Reception at Country Club Honors Bollingers Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Bollinger observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, November 21 during a reception given in their honor at the Rogue Valley Country club banquet room by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Popham. The Bollingers live at 307 Pierce road.

About 100 guests called on the couple during the afternoon and refreshments were served. Mrs. Allen Drury, a close friend of the family, presented the couple a wedding cake which she had made, and which was used as part of the refreshments. The Bollingers were married November 26, 1904 at Elkhart, Ind. They moved to a suburb of Chicago where Mr. Bollinger was an executive in an advertising agency for 25 years. They came to Medford upon his retirement as assistant sales manager for the Curtiss Candy company.

Decorations at the reception included golden yellow chrysanthemums and the tables were sprinkled with gold sequins. The couple was presented many gifts. Mrs. Bollinger wore a lavender knit dress with pink accessories. Her corsage was a pink orchid.

Mrs. I. S. Horne and Mrs. Carl I. Henrikson, sisters of Mrs. Bollinger, arrived by plane from Hollywood, Calif., for the occasion.

Woman To Be Reunited With Small Son After Ten Years

Spokane — (U.P.)—A former Polish refugee woman will be reunited today with her 11-year-old son whom she hasn't seen since she was captured by the Germans in Warsaw when the child was one year old.

Mrs. Wladyslawia Garcia of Pullman, Wash., plans to meet her son, Andrzej Porazik, at 5:30 a.m. when the boy is scheduled to arrive here on a Northwest Orient Airlines plane from New York.

Andrzej, her only child, had been sent to spend two weeks with his paternal grandmother at her home near the Baltic Sea in September, 1944, when Mrs. Garcia was captured and her husband was killed in street fighting in that city.

Pope Pius Suffers Serious New Attack Of Stomach Pains

Vatican City — (U.P.)—Pope Pius XII, who will be 79 next March, suffered a serious new attack Saturday of the hiccoughs, stomach pains and fatigue which afflicted him last winter.

Authoritative Vatican sources said that the Pontiff had never recovered completely from his last winter's illness and that many of the symptoms of that attack had returned, but in a milder form.

Returns to Vatican
The Pope, clad in warm clothes to protect him from the late afternoon winds blowing off Lake Alban, was driven back to the Vatican from his summer villa at Castelgandolfo today.

The Pontiff immediately will begin a period of special treatment and enforced rest. However, Vatican sources said there was no cause for alarm.

They said the Pope had a "minor crisis" Friday and is being fed indirectly again. But they pointed out that the Pontiff was well enough to make the 16-mile, 40-minute drive from Castelgandolfo to his Vatican apartment.

The Pope's physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, accompanied the Pontiff back to the Vatican from the summer villa and ordered him to take a pre-Christmas rest and to limit his activities. He also ordered the indirect feeding as he did when the Pope was ill last January and February.

Dr. Paul Niehans, the Swiss specialist who has been treating the Pope periodically since last February, saw the Pope only twice this week instead of his usual daily visit.

Sources close to Galeazzi-Lisi said that the physician feels there is no special cause for concern if the Pope reduces his activities.

The Pontiff's ailment comes and goes depending on the pace of his work. The illness is produced by a nervous tension caused by overwork and worry. However, the Pope has ignored his doctor's warnings and refused to cancel his major activities.

Meeting Procedure Classes Scheduled

The first in a series of classes on parliamentary procedures will be held Wednesday, Dec. 1, starting at 7:30 p. m. in Room 26 of Medford senior high school it was announced Saturday.

Three two-hour class sessions will be devoted to the study, explanation, demonstration, application and practice of correct parliamentary procedures in the conduct of group meetings. The sessions are designed to aid adults with organized group affiliations.

The classes, which will be instructed by Devere Taylor, of the high school faculty, will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. on Dec. 1, 8 and 15. Registration fee is $1 and registrations may be made at the first class session. No fee is charged members of the preceding class wishing to review fundamentals learned.
