

ANTONELLI TOP NL PITCHER

New York—(U.P.)—Johnny Antonelli of the Giants became the 12th National Leaguer in history to gain both the earned run-rate and the highest win-loss percentage, the official averages showed today.

Antonelli's 2.29 earned run mark gave him a distinct margin over Lew Burdette of Milwaukee, who was second with a 2.76 average, while the .750 percentage he posted on the basis of his 21-7 record topped the .714 mark turned in by Brooks Lawrence of the Cards.

Antonelli also led the league in shutouts with six.

Roberts Workhorse
As usual, Robin Roberts of the Phillies wound up as the workhorse of the circuit. The rubber-armed right-hander won the most games, 23; made the most starts, 38; pitched the most complete games, 29; pitched the most innings, 337; faced the most batters, 1,331; allowed the most hits, 289; yielded the most homers, 35, and led the league in strikeouts with 185.

Right-hander Ruben Gomez of the Giants gave up the most bases on balls, 109, while Lawrence hit the most batters, eight. Jim Hughes, Brooklyn's relief ace, made the most appearances, 60, and Johnny Hetki of Pittsburgh finished the most games, 46. Murry Dickson of the Phillies lost the most games, 20.

| Eagle Point           | 0  | 1 .000  |

Ed Hummel of the Yellow Cabbies was the league's leading scorer after the first two weeks of play in the Medford Independent Basketball League.

He had a total of 86 points for three games. Hummel scored 41 of them in one contest.

Yellow Cab, tied with Andy's Jewelers for the league lead, had three men among the top four in the circuit and Andy's had two among the top 10.

Second high man in the loop was Dick Knutson of Bureau's of Central Point with 31 in three contests. He was followed by two Cabmen, Don Wendt with 44 and Chuck Stacey with 41. Jack Boardman of Andy's was eighth and LaRue Smith of the Jewelers 10th.

Game Next Week
Only one more league fray is scheduled between now and the first of the year. Skinner's Buick Fireballs will play at Eagle Point on Wednesday, December 29. The slate resumes on January 3.

No action has been taken yet on Hawkinson Tires' protest of its tangle with the Campus Five. The college five won the fracas but the Tiremen maintain that Campus players continued in the game after having committed five fouls. Loop officials have yet to confer with representatives of the two teams together.

Raider Star One of Best Despite Lack of Height

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
Dallas, Tex.—(U.P.)—Carl Ince has been labeled as "one of the nation's best little men" but a lot of Southwest basketball fans think it might be just as well to drop that "little."

Not that the Texas Tech star guard has grown particularly since the United Press named him to the second team "Small America" for men 5-10 and under last season, but they reason—with ample justification—that he's one of the best.

Regardless of a game's outcome, Ince is a good bet to be the most spectacular player. Besides being a tricky dribbler, Ince sports a full repertoire of shots, ranging from a long, two handed set shot to a driving lay-up. And, his left-handed hook from the sideline leaves the fans gasping.

Ince's fancy dribbling played a role second only to his point-making in Texas Tech's 49-48 upset over Oklahoma A and M last week. Ince kept the ball from the desperate Cowboys almost for a full minute in the closing stages. He and Jim Reed led the attack with 14 points each.

Sub Boxers Nab Victory In TV Bout

New York—(U.P.)—Middleweight Paul Pender and welterweight Pete Adams, two substitutes who won upset decisions despite hand handicaps in their first television fights Monday night, were invited back today for TV bouts next month.

Adams of Newark, N.J., whose earlier career was interrupted by the loss of four fingers on his right hand, won a majority 10-round decision over Jimmy Martinez of Phoenix, Ariz., at St. Nicholas arena.

Coincidentally, the winner of each bout went into the ring an underdog at 2-1.

Middleweight Pender accepted the Brooklyn fight as a substitute for ailing Walter Cartier of New York. Rangy, brown-haired, Irish Pender—who had had but one previous bout in three years—displayed surprising speed with his left jabs and hooks and real power with his right, on the few occasions that he risked throwing it. He scaled 160 pounds to Olla's 160½.

