Two Waiting Trial Will Retain Jobs, Colleges Declare

Boston — (U.P.) — A Harvard physics professor and a McGill university psychologist charged with contempt of the U. S. Senate were assured Saturday they can remain at their jobs while awaiting trial in U. S. District Court here.

Assistant Harvard Prof. Wendell H. Furry, 47, and Leon J. Kamin, 26, were indicted by a federal Grand Jury Friday for refusing to name former Communist associates when questioned by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) last Jan. 15 and 16. No date was set for arraignment of the men to plead the indictments.

At the hearing both men refused to testify on grounds of "conscience."

Commenting on the indictment of Furry on 10 counts, Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey said Furry was indicted for refusing to answer questions "about other people."

"He testified under oath he dropped out of the Communist party a number of years ago," Pusey said. Furry is on a three-year probation period at Harvard for what the university called "grave misconduct" in employing the fifth amendment in an earlier hearing. He is a resident of Belmont.

Dr. Cyril James, principal of McGill, said "the university will do nothing until he (Kamin) is tried." Kamin was indicted on six counts. He was formerly a research assistant at Harvard.

Iran Launches Plan To Bolster Economy

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The Shah of Iran told a press conference Friday that his country has launched a $1,000,000,000 "seven year plan" to revitalize its lagging economy, and is looking for private American investment to aid the program.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi told newsmen the most important part of his current U. S. tour was to encourage private American investment to make up the deficit that oil royalties will not be able to provide during the first few years of the plan.

The Iranian monarch said the recent anglo-iranian oil settlement would give his nation an annual income of about 150 million dollars, but he said part of these royalties were earmarked for other official expenditures.

The seven year plan, he said, is expected to be the "turning point" in Iran's long history, and private capital investment in the country "would be profitable for both sides."

The Shah said he and his beautiful empress Soraya would go to Los Angeles on the 24th and then to Sun Valley, Idaho, for skiing.

McKay Schedules Series Of Talks in Oregon

Portland — (U.P.) — Interior Secretary Douglas McKay, who was scheduled to arrive in Salem this weekend for the holidays, will make Portland speeches Dec. 27 and 28.

He will speak before the Chamber of Commerce on Dec. 27 and two days later will talk at a meeting of the Multnomah county chapter of the Oregon Republican club.

German Girl Gets American Secrets From U.S. Officers

Berlin — (U.P.) — A voluptuous German beauty who used her charms so effectively she worked her way into the American security system will be arraigned Tuesday on charges of spying for the Communists.

The U. S. High Commission charges that the girl, Irmgard Margarethe Schmidt, 24, learned from susceptible American officers the identity of American secret agents, the meetings places of underground agents, the way anti-Communists agents are smuggled into the East, how anti-Communist agents are trained and methods used by the United States to learn the Soviet army "order of battle."

Worked for Security Man

Informed sources said she used her beauty so effectively she got a job working for an American security officer.

Conviction on the spying charge could bring the death penalty.

Names of the officers the girl was friendly with were not disclosed. However, at least one highly placed Air Force officer was transferred back to the United States suddenly because of his relations with Miss Schmidt.

She was arrested on a tip from a jealous German boy friend.

Sharing Stored U.S. Surpluses Urged by Group

New York — America's farm surpluses, which now cost the nation $256,000,000 a year in storage bills, could be brought to the free world's hungry peoples at a cost of a nickel a day for each person given full feedings.

If used to add 500 calories a day to the food supplies of the many peoples whose diets are seriously deficient by that amount, the cost would be two cents per person or less.

Those figures are cited in a survey issued by 16 leading U. S. businessmen, members of the National Advisory Committee for CARE, who urge a worldwide "food crusade" to distribute surpluses as a major arm of American diplomacy.

Famine, Surpluses Compared

Entitled "Feast and Famine," the survey contrasts the facts of world hunger against the U. S. government's current holdings of nearly $6,000,000,000 worth of edible surpluses, or 26,000,000 gross tons of foods. The annual storage expense, it notes, is "four times the cost of running our Congress."

Cost estimates for foreign distribution, including processing and shipping, are based on recent CARE experiences. Pilot project for the global crusade, the Committee points out, is CARE's Christmas appeal to Americans to donate $1 to send two packages of surplus food to needy families abroad.

NOTHING IN A NAME

Saratoga Springs, N. Y. — (U.P.) The fortunes of a Fort Plains, N. Y. man aren't quite up to his name. State Police here reported they recovered a stolen car found overturned in a ditch and badly damaged. The vehicle was owned by M. T. Luck of Fort Plain.

Oregon Child Flown 200 Miles for Surgery

Walla Walla — (U.P.) — A 15-month-old child was flown more than 200 miles to Walla Walla Friday night for an operation that succeeded in removing a peanut that had lodged in a lung and seriously hampered his breathing.

Attendants at a hospital here said today James Neal Campbell, Seneca, Ore., was in good condition and resting comfortably following the bronchoscopy, a delicate operation of which a tube and wire clamps are inserted into the lung.

The child swallowed the peanut earlier Friday.

Oregon Chalks Up Fourth Accident Death Since S-D

By UNITED PRESS

Oregon Saturday chalked up its fourth traffic fatality since its deathless Safe Driving day mark on Wednesday.

Two persons died in traffic accidents Friday and two others were killed Thursday. The death of a Tillamook woman in another mishap was believed at least indirectly caused by a traffic accident.

Two Car Crash

Walter Jennings, 65, Oregon City was killed in a two-car collision late Friday two miles south of Oregon City on the Mollalla highway. Bernald Walden, 48, Portland, was killed early Friday when his car skidded on ice near Burlington on the Lower Columbia River highway and struck a tree.

Hazel White, 46, Tillamook, was dead on arrival at a Forest Grove hospital late Friday after she collapsed following a minor traffic accident. The coroner's office said an autopsy would be conducted.

On Thursday, John W. Scott, 40, Roseburg, was killed when his lumber carrier was hit by a train, and John Dunne Keller, 7, Albany, died when struck by a car.

Chicle was once exported to the U.S. as a substitute for rubber.

'Uranium Tunnel' Display Closed by State Injunction

Long Rock, Wis. — (U.P.) — Kenneth Crook's "uranium tunnel" display, which attracted persons seeking cures for ailments, has been closed down by a state injunction.

Milo Ottow, a representative of the Wisconsin attorney general's office, arrived Friday to serve the injunction closing the "tunnel" which Crook had set up in an old drug store.

Follows Court Action

The action resulted from a ruling earlier this month by Circuit Judge A. W. Kopp that Crook, 36, was attempting to treat the sick without the required certificate in the basic sciences.

Kopp agreed with the state's contention that the operation was illegal.

Similar "tunnels" have sprung up throughout the state since Crook packed the walls of the drug store with low grade uranium ore he brought back from Arizona earlier this year. He charged visitors $1 an hour to visit the 16 foot enclosure and sit on benches upholstered with bags containing the ore.

Deny Operation Illegal

Crook and his attorneys denied the operation was illegal on grounds that Crook made no written or spoken claims and never tried to diagnose his clients' ailments. But Kopp said Crook accomplished the same thing by posting articles in his window telling of uranium's effects on the body and testimonials for other "tunnels."
