Fish Counting Operations Halted

Portland—(U.P.)—Army engineers reported today that they have called a halt to fish-counting operations at Bonneville dam for the 1954 calendar year.

Ivan Donaldson, fish biologist for the Engineers, said counting was suspended by agreements with the states of Oregon and Washington and that this is the customary time to stop the count since there are so few fish migrating up the Columbia.

Counting at McNary dam, under the jurisdiction of the Walla Walla district of the Corps of Engineers, will come to a halt at the end of Tuesday's counting. Fish counting will be resumed at Bonneville March 1.

Unofficial totals for the year found steelhead and blueback runs good, Chinook runs not so good, the silver run bad, and humpbacks, with a total of four, average.

The Chinook total was 320,945, as compared with the 16-year average of 358,152 from 1938 to 1953. Blueback totaled 130,181, compared with 98,663; steelhead 176,254, compared with 142,021.

Only 3988 silver salmon were tallied as compared with an average of 8474. There were 1569 chum salmon as opposed to an average of 1688.

Fair Association Holds Convention

Portland—(U.P.)—The Oregon Fairs Association opened its 27th annual convention here today.

President Vernon DeLong of La Grande told the directors and managers of county fairs and the state fair that the major accomplishment of the association this year had been in restoring part of the state dog racing tax to the use of the fairs. The revenue was held in trust while a proposed additional tax by the City of Portland went through litigation. The proposal was defeated.

The convention will run through Wednesday.

Silk Stocking Bandits Thwarted

Portland—(U.P.)—Two men with women's silk stockings over their faces were lurking inside Walt's Supermarket here when employees reported for work today, but they fled when one worker dashed outside to summon police.

One of the masked men was reported carrying a sawed-off shotgun.

Police said no one apparently had been robbed.

Meatcutter Art Krieger, who ran to a nearby restaurant to call police, said the men were crouched behind the meat counter when he came in. Krieger said the men herded the employees toward the front of the store and he managed to slip through the front door to go for help.

The employee said the men had forced their way into the store through the roof, using a rope to reach the floor.

Barge Owners Seek Legislation Support

Salem—(U.P.)—Barge owners, supported by representatives of truck lines urged the Oregon Development commission here today to support legislation giving the state public utilities commissioner power to establish and regulate minimum rates on railroads.

The barge line owners also complained about the tax imposed upon them by the 1949 legislature, validity of which has recently been upheld by the Oregon Supreme court.

The minimum rate law on railroads sought by its supporters is the same law which was defeated by the 1953 Legislature after shippers had complained against any regulation of minimum railroad rates.
