Pall bearers will be Wesley McDonough, Robert Cook, Fitch Snyder, William Hittle, William Ferguson and Clyde Walker, all of Gold Hill.

The deceased was born Aug. 11, 1862, in McDonald county, Missouri, the daughter of the late Pleasant and Sara Smith. She came with her parents from Missouri by wagon train, of which her father was captain, in 1873, living in the Willamette valley for two years, and then coming to the Rogue River valley. On Dec. 30, 1883, in Jacksonville, she was married to John L. Rowe, who died in 1939.
Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lucy Edgington and Mrs. Ethel Edgington, Gold Hill; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Herb Hays Confirmed In Ashland Police Job

Ashland—Herb Hays, 31, acting police chief here since last fall, was named chief at a city council meeting this week.
The council voted unanimously to approve Hays' recommendation by Mayor Richard Neill.
The action concluded several months of uncertainty about the job, following the resignation of former chief Vern Smith after voters in November refused to sanction a charter change which would have allowed Smith to continue living outside the city limits.
Hays, then assistant chief, was named temporarily to the job. Applications from him and two others were submitted to the council for the post, and earlier this month the council voted to reject a recommendation by Mayor Neill that former deputy sheriff DeArmond Leigh be appointed.

Cities and County Will Receive OLCC Licensing Receipts

Cities in Jackson county, and the county itself, will receive a total of $12,732.20 from the State Liquor Control commission this month, representing their share of income resulting from 1954 licensing operations.
Medford will receive the largest share, $5,518.30, and the county is next with $4,217.34. Other amounts include Ashland, $1,132.95; Butte Falls, $104.82; Central Point, $255.88; Eagle Point, $34.69; Gold Hill, $538.42; Jacksonville, $290.56; Phoenix, $201.93; Rogue River, $312.91; and Talent, $126.40.
The amount received by the commission totaled $601,665.50, with 60 per cent of this, or $360,993.90, being distributed to cities and counties. The other 40 per cent will go to the state general fund.
Dollar Volume Up
The commission also reported that Oregonians spent $6,016,358 during December for 117,135 cases of whiskey and other distilled spirits, the greatest dollar volume in any month in history. More spirits, though at lower prices, were sold in December of 1946, when 121,802 cases were sold.
Sales from July 1 through Dec. 31, 1954, totaled $23,703,391, compared with $24,159,288 during the same months in 1953, a decrease of 1.9 per cent. Actual volume of sales also was down 1.3 per cent.
Most popular brands continue to be whiskey blended with neutral spirits, straight whiskey, vodka, bonded whiskey, scotch whiskey and gin, in that order.

Globetrotters' '55 Varieties Furnish Entertaining Show

The Harlem Globetrotters "Varieties of 1955," furnished Medford 2½ hours of good entertainment last night, reminiscent of vaudeville days.
The show, sponsored here by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, drew a fair sized and enthusiastic audience. The varieties is produced by Abe Saperstein, who also produces the Harlem Globetrotters basketball tours.
"Fatha" Hines and his orchestra, on stage throughout the show, furnished accompaniment for the acts and their own show of rhythm music, featuring Hines at the piano.
All the acts were "good entertainment," and drawing most audience approval were the Tong Brothers, who did some incredible balancing; Miss Hadda Brooks, "sepia song stylist" and pianist; and the Ramona Brothers, who did a combination of comic acrobatics, dancing and satire. King and Zerita baffled the audience with their mentalist tricks.
Jacques Cordon, billed as a unicyclist, also lent to the comic atmosphere, and Tony Ponce, in the United States only four weeks, sang an operatic aria and a well-known American wedding song. Mason and Anderson, who did a tap shoe and a comic routine; Cissie Rose, who sang; Tony Lavelli, accordionist, Coates and Dolores, completed the show.—F.B.
