

In and Around Table Rock

Table Rock—Kenny Wyatt arrived here Wednesday accompanied by Miss Helen Wood of Eugene and the two spent the Thanksgiving holidays with the home folks at the Ray Wyatt home. This is Kenny's fourth year as instructor for the handicapped in two high and four grade schools in Eugene. Miss Wood is vocational therapist in a hospital in Eugene where polio patients are taken for special treatment.

An epidemic of what is commonly called gripe, flu, or common colds, and CRI by Dr. Brady, has cut heavily into the Sunday school attendance here lately.

Mrs. Byron Coulter of the Ramsey Canyon district was a brief caller here Tuesday.

R. V. Beale of the lane of the same name, which incidentally he says is pronounced "Bell," was a recent business visitor here. Mr. Beale, a farmer for most of his life, has decided to quit. He says a man of his age has no chance owing to not being able to do the work himself or find competent farm help, coupled with taxes what they are.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timm returned Tuesday from a two weeks vacation spent in different parts of Oregon and Washington. They visited friends in both states and attended the convention of the Oregon State Employers Assn. at Bend, and the Filter center at Portland where Mrs. Timm, an airplane observer at TouVelle park, got to see how her air flashes were handled.

Monday's edition of the Oregon Journal gives an account of the trial at Richmond, Va., of Mrs. Kathlene Nagler charged with being implicated in the Herman Harris jewel theft. Mrs. Nagler and her husband resided in this community some three years ago living in the house now occupied by the Dick Reum family.

If the old Indian sign can be depended on we are in for a hard winter, as the ears of corn this year were tightly wrapped with heavy husks. On the other hand the woodpeckers and squirrels are supposed to store an extra supply of acorns when a hard winter is anticipated but the late frost this spring killed most of the acorns. However, we notice that the woodpeckers in our pine have a fair supply of acorns left over from last year.

Bill Glass, the Arkansas trapper, was over this way Monday looking over his trap line and reported seven muskrats the first day. According to Bill one would have to skin rats pretty fast to make anything at the price pelt are bringing now.

The Boiler Tree Service, managed by Lee McKnight of Medford last week topped the tall poplar trees in the Bosworth yard.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Leavitt of the Old Stage road, Mrs. Clara Gardener and brother Chris Richardson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morgan are spending some time in Texas to be with Mrs. Morgan's mother who is reported to be very ill.

The white duck that roamed along the ditches and in the feed yards on the J. L. Nealon farm disappeared about the close of the pheasant season.

Among recent business visitors here were Gus Koellner of Sams Valley, manager of Big Pines Lumber Co.; Ernest Pfeister, Medford, builder of fireplaces; C. C. Dickerson, farmer and hay dealer of Grants Pass, and T. Van De Koolwyk, representing the Sterling Insurance Co. of Chicago.

Carl May of Medford, a resident here some 50 years ago, was a brief visitor last Tuesday. He was foreman of the Table Rock Orchard for several years and set out many of the pear trees now in the orchard, later working ELECTED—Henry G. Riter III (above) president of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., of West Orange, N. J., was elected president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.
