

March of Dimes Head Calls Attention To Lag in Fund Drive

"The March of Dimes faces a challenge six times greater today than it did in 1938 when the organization was founded," Bob Smith, Jackson county chairman, said yesterday in urging county citizens to step up the pace in the drive for funds to aid the fight against infantile paralysis.

"We are lagging behind the same period of a year ago as far as collections are concerned," Smith said. He pointed out 1954 was the seventh consecutive year of high polio incidence in the United States and the third highest in the nation's history. Nearly 40,000 new cases were reported last year and foundation leaders estimate a minimum 24,000 new victims will be stricken in the year ahead.

Brightened by Vaccine
"This disheartening report is brightened by progress noted on the Salk vaccine," Smith pointed out. He said the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis feels it is on the threshold of stamping out polio but more money is needed if the important work is to continue.

Even if the vaccine is successful and is made available within the next year, there are 74,000 patients who were stricken in other years and who are looking toward the Foundation for care, the chairman said.

In Jackson county alone 29 patients received March of Dimes assistance last year, amounting to about $8,000.

Soil Conservation District Sets Meeting

Rogue Soil Conservation district will hold its annual session on Thursday, Jan. 13, at Central Point Grange hall. The meeting will open at 8 p.m.

The past year will be reviewed and the future program of the district outlined. Movies will be provided for youngsters and refreshments will be served.

All persons in the southern half of Jackson county are in the district and are invited.

Insurance Agents Install Cole Holmes

R. A. (Cole) Holmes was installed president of the Medford Professional Insurance Agents association Thursday at a luncheon meeting at the Jackson hotel. Victor Sether was installed vice-president; Lou Grantson, secretary-treasurer, and Gordon McKenzie and E. L. Bartholomew to the executive board. Bartholomew is retiring association president.

Results of SD day were discussed. The association cooperated in sponsoring the safe driving day locally. The traffic accident record of the country was also considered.

Likelihood of Major Depression Discounted by SOC Professor

Likelihood of a major depression, approaching the one which followed the 1929 stock market crash, was discounted here Thursday evening by Dr. Marshall Woodell, of Southern Oregon college.

Speaking at a meeting of the county Democratic Central committee, Dr. Woodell said he could see only two possible causes for a major depression in the United States.

He listed these as a military defeat on the battlefield, or a diplomatic defeat in world affairs.

Dr. Woodell cited safeguards against depression which he said were set up under the "New Deal administration." These, he said, include the 1946 Employment act set up during the Truman administration to require an annual report on the nation's economic condition, and creation of a joint congressional committee to study and report on economic trends; and expansion of research bureaus to make frequent economic sounding and report danger signs.

This expansion acts to check the "ground swells" which lead to a major depression, Dr. Woodell said. He noted that the plan is operating under the Eisenhower administration.

Proven Remedies
There are several "proven remedies" for a major depression, the speaker said. He listed them as control of market manipulations, bank deposit insurance, wage reductions when costs outstrip profits, shorter working hours and more leisure time, control of money and credit, unemployment insurance, old age pensions and insurance, free educational facilities, high minimum wages, agricultural price supports, and resource development.

"Government planning is here to stay, no matter which party is in power," Dr. Woodell said.

"The majority of the American people are determined to maintain the high standard of living they have achieved over the years."

The Central committee meeting was held at the Medford Labor temple.
