On The Side

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

As the flight of a river that flows to the sea. My soul rushes ever in tumult to thee. A twofold existence I am where thou art. My heart in the distance beats close to thy heart. All that I care for, all that I know, is that without wherefore, I love thee so. —Lytton.

How are you on Civil War history?

You know, of course, the Monitor defeated the Merrimac at Hampton Roads, Va., in 1862. But did you know the Monitor was built in Brooklyn? Good old Brooklyn...

Shopper

Every time I have seen the Duchess of Windsor she has been going into or coming out of a shop. She is probably the world's champion shopper. It is said that during the month before her wedding to the Duke, she bought 107 dresses and forty-six hats in Paris.

Horses And Women

Geriatrics is the science of old age. Geriatricians try to figure out ways and means of enabling people to live to a healthy old age. One specialist in geriatrics says doing housework thoroughly and conscientiously will aid a woman in living longer. Call this to the attention of your wife, the next time she refers to her housework as a fatiguing task. Tell her she is lucky not to have a maid to do the work as that would shorten her life.

Asking

Queries from clients. Q—Were the O'Connors kings in Ireland? A—The last king of Ireland was Roderick O'Connor. The O'Connors and the O'Connors are of the same family. Q—I claim Shakespeare was the father of twins. Right? A—Quite right, sir. Shakespeare married when he was 18. At 19 he became a father for the first time. At 20 he was the father of twins. Q—What is the correct way to pronounce the name of the great ballplayer, Napoleon Jajoie? A—Laz-way. Q—Who is the patron saint of policemen? A—St. Michael.

Widows

Widows left with three or more small children to support usually find it difficult to interest a man in matrimony. Widowers with three or more motherless children also have trouble in finding a matrimonial mate willing to become a stepmother to a group of youngsters. So, widows with small children should look around for widowers with a flock of kiddies. Consider the case of Henry Dorling of Epsom, England, who was left a widower with four small children. He married Mrs. Isabella Mayson, a widow with four young offspring. After Dorling and the charming widow Mayson married, they had thirteen children of their own! That made twenty-one children in all! Passing By.

Dinah Shore. Vicarious, versatile and vibrant vocalist. Her real name is Fanny Shore. She changed her first name to Dinah at the suggestion of Martin Block, the distinguished disc jockey. However, when Dinah goes to visit her old home in Winchester, Tenn., the neighbors still call her Fanny.

Sidelights

It was Douglas Jerrold who said, "Women are all alike."

By E. V. Durling

When they are single they're mild as milk; once make them wives, they lean their backs against their marriage certificates and defy you" . . . Dorothy Lamour, now about 39, has the same measurements she had sixteen years ago. They are, weight, 120; height, 5 feet 5; bust 37; waist, 24; and hips, 37.

Modern Industry

Creating Words in English Language

Boston — (U.P.)—Workers in Boston's employment security office sometimes wonder what the English—or is it the American?—language is coming to.

Modern industry, it seems, has an ever-increasing number of peculiar terms to describe various jobs, and these frequently throw the office for a loss.

For example, a placement expert might pick up the phone and hear a voice asking for a slubber-doffer right away.

"A what?" the expert asks. "A slubber-doffer. And while you're at it, you might send along a pay cheater."

Thomas Mersandante, the employment security manager, has kept abreast of most of industry's colloquialisms, but sometimes even he draws a blank.

Interpretation

Employers report openings for screen apes, nose crimpers, pickling and passivating men, batboys, knockout men, back-breakers, crumb packers, snow men and raisin washers. What do they mean?

Well, according to Mersandante, a screen ape shakes water from particles of raw synthetic rubber on mechanically agitated machines.

A nose crimper places containers over the ends of metal aircraft lights. A pickling and passivating man coats metal parts with a protection film to prevent corroding.

A knockout man fires metal castings from inverted molds and a backbreaker removes surface crust from aluminum reduction pots. A batboy removes the felt from machine spindles.

A snow man chops ice and heavy frost from refrigeration pipes, and a crumb packer is actually an expert who can fill holes evenly. A pay cheater is a timekeeper and a slubber-doffer splices broken yarn.

A raisin washer? "That's easy," Mersandante said. "He washes raisins."

State Sticks by Convicts Accused of Setting Fire

Sacramento, Calif. — (U.P.) — The California state board of control has finally decided to pay half the cost of putting out a fire in the Los Angeles National Forest.

The federal government had billed the state for the entire cost, claiming the fire was started by state convicts, but the state department of connections wouldn't have any part of the charge. The federal government said the convicts started the fire while distilling liquor at a state prison forestry camp.
