These present day grandmas are really something. I know of a glamorous California grandma who has four daughters and three grandchildren. This grandma is an unusual career woman. She is a riveter in an aircraft plant. She is also quite a speed girl on the highways. Driving an automobile is not exciting enough for her, she rides a motorcycle.

Says O'Kelly
"Permit me to protest against your references to My Name is a Poem Club President Hugh Blue as an Irishman," writes a South Boston subscriber named O'Kelly. Blue is not a true Irishman. Only those who have "Mac" or "O" in the name are rhymed as it:
BY MAC AND O
You'll always know True Irishmen they say, But if they lack the O and Mac No Irishmen are they.

Asking
Queries from clients. Q. Didn't Victor Herbert write the song titled "A Little Love, a Little Kiss"? A. No, sir. It was written by a Paris cafe owner named Nilson Fysher. Q. What type blondes were Helen of Troy and Cleopatra? A. Helen of Troy was a golden blonde. Cleopatra was a brunette who dyed her hair red. Q. Why are wearers of horn-rimmed glasses constantly taking them off and dangling them aimlessly around? Don't they know what to do with their hands? A. Your query baffles me. I don't even know why the horn-rimmed glass wearers are always chewing on the ends of the holders when they take their spectacles off. Maybe they're afraid if they don't do that they will suck their thumbs.

Getting It Right
Where was the first "walk-up" clothing store? Who originated the slogan "Walk Upstairs and Save Ten Dollars"? I think it was Foreman and Clark, Los Angeles. However, a Pittsburgher stoutly claims it was Morry Goldman of his city who operated in the Golden Triangle there, using the business name of "Second Story Morry." That, says he, was in 1915. I believe Foreman and Clark had an upstairs store before that.

So They Say
Young woman of Manhattan, who is somebody's "girl Friday," asks, "how do you handle a boss born under the sign of Libra?" Executives born under Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) have a marked weakness for "omph girl" type secretaries. They engage a girl because of her facial beauty and streamlined figure

Shipments of Wheat Planned in January

Portland — (U.P.) — Walter Johnson, regional director of the Portland Commodity office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has predicted that 6,000,000 bushels of government-owned 1953-crop wheat will leave the country in January.

Most of it will be loaded on ships for Japan, Johnson said. That will leave about 17,000,000 bushels of 1953 wheat still in interior storage in the Pacific Northwest. The USDA also has about 29,000,000 bushels of 1953 wheat stored in ships at Astoria and Olympia, Wash. Johnson reported the ship-stored grain was in good condition with no signs of sprouting.

240 Traffic Deaths Seen Over Week End

Chicago — (U.P.) — The National Safety Council estimated today that 240 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the New Year's holiday this week end.

Horace Heidt Named On Assault Charge

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Band-leader Horace Heidt was accused in a $10,000 battery suit today of assaulting parking lot attendant Billy Lee, 26, without any provocation.

Lee filed suit yesterday in Superior Court, charging the band-leader struck him and injured him last Oct. 21 in the parking lot adjoining the Moulin Rouge night club.

New Year's Eve Celebration Will Cost Between $15-$25 in Swanky Night Clubs

By UNITED PRESS
Merrymakers will have to make their reservations now and come with loaded wallets if they want to cavort at the nation's swankier night spots on New Year's Eve.

The average check for a holiday meal and the traditional paper hats and noise makers will come to between $15 and $25 per person in top hotels and nightclubs across the country, a spot check showed today.

However, these figures will probably be just the starting point for most revellers. Drinks will be extra in most night spots and the price for a bottle of Scotch whiskey ranged as high as $30 at Miami Beach, Fla.

Some night clubs were already sold out and capacity crowds were expected in the swankier spots elsewhere. Minneapolis expected the biggest New Year's Eve business in history, while crowds rivaling last year's were predicted in other cities.

Usual Demonstrations
The usual midnight demonstrations will jam New York's Times Square and Houston's Main street. Football fans attending the Orange and Cotton Bowl games were expected to swell the throngs of demonstrators at Miami and Dallas.

The top set price for an evening's fun-making was reported by Hollywood's Ambassador Cocanut Grove, where a ring-side table costs $35 a head. However, the bill included drinks, food, favors and a floor show.

At Philadelphia the Broadwood hotel said it would serve its patrons all they could drink

Operator Sought for McKinley Park Hotel

Washington — (U.P.) — The National Park Service today asked for bids for operation of the government owned McKinley Park Hotel and related visitor facilities in Mount McKinley National Park, Alaska.

The two-story frame hotel has 54 rooms with bath and 34 rooms without bath, all furnished, and a dining room and cocktail lounge. Facilities include an employees' dormitory, laundry, powerhouse, and a 3000-foot airplane landing field inside the park near the hotel.

The Park Service asked that bids be submitted to the director before Feb. 1.

Travel to Mount McKinley National Park during the last three years has averaged about 7000 persons annually.

Portland — (U.P.) — Grant high school's 84-piece band will leave here early tomorrow for Pasadena, Calif., where it will take part in the annual Tournament of Roses parade Saturday.

of any kind of liquor for a flat $15.

Some of the stiffest prices were listed at Miami Beach, where the night club owners hoped to help 100,000 persons welcome the new year.

The Latin Quarter and the new Fontainebleau hotel will charge $25 per person in exchange for steak and fillet dinners, favors and floor shows. Drinks were extra.

The same prices will prevail at the more expensive spots in New York, although the charge for outlying tables came down to $10 and $15 in some night clubs.

The tab dipped slightly in Washington, where the average charge per person ranged between $8.50 and $12.50.

At Chicago's Chez Paree night club the bill was $15 a person with drinks extra. Most of the top hotels asked between $6 and $12.50 for a dinner, floor show and dancing.

At New Orleans the Roosevelt hotel will charge $22.50 per celebrant and throw in a small bottle of champagne for each two persons.

In San Francisco, where all the "class" night spots were already sold out, the average price was $15 a customer. At Bimbo's this would buy a squab or steak dinner, a cocktail, and a bottle of champagne for each four-some.
