Patrolman's Revolver Found After 28 Years

St. Louis, Mo.—(U.P.)—Patrolman Bernhardt Schaefer got his service revolver back but it took 28 years. Schaefer's weapon was stolen from a restaurant washroom here in 1925. A few days ago it was found in a trash can in New York City and police there, tracing its number, returned it to the St. Louis police department. Schaefer said the revolver still is in good condition and he's going to keep it as a souvenir.

'Queen-For-Day' Begins Reign Here

An excited Gardens, Calif., woman arrived at the Medford municipal airport Friday, ready to begin the southern Oregon portion of her reign as "Queen for a Day."

Winner of the top award of the well-known radio show, petite, blonde and blue-eyed Mrs. Sylvia Ross began her four-day stay in the Rogue valley with a luncheon in her honor by the Ashland Soroptimist club. She and her husband, Frank, are guests at the Ashland motel. Entertainment for the glowing radio winner will include trips to the Oregon Caves and Crater and Diamond lakes, attendance at performances of Shakespearean Festival plays, dinners at various Ashland restaurants.

A car and driver have been placed at the disposal of the California woman. She also has been the recipient of many gifts since winning the queen's crown.

Seventy per cent of the earth's surface is covered by ocean, with an average depth of approximately two miles. If all the common salt in sea water could be extracted, it is estimated there would be enough salt to cover all land areas to a depth of about 110 feet.

Building Maintenance Starts at Domiciliary

Camp White—The engineering division here has started maintenance work on buildings in line with the regular program of physical improvements around the station.

A 600-foot water grid along the hospital road will be completed by the end of the week. Roofing of four more buildings will start this week bringing the total to 13 to be roofed since this operation started last year.

Exterior painting is under way on the five unused buildings connecting with the domiciliary proper.

Juvenile Workers Married by Judge In Saturday Rite

Catharine Potter Kunkel, Jackson county probation officer, and Frederick Gleason Crowell, placement supervisor for McLaren school, were married Saturday at the Jackson county courthouse by Tracy Crum, acting district judge.

faith and friendship walk hand in hand

Millions of Americans this month are making it a special point to invite their friends into their churches—as freely and frequently as they ask them to their homes. You'll find that SHARING your faith does something for you, and for your friends as well... It grows when it's shared... and your friendships grow, too.

Take someone to church this week...

you'll both be richer for it
