

Three Medford Men To Attend Annual Safety Conference

Salem—Three Medford residents will participate directly in the governor's sixth annual Industrial Safety conference to be held in Portland Nov. 18 and 19, according to the State Industrial Accident Commission, sponsoring the conference with the cooperation of labor and management.

Don Rutter, safety engineer for the California-Oregon Power Co., will appear on two panels in the public utilities section. M. O. Bessonet, Bessonet Construction Co., and C. E. Turnidge, Carpenters Local 2067, AF of L, will take part in the building construction section.

Ten industry sections have been arranged; automotive, food processing, heavy construction, logging, log transportation, metal industries, plywood, sawmilling, petroleum-chemical, and state, county and municipal.

The conference will open at 10 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 18, with a general assembly at which Gov. Paul L. Patterson will give the keynote address. The speaker at the banquet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. will be A. H. Zellinger, superintendent of safety, Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., Pueblo, Col.

A Nichol's Worth of ... Comment On This and That

Washington — (U.P.) — What's new in Washington:

Judy Holliday, the cutie from Hollywood, called on George

Magoffin Humphrey. Judy

cried a mite because the Secretary of Treasury could not go with her to attend

a savings bond dinner where the star was to receive an honor.

Humphrey said he had a date to go to a dinner for the Queen Mother.

Judy pucker again and said:

"Bring her along; we'll have a lot of fun."

The spirit was willing, but the secretary had commitments.

The Library of Congress gets

some funny calls.

The other day a Washington television station called and said that a listener wanted to know if anybody lived in the library.

The telephone operator replied: "Only book worms live

here, sir."

The library, by the way, is about to get out a new list of publications ready for the reading public. An alert proof-reader caught this one.

Ragweed rather than goldenrod sets hay-fever victims to sneezing. Many sufferers wrongly blame goldenrod. Its pollen actually is too heavy to ride the wind. Ragweed pollen, on the other hand, spreads even on light breezes.

Vets Variety Show Scheduled Tonight

The Veterans Hour Variety Show and Radio Quiz, sponsored by Myers-Holland Post 129, American Legion, Central Point, and radio station KYJC will be presented at the theater at Camp White this evening at 7:45 o'clock. The program will honor the city of Medford and Medford Post 15, American Legion.

The Medford post will have charge of the entertainment, and according to Commander Herb Crain and District 13 Ladies Auxiliary president Mrs. Maxine Bigelow, the entertainment will surpass any previous program at the domiciliary center.

In the radio quiz Franklin "Jerry" Gerrard, of the special services office will ask the questions. Prizes will be awarded by the merchants of Medford.

Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the Medford unit, assisted by the auxiliary of Post 129.

The public is invited to attend. The quiz will be broadcast over KYJC later.

Bridgeport, Conn. — (U.P.) — John J. Panso, 75, who had $6,000 in the bank, was found starved to death in his basement flat.

Agreement Reached Over Death Claims

Portland — (U.P.) — Agreement over death claims was reached by the Oregon and Washington industrial accident commissions yesterday, thus averting a walk-out of crews repairing Bonneville dam.

The workers had threatened a strike, not against their employer, but as a protest against delays in settling death claims for the survivors of five men killed in an accident on the project last August.

The commissions agreed to accept Pier 9 of the dam as the dividing line and each commission agreed to pay death claims of two families of the accident victims. Claim for the fifth victim's family has not been filed.

Medford Students Earn SOC Offices

Ashland — Three Medford students have captured all offices in the sophomore class at Southern Oregon college.

Elected president was Leon McDougall, teacher education major. Vince Swinney is vice-president and Lynn Gray is the new secretary.

McDougall was graduated from Medford High school in 1953. Last year, his first at SOC, he was a yell leader, vice-president of Alpha Phi Omega and a member of Sigma Alpha Sigma. He is also a member of the Future Teachers of America. In high school he was active in speech and dramatics.

Bert Jenks, Eagle Point, teacher education major, has been elected president of the senior class. Also elected to class offices were Joan Pochelu, Ashland, vice-president, and Janice Wadley, Ashland, secretary-treasurer.
