cherries that have been halved and pitted, 1 sliced lemon and cook for 10 minutes. Remove cherries and lemon slice. Mix cornstarch with 1/4 cup cold water and add to cherry syrup. Cook until thick and clear. Return cherries to syrup. Keep hot until ready to serve. Six to 8 servings.

Thrifty Shoppers Watch Grocery Ads, Store Displays

It has long been a habit of homemakers to "stock up" for the week end; to plan special week end meals; usually to include foodstuffs to last "over Monday." So it is that the fruit and vegetable departments stock up with the biggest selections, the most attractive displays and the best values of the week. These vary constantly as the seasonal harvest of fresh foodstuffs increases or diminishes. That's why we suggest that it is wise to watch newspaper advertisements for "featured" items and also to look for the special displays in the store when you get there.

Fruit Department Best Buys

With sweet dark cherries and golden apricots passing from the parade of luscious summer fruits, if you're going to enjoy them at any price it had best be now. However, they are being replaced by equally tasty and colorful peaches, pears, plums, and a variety of grapes including Thompson Seedless and Red Malagas. Also in the good buy class are Gravenstein apples, cantaloupe, small oranges, grapefruit and watermelon. If you plan to freeze or can peaches we suggest you talk it over with your fruit and vegetables man right now because they are at their peak. Incidentally and for future reference, frozen fruits taste best when eaten just barely defrosted.

Vegetable Department Best Buys

Bunch vegetables; turnips, beets, radishes and green onions join celery, cabbage, corn, Bell peppers, tomatoes, lettuce, potatoes and onions in the good buy bracket this week. Italian and summer squash, cauliflower, artichokes, eggplant can be found at fair to moderate prices.

Western homemakers will have plentiful supplies of fish and shellfish all during August, according to the Food Distribution Branch of the USDA's Production and Marketing Administration. Varieties available include salmon, Pacific sea bass, sablefish or black cod, lingcod, halibut, shrimp and rockfishes. How about trying a new variety this week either fresh or frozen.

Two Children Die in Ice Box; Total Reaches 11

Haverhill, Mass. — (U.P.) — Two small boys were found suffocated inside an abandoned ice box here late last night, the third tragedy of its kind in 36 hours. In a day and a half, unused ice boxes have lured 11 curious children to their death.

The latest victims, whose bodies were found just before midnight, were Edward P. (Butchy) Ferguson, 3, and Michael T. Rogers, 4. A posse of 200 police, firemen and volunteers had searched for four hours before one searcher, Lucien Duval, 33, happened to look in the ice box in a Haverhill dump.

"I just got through reading about those other children so I decided to take a look," Duval said.

Earlier yesterday an abandoned refrigerator at Richmond, Va., yielded the bodies of four barefoot boys. Wednesday night the bodies of five youngsters were found in an ice box at Crawfordsville, Ark.

In Washington, the Refrigeration Trade Association of America called an industry wide conference for next Tuesday to consider ways of preventing old ice boxes from becoming death traps.

Safety officials urged families to remove hinges and latches from any ice box or other airtight container left where children might play.

Arrest of Youths Clears Up Burglaries

Coquille — (U.P.) — Some 20 burglaries in three western states were cleared up today with the arrest of two teenage boys here, police said.

Police Chief G. W. McMullen said the pair, ages 16 and 17, admitted robbing establishments in Salem, Lebanon and Burns, Ore.; Reno, Nev., and Santa Calif. Loot found in the boys' car was identified as that taken in about 20 burglaries.

The youths have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Inland Steel Chief Will Head Foreign Economy Commission

Denver — (U.P.) — President Eisenhower today selected Clarence Randall, chairman of the board of the Inland Steel Corp., to head the new federal commission to build a new foreign economic program.

The commission on foreign economic policy which the Chicago steel executive will head was created by Congress this year when it extended the reciprocal trade agreement pact for one year.

Under the law, the commission will study and review all foreign economic policies of the United States preparatory to recommending a foreign program to the President and Congress next year.

The commission consists of 17 members, seven appointed by the President and five each by the vice-president and the speaker of the House.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower would appoint his six other members shortly.

The selection of Randall was announced at the summer White House offices at Lowry Air Force Base here as the President spent another morning devoted largely to signing legislation in consultation with Bernard Shanley, special counsel to Mr. Eisenhower.

Robert Cutler, administrative assistant to the President and chief White House liaison for the National Security Council flew here from Washington to report to Mr. Eisenhower and then flew back during the night. Shanley will return to Washington this afternoon.

Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, will join the White House party here Monday and remain for two or three days.

Adams will not accompany the President when he flies to New York for a one-day visit Wednesday.

Haymes' Lawyers Discuss Divorce

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Attorneys for crooner Dick Haymes and his estranged wife, Nora, meet today to discuss the couple's impending divorce, which would free the singer to marry Rita Hayworth.

Haymes' attorney, Robert Eaton, and his wife's lawyer, Sammy Hahn, said they would talk over a "financial settlement."

At the same time, Eaton said he planned to confer with Attorney General Herbert Brownell concerning the singer's possible deportation for alleged violation of the McCarran-Walter act.

Brownell, who is investigating the Mexican wetback labor problem in California, was scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles tonight.

Haymes, now singing at a Las Vegas night club, refused to say if he planned to marry Miss Hayworth. He did say, however, she was "100 per cent" behind him in his deportation fight.

The singer now is free on $500 bond and scheduled to appear before an immigration examiner August 26. As a citizen of Argentina, he is charged with illegally re-entering this country after traveling to Hawaii to woo Miss Hayworth.

KILLED BY BOMBING

Freedom Village, Korea — (U.P.) — One American officer was killed in the only bombing of prison camps by U.N. planes, Cpl. Edwin A. Billet, 28, Weimer, Tex., said today. The camp was not marked, he said.

BACKS MCCARTHY

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine lent his support today to Sen. Joseph McCarthy, (R-Wis.), because, "I don't think 'McCarthyism' is such a bad influence."
