

Three Aim for Point Lead at County Speedway Tonight

Tonight at the Jackson County Speedway in Medford, the hottest hardtops in this area gather for an evening of racing, roaring engines and screaming tires. The special event, always a thriller, will be made up of the fastest cars and drivers of the season, out to prove that they really deserve the title of race drivers.

Point standings are so closely grouped that either Elmer Sismore in M46 or Bob Wilcox in M11 could move into the first position now held by Bernie Miller. Bernie has no idea of letting up on the throttle and losing that hardwon first place but Cecil James thinks that he ought to be back in that position.

Sudden Sid Budden is slated for another appearance and this time Sid says that he will stay out of trouble and a long way out in front of the pack. Sid has been one of the "hardluck" kids at the Jackson County Speedway, but always ready to provide competition in big doses.

Bouncing Bobby Jenkins of M22, the Bobtailed Ford, is working on a new engine since his little mount finally "froze up" and refuses to budge. Just a few more points and Bob will be up in the top twelve.

Speed unlimited will be on the program when the hardtoppers roll out at 7 p.m. for the time trials.

Eagle Pointers Play Hillsboro

Portland —(U.P.)— The Dalles' Defending Champion Service Motors opened action in the state women's softball tournament last night with a 4-1 win over Matt Mathes Flowers of Corvallis.

Other games saw Oswego blank Salem 12-0; Canby shut out Willamette Electric of Oakridge 3-0, and Hillsboro take Eugene 12-7. Hillsboro plays Eagle Point today.

Medford Man Replaced By Sawmill Workers

Spokane —(U.P.)— John Gambelin, Eugene, Ore., was reelected president of the Northwest Lumber and Sawmill workers at the conclusion of the group's four-day convention yesterday.

Randall Berger, Klamath Falls, was elected conductor to replace George Reigel, Medford.

Glad Queen Chosen By Local Activists

Grants Pass—Miss Key Hyatt, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hyatt of Grants Pass was crowned Queen Gladys XIII at a Gladiolus festival ceremony Wednesday night.

The coronation followed a half hour band concert by the Grants Pass high school band under the direction of Raymond McAllister. Besides the queen, six princesses made up the Royal Gladiolus at the Josephine county fairgrounds.

The program also included the 50-voice festival chorus, as well as many dignitaries.

Queen contest judges were five members from the Medford Active club. They included Jack Cummings, Russell DeForest, Ray Hising, Bud Palmer and Robert DeGroot.

Federal Tax Laws Claimed Antiquated

Washington —(U.P.)— Chairman Daniel A. Reed, (R-N.Y.), said today six weeks of hearings by the tax framing House Ways and Means committee have shown federal laws to be unfair, confusing and antiquated.

He said a top to bottom tax revision bill will be the "first order of business" before his committee in the new session of Congress starting Jan. 8.

While the committee will postpone decisions on most of the major tax reform issues until next year, Reed said it has already "tentatively" agreed on two changes. One would give a better tax break to parents whose dependent children have part time jobs; the other would simplify the system of filing quarterly declarations of estimated tax.

Hospital Plane Grounded by Weather

Andrews AFB, Md. —(U.P.)—A hospital plane carrying eight recently released Korean war prisoners to Eastern hospitals was grounded today in the Midwest because of bad weather on the East Coast.

A spokesman at Andrews Air Force Base, outside Washington, said the plane was ordered to stay at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., until conditions cleared.

The morning was drizzly and gusty in the Washington area, conditions attributed to the tropical hurricane Barbara whirling along the Virginia capes some 200 miles distance.

French, Rebel Forces Renew Hostilities

Luang Prabang, Laos —(U.P.)— Renewed fighting has broken out between French forces and Communist rebels in Laos, French headquarters reported today.

Patrol action was reported in all sectors of this remote mountain kingdom of Indo-China. French officers feared the recurrent patrol incidents might herald a renewal in September of last winter's Communist invasion that reached the gates of this royal capital.

Son of Local Couple Returns From Korea

Capt. Reed A. Gallier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed A. Gallier Sr., Camp White, who arrived in Seattle last week from Korea and Japan with his wife and four-year-old son Stephen, will be in Medford Saturday to visit his parents.

It will be Captain Gallier's first time home in three years. His wife and son have been with him in Japan for a year and a half. Captain Gallier will report to Fort Lewis Sept. 4, where he will be the claims officer.

New Assistant Engineer At Camp White Named

Camp White — Manager Eugene K. Ricker announced today that Joe W. Smith will assume the duties of assistant engineer starting Monday, August 17. He is arriving this week from Ft. Bayard VA hospital.

The position was vacated last month when Al Burman was advanced to the position of engineering officer at the VA hospital, Saginaw, Mich.

Britain Having Tough Time Finding Mate for Margaret As She Approaches Age 23

London —(U.P.)— Princess Margaret reaches the ripe age of 23, that's old for unmarried royalty, a week from today and this nation of unofficial matchmakers is having a tough time picking a suitable mate.

Queen Elizabeth, her sister, is throwing a birthday luncheon for Margaret and there will be dancing that night at Balmoral Castle. If the pretty little princess dances more than once with any of the eligibles present it will set the whole country's tongues wagging.

Marrying off the royal family is a British national pastime and the gossipers have linked Margaret with a longer list of possibilities than any princess before her. Margaret has dined with them and danced with them and then, just as the gossip reached white heat, they have gone off and married someone else.

The Earl of Dalketh, heir to five castles and a half a million acres, shattered many a hope when he married a beautiful model instead of the princess, his childhood friend. The earl and Margaret once were said by friends to have an "understanding". But he preferred the Scottish forests and Margaret the London night clubs.

