Magazine Crews Operating in City; None Are Local

At least three out-of-state magazine subscription crews were operating in Medford this week, according to Don McNeil, manager of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. As far as he knows, he said, there are no local groups or organizations sponsoring any current magazine sales campaign.

McNeil said reports have come to him that some of the itinerant magazine salesmen represent themselves as Korean war veterans, which may or may not be true, but use the fact as an "opening wedge" for discussion, when it has no application to the transaction they are seeking.

This technique is not approved as an "opener" by the Central Registry, an organization of all magazine sales companies.

Also, McNeil said, many of them try to give the impression, without actually saying so, that they are local people. This is skirting very close to misrepresentation, the chamber manager said.

Makes Suggestions
He made two suggestions to residents who are called upon by magazine sales people.

1. If there is any question about them, telephone the chamber, 2-6293, to see if they are registered, and

2. Remember that it is just as cheap to subscribe to magazines directly, or through an authorized local agent, as it is to give business to an itinerant crew member.

Reputable magazine sales companies make a point of registering both with the chamber and the city police department, McNeil said.

Dairy Group Asked To OK Minimum Price

Bend — (U.P.) — The Oregon Dairymen's association was asked last night to approve in principle a proposed legislative bill to establish a minimum price limit for grade A milk at the farm level.

The motion was submitted by Harry Lane of Sherwood, a member of the A grade Producers Association. It was placed in the hands of the dairy association's legislative committee. Lane said the proposed law would be administered by a governor's appointee under established orders.

Voters threw out milk control at the November election.

Decent Life Urged For Navy Personnel

Portland — (U.P.) — A man in the Navy deserves decent pay, privilege of family life and the chance of "maintaining his prestige in the community in which he lives," a top Navy official said here yesterday.

Albert Pratt, assistant secretary of the Navy, said "we must recognize that the Navy man of today is no different than his civilian counterpart and make every effort to provide for him the best kind of family life we possibly can."

Pratt last night presented the Nimitz trophy to the Portland Navy submarine reserve division 13-7 for being the outstanding unit of its type in the nation last year.
