

Joe Perry Sets Eye on New Record

Philadelphia—(U.P.)—Joe (The Jet) Perry, running a country mile ahead of other National Football league ball carriers, sets his sights Saturday on breaking a record set five years ago by the former Philadelphia Eagles great, Steve Van Buren.

Perry, the San Francisco flash, needs to roll up 140 yards in the 49ers final game of the season against the Baltimore Colts to break the league ground gaining mark Van Buren chalked up in 1949. That doesn't appear too great a task for him.

Last week the former Compton Junior college back gained more than 100 yards on the ground for the fifth time this season, boosting his ground gaining total to 1007 yards, official league statistics showed today. He has averaged 6.5 yards per carry.

Perry's teammate, John Henry Johnson, is second among the league ground gainers with 666 yards, nearly 400 less than the leader. Paul Younger, Los Angeles is third with 610, teammate Dan Towler has 556 and Eddie Price of New York is fifth with 524.

Van Brocklin Leads
The Rams' Norm Van Brocklin again leads the league's passers with a 9.89 average gain in yards. But with the standings based on average gain per pass attempted, defending champion Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns still has a chance to hold on to the title. Graham has an extra game to play and his average is 8.62, second best.

Van Brocklin has attempted 252 passes and completed 134 for 2493 yards and 12 touchdowns. Graham has thrown 225 and completed 134 for 1940 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Edmund (Zeke) Bratkowski of the Chicago Bears also qualified as a championship contender with an 8.36 average. Tom Dublinski of Detroit is fourth with 7.93 and his teammate, Bobby Layne, fifth with 7.79.

Philadelphia's Pete Pihos, the defending pass receiving champion, is tied in that department with Billy Wilson of the 49ers, both credited with 52 receptions.

Bob Boyd of Los Angeles and Billy Howton of Green Bay are tied for third with 49 passes caught. Dante Lavelli of the Browns is fifth with 45.

Top Scorers
The lead in the scoring department went to Philadelphia's Bobby Walston, who has tallied 105 points. But Walston has only one more game to play, whereas Detroit's Doak Walker, with 98 points, has two more games to play.

Lou Groza of Cleveland is third with 75 points while Gordon Soltau of San Francisco and Ben Agajanian of New York are tied for fourth with 72.

The number one spot in punting was retained by Horace Gillom of Cleveland with a 43.7 average. He was followed by Pat Brady of Pittsburgh with 43.2, Van Brocklin of Los Angeles with 42.9, Tom Landry of New York with 42.8 and Jug Girard of Detroit with 41.4.

New York's Herb Johnson, with a 13.2 yards average, leads the punt return specialists. Jack Christensen of Detroit is second with 2.6 and Veryl Switzer of Green Bay is third with 12.5.

A 29.5 average gives Bill Reynolds of Cleveland the lead in kickoff returns, with Les Goble of the Chicago Cardinals second with 29.3.

The Cardinals' Dick Lane retained his lead in pass interceptions with nine.

Joyce Claims Helmet In Hand Accidentally

Sonoma, Calif. —(U.P.)—Don Joyce, Baltimore Colts tackle, went on the record with his side of the celebrated Les Richter helmet bashing today.

He said he got sore and whammed the Los Angeles Ram guard in the eye after Richter had tried twice to kneel him in the groin during a block.

He said he meant to wallop the Los Angeles player with a handful of knuckles—and the fact he had Richter's helmet in his hand was an accident.

Joyce told the United Press the alleged kneeling incident was designed to "get me out of the game."

"In trying to shake him off I pushed out my arm with my open hand and when I pulled back, his helmet came with it. Richter kept coming after me and I took a swing at him. Maybe part of the nose guard on the helmet was in my hand."