Pender, who was released from the Marines on May 15, fractured his right hand while outpointing Larry Villanueva on Aug. 3. Monday night's bout was the first since the injury.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner offered Pender and manager Johnny Buckley a 10-rounder with Paddy Young of New York, ex-middleweight contender at the Parkway on Jan. 17. Buckley said 24-year-old Paul was tentatively dated for a match in Boston on Jan. 6, although the opponent had not been named yet.

Meanwhile at St. Nick's arena, Adams—scaling 153 pounds to Martinez' 155—forced the fighting with a jabbing and hooking attack to head and body. Martinez back-peddled rapidly during the later rounds.

Matchmaker Tex Sullivan asked Adams to meet Dreyer in a TV bout at St. Nick's on Jan. 24 or 31.

Skeeters Paces Turkey Shooters

Dick Skeeters was tops Sunday in the turkey shoot at Medford Gun club. He had seven wins.

Twenty-nine others won one or more turkeys or hams. No shooting is planned on Sunday, December 26. However, skeet and 16-year activity is set for January 2.

Detroit Voted Six Berths On Pro All-Star Grid Crew

New York—(U.P.)—The Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns and the team that held those two powerful clubs to a total of one touchdown—the Philadelphia Eagles—today filled 13 of the 22 positions on the 1954 United Press all-star professional team.

Detroit, which won the Western division title for the third straight year, captured six berths in voting by 29 sportswriters who covered the NFL campaign in the various league cities.

Cleveland placed three men on the mythical two-platoon team after taking the Eastern title and becoming the first NFL team ever to win five straight division crowns.

Four Eagles Named
Philadelphia, described by Coach Paul Brown as the toughest team his Browns played in their title drive, filled four positions.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, who suffered more serious injuries than any other team in 1954, won three berths. The Chicago Bears, Pittsburgh Steelers, Chicago Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Baltimore Colts and New York Giants each placed one man on the first team.

Safetyman Jack Christiansen of Detroit, fullback Joe Perry of San Francisco and linebacker Chuck Bednarik of Philadelphia dominated the balloting. Christiansen received 26 votes. Perry collected 25. Graham Wins Again

Otto Graham of the Browns easily won the quarterback spot for the fourth straight time, receiving 17 votes. Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals and Doak Walker of Detroit, two of the league's most versatile performers, won offensive halfback berths to round out the offensive backfield with Perry.

The first team offensive line was composed of ends Pete Pihos of Philadelphia and Harlan Hill, the Chicago Bears; tackles Lou Groza of Cleveland and Lou Creekmur of Detroit; guards Bruno Banducci of San Francisco and Dick Stanfel of Detroit and center Bill Walsh of Pittsburgh.

The first defensive unit was made up of ends Norm Willey of Philadelphia and Len Ford of Cleveland; tackles Leo Nomellini of San Francisco and Art Donovan of Baltimore; middle guards Les Bingaman of Detroit and Frank Kilroy of Philadelphia; linebackers Bednarik and Roger Zatkoff of Green Bay; halfbacks Jim David of Detroit and Tom Landry of New York; and Christiansen.

Northwest Bid Dropped By Missoula

Wenatchee, Wash.—(U.P.)—Missoula has withdrawn its bid to become a member of the new Northwest Class B Basketball League, Nick Mariana, head of the Montana city's group seeking admission to the league, has informed League President Arthur Pohlman.

Mariana had said earlier Missoula would withdraw its offer unless he received a "yes or no" answer by Sunday. Pohlman said nothing could be done until the League's board of directors meets Jan. 8 to begin officially the new circuit's life.

Pressure Felt
Mariana said the Montana group felt Missoula's offer was being used as a means of pressuring the entry of Tacoma into the new league and that the loop "never really wanted us anyway."

Meanwhile, it was rumored in Tacoma that the city would not join the league because of difficulties of getting a suitable playing park. Wenatchee has a franchise but interests are awaiting the result of a ticket sales campaign before they declare themselves in or out of the league.

The Northwest League replaces the Class A Western International League which folded last season because of poor attendance at several cities. The new loop includes Spokane, Lewiston, Eugene, Tri-City, Salem, Yakima and Wenatchee.

Petroleum reserves in Texas amount to more than 18,000,000 barrels, or 53.1 per cent of the United States total.
