

Partisan Politics Beginning To Make Appearance Around Capital

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Correspondent

Washington—(U.P.)—Bitter political partisanship is beginning to crackle like storm lightning around the Capitol dome, and this harmony session of the new 84th Congress is not yet a week old.

It has been limited, so far, mostly to angry protests by Lyle C. Wilson Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.) and other Democrats against recent Republican campaign tactics. They specifically complain of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and of President Eisenhower's endorsement of Nixon's campaign efforts.

But there is more to come. Some of it will be within the Republican party, too, because Mr. Eisenhower took the ball around the left end of the Republican line when he addressed the joint session of Congress Thursday. Half a dozen Democrats remarked on that, although it is not their intention to permit a Republican President to get much if any credit for policies which they claim as their own.

Compared to New Deal "It was a good Truman-Roosevelt speech," said Rep. James W. Trimble (D-Ark.).

"The President announced today that he is a candidate for reelection," said Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.). "It sounded like he is a candidate on both tickets."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said: "He was adopting most of the features of the New Deal—and we're for that."

"New Dealish," said House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.).

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) put his finger on an aspect of the message which will cause political strife—money and the budget. Said Russell:

"I was impressed by the overall similarity of this message and those delivered by his two predecessors (Presidents Roosevelt and Truman). These new services which he proposes, though highly desirable, would cost a great deal of money. In sum, they would postpone the day when we could have a balanced budget."

Will Chill Right Wing
Such a message cannot fail to chill right wing Republicans, however piously they may comment on it at the moment of delivery. And it is a fact that the right wing has top Republican position in the 84th Congress. House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) was unhappy in the last Congress and probably will be more so in this one by reason of several of Mr. Eisenhower's policies.

On the Senate side, the top Republicans are Sen. Styles Bridges (N.H.) chairman of the Policy committee; Sen. William F. Knowland (Calif.) minority leader; Sen. Eugene Millikin (Colo.) chairman of the Republican conference, and Sen. John W. Bricker (Ohio) chairman of the Committee on Committees. These all are more or less on the conservative side. Only Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) party whip, is a 100 per cent Ike man.

The hard political fact, however, is that the Democrats, led by Speaker Rayburn have less than two years in which to cut Mr. Eisenhower down to size. These Democratic comments on his message were calculated to begin that process. Regardless of the way in which political pundits may view it, the Democrats will assume that Mr. Eisenhower will be a candidate for reelection.

Fear Ike's Popularity
Many, perhaps most, Democrats will agree that Mr. Eisenhower is a popular man today and is likely to be the best available Republican vote getter in 1956. Everything adds up to a political necessity for the Democrats to cuff the political glamor off the President if they can before the polls open one year from next November.

This will be a good political trick if the Democrats can perform it. They have their troubles and the left of center message Mr. Eisenhower sent to Congress Thursday is one of them. How to cut the President down to size without knocking down much of his domestic program which many of them regard as their own is one for the Democrats to figure out. Perhaps the President has put them as well as conservative Republicans on a spot.

However it may work out, none of this adds up to much harmony at this session. Like Mark Twain's weather more people are likely to talk about harmony than are likely to do anything about it.

Red Cross Announces Manville Heisel as Director of Campaign

Manville Heisel has been named chairman of the Red Cross fund drive to be conducted in March in the area not served by the United Medford Crusade, it was announced at a meeting of the Red Cross chapter's board of directors yesterday.

Heisel, an attorney, said he had much assistance from the Red Cross during his military service in World War II, and feels that by working in the fund drive he would be partially fulfilling his obligation to the organization.

New Committee
A newly-formed publicity committee, under the chairmanship of Seth Bullis, will assist in the fund drive, it was announced. Bullis said capable people have been appointed to the group, with members living in different sections of the county. Their job is to represent the Red Cross in their own areas, to carry out good public relations activities, and in general to aid in a better understanding of Red Cross work.

Mrs. Anita Burba, chairman of the blood program, reported that the bloodmobile visit in December was successful. Quotas were fulfilled, she said, and she gave special recognition to Rogue River where 101 pints were obtained. Next bloodmobile visit to the valley will be Feb. 8 and 9, with one day in Medford and one in Ashland.

Leroy Williams, first aid chairman, reported that a first aid class in Shady Cove is progressing satisfactorily, and will be completed next week. When enough people are qualified, a highway first aid station will be established there, he said.

Williams said that Murray Brooks, director of first aid for Oregon, will visit here next month to conduct a class for first aid instructors.

Mrs. Helen Wilson, executive secretary of the chapter, announced the appointment of Mrs. Helen Florey to head the home nursing program. She said this is one of the most important phases of Red Cross work.

The resignation of Mrs. James Shaw as director of the Junior Red Cross was accepted with regret.