Fair Exhibitors Seek Record Space

Salem —(U.P.)— Exhibitors have contracted for 25 per cent more space than ever before for the 1953 Oregon State fair here, John R. Kelly, fair space manager, said today.

A new feature of the fair, which opens Sept. 5 for an eight-day run, will be a display of house trailers. The fair says it will be the largest ever assembled in the Pacific Northwest.

Farm machinery and equipment displays will take more than twice as much space as last year, with a value of more than a million dollars. All told, some 300 commercial and non-commercial exhibitors will stage shows and demonstrations.

Motor Scooter and Automobile Collide

A collision involving an automobile and a motor scooter took place at the intersection of Main and Front sts. Wednesday, according to police records.

The car, driven by Lee Roy Applegate, 406 Clark st., Medford, was going east on East Main in the left lane of traffic. As he reached the intersection he turned left and struck the left rear fender of a scooter driven by Lloyd C. Linhard, 1762 South each st., Medford, police said. No one was injured and no citations were issued.

Around Hollywood

Hollywood —(U.P.)— A new jungle movie starring Rita Hayworth and an assortment of lions and elephants is ready to be unveiled, but this is one role Rita wants kept out of the theaters.

This epic also stars Aly Khan. Since Rita now is romancing Dick Haymes, an immigrant in hot water for jumping the border, she wants no part of any movie co-starring her with Aly. But a Philadelphia company is busy editing the picture, and unless Rita comes up with a lawsuit, the movie will grace the theaters.

The movie "Champagne Safari," was filmed by Rita's business manager, Jackson Leichter, when Rita and Aly went lion-hunting in Africa three years ago.

"I sold the company my interest in the picture and have nothing to do with it now, for personal reasons," Leichter said. "The film can't show one foot of Rita or her studio will sue."

The film shows the handsome Prince Aly plowing through darkest Africa in a pith helmet. Following him are several truckloads of champagne.

"We'd have champagne with dinner every night," said Leichter. "It's his favorite beverage."

In the film Aly poses with a 2,500-lb. buffalo he killed. Crocodiles, elephants, lions and other animals got into the act, too.

Miss Hayworth is not shown closing in for the kill. She doesn't like hunting, Leichter said, and spent most of her African stay in the city of Nairobi. In her "scenes" she stars at receptions tossed for the couple in Africa and cities on the way.

It was after sounds of hunting died down that Rita packed up and went home without her prince.

On The Side

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Are the tastes of present day playgoers more sophisticated than in the era of the pre-World War I? I would say not. Consider some of the plays that were Broadway hits when your grandpa was a whistle girl. For examples, "The Affairs of Anatol," "The Devil," "The Phantom Rival," "A Pair of Silk Stockings," "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith" and "The Concert."

Also take the songs of the pre-World War I period. They treated that thing called love with a much lighter and more sophisticated touch than intense ballads of the present. Examples, "Call Me Up Some Rainy Afternoon," "Just Because She Made Those Goo-Goo Eyes," "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave," "Won't You Come and Play With Me?" and "He's a Cousin of Mine."

Beautiful Girls

Kipling, in one of his poems, expressed the view that every man has one place he would prefer to live above all others. Kipling's choice was Sussex, England. In the town of Bramber, in Sussex, the girls outnumber the men by four to one. And practically all the girls are beautiful. There may be a town in the United States where a similar condition exists but I don't know where it is.

Drinks Per Fifth

It has been claimed there are eighteen holes on a standard golf course because there are eighteen drinks in a bottle of Scotch. The decision was arrived at by a group of golfers who took a drink at every hole on chilly days. I doubt the truth of this yarn. However, the question arises how many drinks are there in a fifth of Scotch? Or how many should there be? I think eighteen is about right but I understand most bartenders are required to get twenty-four drinks out of a fifth.

Passing By

Rosalind Russell. Highly vigorous, vivacious and versatile screen and stage luminary. Now enjoying the benefits of a wonderful part in that musical stage hit titled "Wonderful Town." Despite a recently reported illness, Rosalind has yet to miss a performance in that piece. Whether this is due to a belief that the show must go on, or a feeling that the understudy must not go on, has been the subject of discussion. That is, among understudies. In any event, Miss Russell must be credited with the possession of the endurance of a Spartan woman.

Frank Menke, America's foremost authority on sports. Frank's remarkable book titled "Encyclopedia on Sports" is an argument settler that should be immediately available in all places where sport fans assemble. No men's club should be without it. All bartenders should have a copy handy.

What's the Record for Earnings from the Recording of One Song?

It is claimed that Ricard Tauber earned $300,000 from the records of his song titled "You Are My Heart's Delight." ... After Hollywood divorces, the participants usually say, "but we will still be the best of friends." Few voicing this promise live up to it. However, Ida Lupino, and Collier Young have. Ida's ex-husband is married to Joan Fontaine but is still the business partner and friend of Ida. ... When a young woman consents to ride on the rear of a motorcycle driven by her boy friend, that is a sign of real love. Incidentally, when Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers were in their courtship period, Mary often went riding on the rear seat of Buddy's motorcycle.

Says He

"I agree with Harold Minnisky that Jane Russell and Marilyn Monroe have ideal figures for burlesque actresses," writes a New Yorker. "Their voices, their handling of the English language and their acting are also ideal for that medium. A pair of perfect Minnisky types."

Wedding Rings

What is the inscription on your wedding ring? If you have no inscription, you have been cheated. All wedding rings should have inscriptions. The inscription on the wedding ring of one happily married California couple is "Stan vs. Laura." On every wedding anniversary Stan gives Laura a gift on which is written or inscribed, "round one," "round two," "round three," etc. Here's hoping the "Stan vs. Laura" matrimonial bout goes 75 rounds or more to a draw.
