

Tailwinds Credited By Air Lines for Seven New Records

San Francisco — (U.P.) — United Airlines and American Airlines credited high altitude tailwinds today with helping their planes set seven new speed records.

United set five of the records and American two others. The records were achieved Sunday night and yesterday. They were:

1. United's flight 702 from San Francisco to New York Sunday night covered the 2741 air miles in 5 hours, 57 minutes for an average speed of 461 miles an hour. It trimmed 25 minutes off the previous record.

2. Another United DC-7 left San Francisco Sunday night and reached Denver in 2 hours, 20 minutes for one new record.

The same plane set a second record by flying from Denver to Washington, D. C., in 3 hours, 30 minutes, arriving 50 minutes ahead of schedule.

3. A third plane from Los Angeles to New York covered the 2559 miles in 5 hours, 38 minutes, 13 minutes better than the previous mark.