Pinkham Appointed City's Coordinator at Central Point

Central Point — Arden Pinkham, Central Point city recorder for two terms had the scope of his duties enlarged this week by the city council. He was named coordinator of city affairs, a newly-created position.

Details of the new setup will have to be ironed out later, but it is planned to have a part-time clerk-stenographer work in the recorder's office while Pinkham is doing outside work part of the day, including street and water supervision.

Arthur Rupp, former street and water superintendent, has resigned from his position to enter private employment.

Long Service
Pinkham, elected to another two-year term last November as recorder, has served in the position from September, 1947 to November, 1950 and from December, 1951 to the present. For 13 months between terms, he was in escrow work in Medford. Prior to that, he was Central Point police chief January, 1941 to September, 1947, except for 27 months in the military service. He also serves as recorder judge in city court.

This week, the Midway Water district completed its transaction with the city for use of about two miles of Central Point's trunk water main from Medford along the old Central Point-Medford highway. A check for $6,000 was presented by the district for the cash consideration in the deal. Also, the district has moved the city's pressure-reducing valve to the city limits and flow meter to a point on the line near Gilman's dairy where the district's use ends. The district uses the line from that point back to the airport junction of the highway and Table Rock rd.

Officers Sworn In
At the council meeting this week, new officers were sworn in. Included were Mayor Donald Faber and Councilmen E. R. Yocum, M. C. Gleason, and Harry Tonn.

Faber commended the work of the old council and expressed the hope that the new council would work together for the betterment of the city. In planning future work, Faber asked the council to study the city charter and consider modernization.

Councilman Roy Kelly was re-elected president of the city council. Committee chairmen appointments by Faber were Les Bigham, streets; Tonn, parks and buildings; Robert Padgett, sewer and water; Kelly, finance and ordinances; Gleason, police, and Yocum, fire and lights. Appointments to the planning commission, building board of appeals, civil defense director and health officer will be made later.

Others Named
Administrative appointments made were Pinkham in the new coordinator's position, Oran Chastain, police and fire chief, and B. Kent Blackhurst, city attorney.

A $1,575 bid by Leo Ghelardi for purchase of the old library building on Pine st. was accepted by the council. There were no other bidders on the property. The present building will be removed.

Eight ordinances were adopted by the council for assessments on street and sidewalk improvement work last summer.

OK BY FOA—Wolf Ladejinsky shows his pleasure at Foreign Operation Administration headquarters in Washington where he was appointed to help with FOA's reform program in Viet Nam, Indo-China. Ladejinsky was recently fired by the Agriculture Department on "security" and "technical" grounds.

Chamber Committee Chairmen Appointed; Directors in Session

New committee chairmen for the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce have been announced by John Pletsch, president.

They are: Aviation, E. L. Bartholomew; budget and finance, Russel Brown; greeters, Jennings Pierce; highways, Chet Hubbard; retail merchants, Howard Boyd; roundtable, Vic Milnes; farm committee, Ray Johnson; lease and building, Dwight Houghton, and legislative, Frank J. Van Dyke.

Pletsch pointed out that the work of the legislative committee will be particularly important this year, since both the state legislature and congress are in session, and many important issues are due to be considered. Chamber members wishing to serve on the legislative committee were urged to get in touch with Van Dyke or with the chamber office.

At a meeting of the chamber board at noon yesterday, a request from the Spring Pear Blossom festival group for office assistance by the chamber was granted conditionally, with the understanding that festival business would not be handled if it would impede chamber business.

The directors voted to refer to a special committee a request for $500 to help finance a state-wide study of the feasibility and desirability of having a state centennial celebration in 1959.

A proposal that the chambers of Klamath Falls, Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass and Cave Junction conduct a workshop here Jan. 30 was discussed, but the board members decided to postpone the date of the gathering, and will consider the proposal later.

Copies of the Stanford Research Institute report on the proposed new hospital here are available at the chamber office, it was reported, but because of the limited supply, will be made available on a loan basis.

Road Needs Discussed
There was considerable discussion of two road matters, the first involving a resolution directed to the State Highway Commission that the Diamond lake road be kept open throughout the year, and the other concerned with the need for a timcluded was one block of street paving and curbs and gutters, as well as other curb and gutter work and sidewalks.

The council adjourned until Jan. 20 when it will consider, among other things, gasoline bids for city vehicles.

India Editor Covering Peiping Talks; Note Thought Presented

Editor's note: The State Department refused a United Press request that it lift passport restrictions against travel to Red China to permit a U.P. man to go to Peiping to cover secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold's conference with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai. The Times of India, Bombay, however, agreed to send its resident editor in New Delhi to Peiping to cover the conference on special assignment from United Press. His dispatch follows.

Peiping — (U.P.) — Peiping's freezing 12-degree below zero weather showed no signs of thawing over the American "spies" issue today as the momentous talks between U. N. Secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold and Premier Chou En-Lai got going.

