Teen-Age Trio Blamed in Death Of Three Firemen

Chicago — (U.P.)—Three teenagers' night of "bumming around" led to the death of three firemen and the stabbing of a Korean war veteran, police said today.

Officers were still piecing together the young vandals' stories but said they had established this much:

They twice broke into a private school for girls Wednesday and one of them, enraged because his girl friend had been expelled, set fire to a stack of paper underneath a stairway.

Killed in Collision
The firemen were killed in a collision as they sped to the fire and a third died of a heart attack while manning a handpump.

Between the two break-ins the three youths attacked and knifed a veteran who yelled at them for almost running him down in their convertible.

The three youths, all products of broken homes, were held while police debated what charges to place against them.

The case was the latest in an outbreak of juvenile hoodlums in Chicago's southwest side. Police have resorted to curfews and "get tough" policies in an attempt to quell roving bands of young toughs, including "wolf pack" gangs of girls.

Fringe Benefits Aid Recruiting

Chicago — (U.P.)—Fringe benefits have become an important factor in the recruiting of workers for both government and private enterprise, according to the Civil Service Assembly.

The assembly said American workers regard fringe benefits as an important condition of employment.

The term applies to a wide variety of rights, privileges and special activities which employees consider along with salary as attractive features of a job.

The Civil Service Assembly, in a special report on the subject, predicted that pressure for increased fringe benefits will continue as long as individual security needs are not completely satisfied.

It said that as soon as nationwide programs are established which provide adequately for the security needs of employees, present fringe benefits will become obsolete or new benefits will be devised.

The report said the disparity between fringe benefits offered to employees by government and industry is not as great as commonly believed.

The assembly said the gap is narrowing between vacation policies of government and industry.

For years, the assembly said, the vacation policy in most governmental jurisdictions has been regarded as more liberal than in industry. But recently the federal vacation period has been decreased, while the vacation allowances of many private firms have become more liberal.

Mrs. Edward Zemke, route 1, box 430, Talent, left for her home this morning after being at the same hospital since Wednesday evening when she underwent emergency surgery.

Woman Visits Foster Relatives

Buffalo, N.Y. — (U.P.)—Mrs. Harvey Lisk decided that this past summer was a good time to visit her 25 "nieces" and "nephews" in England, Wales, Norway, Finland, Austria, Switzerland, Greece, Italy and France.

Her trip to Europe was in response to invitations received since the early post-war years of World War II.

Mrs. Lisk acquired the foster nieces and nephews through a children's club formed by her daughter, Faith. The six members of the club called themselves the Junior Joy Crafters.

In the days of hunger and want in Europe, Mrs. Lisk suggested to the club that they write to girls their own age in foreign lands. Soon letters were pouring back and forth across the ocean.

The local girls began sending presents of food and clothing, and collected items from neighbors. Mrs. Lisk acted as sponsor, and wrote her own letters, signed "Aunt Doris." In a short time, she was being addressed "Aunt Doris" in a dozen different languages.

The years passed and the original club members grew up, leaving the organization to younger girls. Mrs. Lisk continued as sponsor, however, and the letters kept flying back and forth across the Atlantic. Then she decided to meet the writers and made the summer trip.
