Locusts Cause Heavy Births

Casablanca, North Africa—(U.P.) Clouds of locusts winged northward over Morocco today, devouring everything green in their path.

Casablanca authorities estimated that the flight of the locusts from the southern desert already had caused millions of dollars worth of damages.

Farmers appealed to the government to declare a state of "national disaster" which would enable them to recover part of their losses in francs. Some of the colonists predicted it will be years before their harvests are normal again.