Hammarskjold met Chou today and is believed to have presented formally to Chou a U.N. message urging the release of 13 Americans convicted of spying in Chinese territory.

U. N. dispatches have indicated that Hammarskjold's emphasis will be on 11 imprisoned American airmen who were captured while in uniform after being shot down in far Northwest Korea during the Korean war. It has been indicated that the case of two civilians also held by the Communists is being considered separately.

It is presumed the Chinese Premier reiterated Peiping's stand that the case was China's internal matter and that they had clear evidence of the accused's spying activity.

Hammarskjold and Chou were closeted more than three hours today.

Chinese Leaders Disappointed
The secretary general's preference to stay with the Swedish ambassador, declining the Chinese government's invitation to be its guest, has greatly disappointed Chinese leaders here. It left a bad taste in the mouth initially, which is considered unfortunate at the outset of important conversations requiring the fullest good will and understanding.

Nevertheless, Hammarskjold got a cordial reception which was evident at the cocktail party and dinner last night.

While as yet Peiping does not appear in a mood to relent over the American spies question, there is little doubt that Chinese leaders are putting much store in the secretary general's visit to their capital as a way of relaxing world tension and narrowing the gulf between the countries of East and West.

LAUGH AFFECTS PHONES
Slagelse, Denmark — (U.P.) — Telephone company officials warned a woman to stop laughing over the phone because her giggling breaks connections on lines that can carry 48 conversations simultaneously.

FLOWERY DUMP
Mansfield, O. — (U.P.) — Next year this city may have one of the fanciest garbage dumps in the country. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Swank claim that garbage collectors made off with a basket filled with assorted flower bulbs, and Mayor Robert S. Lemley ordered an immediate search of the dump. Some were recovered, but the Swanks said most of them are still missing.

MOTHER & SONS, INC.
Memphis, Tenn. — (U.P.) — Lots of mothers feel left out because they can't do things with their sons, but not Mrs. Frances Crain. She wanted to share in the things her sons, Mike, 12 and Desi, 11, enjoyed, so she set up a wood workshop at home. Mother and sons now spend hours on end making everything from tie racks to bedsteads.

Both will be brought up again for action at the next board meeting Jan. 20, after committee consideration.

Lumbermen in Klamath and Douglas counties are working hard for access to the same area, it was pointed out, and that if the lumber in the area is to be processed in Jackson county, better access will be needed. While the cost of such a road would be high, an estimated $300,000, the value of the processed timber would amount to some $2,000,000 annually, one lumberman told the board.

Kiss me, though you make believe, Kiss me, though I almost know You are kissing to deceive, Whisper to me sweet and low Tell me how you get and weave Dreams about me, though I know, It is only make believe.

Ava Gardner was born on Christmas Eve. No sooner has she opened her birthday presents than she starts to look over her Christmas gifts. I knew a woman who was born on December 25 and married on the same date. Christmas for her is a triple celebration. She gets three distinct sets of gifts, birthday, Christmas and wedding anniversary.

Horses and Women
Measurements of average American female are height, 5 feet 3; weight, 133; bust, 35½; waist, 29, and hips, 38. That 29 inch waist and 38 inch hips show why the corset and girdle business is so good in this country. For a properly streamlined figure, a woman should have a 24 inch waist and 35 inch hips.

Asking
Queries from clients. Q. Is the Ward Eight cocktail named after a political subdivision of New York or Boston? A. The potent concoction you refer to is named in honor of Ward Eight, Boston. Was originated in Locke Ober's restaurant in that city. Q. Do you think the influence of television should be viewed with alarm? A. I didn't think so until the other day. I saw a young fellow with his hair cut and arranged like that of Liberace.

Maternal Ages
How old was your mother at the time of your birth? The record reveal that the youngest mothers produce the longest lived children. So, if your mother was 21 or younger when you were born, your chances of living to a ripe, old age are good. You may even live long enough to see the Dodgers win a World Series. As usual, I don't get any break from the experts. My mother was 31 when I was born.

Sidelights
Tokyo has several race courses where pari-mutuel wagering is featured. Japanese professional touts or tipsters refer to themselves as "race horse researchers" . . . Youngest enlisted man in the history of the United States Army was John Clem, "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh." He was a drummer at 10 and a sergeant at 12. If there has ever been a film based on Clem's life, I missed it.

Get It Right
Note "Babe" Ruth referred to as "the greatest hitter in Major League baseball history." Nonsense! Cobb was baseball's greatest batter. I would rate the great hitters as follows: 1, Cobb, 2, Hans Wagner, 3, Larry Lajoie, 4, Rogers Hornsby, 5, Babe Ruth. Incidentally, Ruth faced Grover Cleveland Alexander sixteen times in World Series games and got only one hit! Grover really had the Babe's number.
