15 Sentenced To Die By Military Tribunal

Truman, Ike Heap Praise on Marshall at Amvet Session

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower and former President Truman heaped new praise on Gen. George C. Marshall Friday night as the former secretary of state and defense was honored by the Amvets for his wartime leadership.

Mr. Eisenhower said Marshall, his World War II boss, "has rendered to our country service of unexcelled distinction and patriotism. His life is an example of integrity and devotion to duty."

Mr. Truman said he thinks "as highly of General Marshall as one man can of another."

Great Man of War
"He was the great man of the Second World War. He was a great secretary of state, he was a great secretary of defense and he was one of the greatest ambassadors that I had in my presidential family."

Both the President and Mr. Truman have praised Marshall on previous occasions, particularly after Marshall was attacked by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. McCarthy charged in a 1951 Senate speech that while serving on a mission to China for Mr. Truman, Marshall became part of an "immense conspiracy" to let the Communists take over China.

Receives Award
Marshall was presented the Amvets' steel helmet award at the veteran groups' 10th anniversary dinner. Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Truman's remarks were contained in messages read at the dinner.

In making the award, Amvets National Commander Rufus H. Wilson said that in his posts of wartime leadership Marshall "fought tenaciously through what must have seemed to a lesser man insurmountable obstacles."

The principal speaker was Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen, who praised Marshall's contributions to European economic stability through the plan that bore his name.

Idaho Man Protests Snake Dam Sites as Atom Bomb Targets

Boise—(U.P.)—Paul Kiepe of Riggins, Idaho, Saturday filed a protest with State Reclamation Engineer Mark R. Kulp against the application by Pacific Northwest Power Company for permits to explore two Snake river sites for power development.

Kulp said a hearing must be held within 60 days of the time the application was filed, which was Nov. 2.

Kiepe said in his protest he was concerned with the possibility that large dams would create in the region "undesirable and unnecessary nuclear bomb targets."

Permission Requested
Pacific Northwest, a combine of five power companies, has asked for permission to study the Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley sites on the Snake river for possible power development.

Kiepe, a retired educator, said there was an "all-too-clear possibility" that all large dams would be subject to attack in the event of war.

Noting that Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley were within 30 miles of his home and even closer to Riggins, he said he did not wish to see panic and confusion in the Riggins area should an enemy air attack come.

Puerto Rico Hit By Dock Strike

San Juan, P. R.—(U.P.)—Shipping was hard hit Saturday by a wildcat waterfront strike at San Juan, Mayaguez and Guaynilla on the south coast.

The strike was called by the Puerto Rico Dock Workers Union which refused to handle eight-bag sling loads in loading sugar on ships. International Longshoremen Associated Workers began a sympathy strike at Guaynilla.

About one-half of the total area of New Jersey is devoted to agriculture, according to recent estimates.

There have been no fortifications along the Canadian-American frontier anywhere since the War of 1812.
