Anguished Cries Raised Over Rule to Cut Catcher's Box

By CARL LUNDQUIST, United Press Sports Writer. New York — (U.P.) — Catchers Yogi Berra, Roy Campanella and Wes Westrum joined in a chorus of anguish today about baseball's latest rule changes and asked, "What about pitchers?" The three veteran backstops were referring to the new rule announced Monday which cut the size of the catcher's box from a roomy eight feet to a skinny 43 inches and ordered the catcher to stay in that spot until the pitcher releases the ball.

Berra, the not-so-dumb New York Yankee receiver who was voted the American league's "Most Valuable Player" last season, summed it up at his home in Park Ridge, N.J. "I want the umpires to explain to me how we can call for a pitchout and still stay in that narrow box without the ball flying past you. "I guess it can be done all right," conceded Yogi, "if we can move when the pitcher lets go of the ball. But I still want them to tell us what we can do and what we can't do. After all, you have to call for a pitchout once in a while."

"Look," said the mustachioed Campanella from behind the counter of his liquor store in Harlem. "You call for a pitchout because you're gonna try to surprise the base runner. Nobody knows you're callin' for it except the pitcher. "Well, that could be quite a surprise to the umpire, too," observed Roy. "It's just one more thing he'll have to watch for."

Roy shook his head. "Man," he said, "is that gonna cause some arguments." The soft-spoken Westrum, at his home in Hyde Park, N.Y., said he thinks the new rule is going to be just as tough on pitchers as it will be on catchers. "On intentional passes the pitcher will have no target for throwing the ball," pointed out the New York Giants' canny veteran. "Some of those outside ones could get away from the catcher for wild pitches. The catcher will have to be a lot more agile."

All three men agreed the new rule will make a lot more work for catchers. "This is just one more thing we're gonna have to practice," grumbled Campanella. "We've gotta judge just when to go out. We have to work on the timing to know just when we can move. I don't think the rule will have any effect on a catcher's ability because you can learn things like that. But it is just one more extra thing to think about."

Giardello Faces Andrews Tonight. Norfolk, Va. — (U.P.) — What have the cops, surgeons and boxing officials done to Joey Giardello, stormy petrel of the ring? Philadelphia Joey will provide the answer tonight in his nationally televised make-or-break fight with speedy Al Andrews at the Norfolk City auditorium. If the No. 1 contender wins impressively over Andrews of Superior, Wis., he can clinch a shot at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown in late March at the Chicago stadium. But if he loses, he can blame a knee operation, two embolisms with Philadelphia police and a ruckus with the Pennsylvania Boxing commission. This is his first ring appearance since he ran the gamut of a madcap's misfortunes.

Palo Alto, Calif. — (U.P.) — George Shaw, star quarterback for the University of Oregon, was presented the Glenn S. (Pop) Warner Memorial award last night as the "most valuable senior college football player on the Pacific coast."

The presentation was made at the ninth annual Palo Alto club "Million Dollar Banquet" here. The award, which in past years was given by the late Pop Warner, was presented by Ernie Nevers, Stanford's all-time All-America and one of Warner's greatest players. "I know Pop would have been pleased with the selection... you deserve it in every respect," Nevers said to Shaw, who was the nation's leading tribute player in 1954.

In accepting the award, Shaw paid tribute to the Oregon team "for making it possible" for him to receive the honor, and to Oregon Coach Len Casanova, who was on hand for the presentation. Past winners include: Eddie LeBaron, College of Pacific, 1949; Russ Pomeroy, Stanford, 1950; Ollie Matson, University of San Francisco, 1951; Jim Sears, USC, 1952; and Bobby Garrett, Stanford, 1953.

More than 500 sports fans were on hand for the colorful presentation, including such well-known persons as Ty Cobb, Buck Shaw, Eddie Joost, Frank Albert, Hugh McElhenry, Leo Harris, Claire Goodwin, Chuck Taylor and Lynn Waldorf.

Brion Suffers First Knockout. Miami Beach, Fla. — (U.P.) — Cesar Brion, who fought Joe Louis twice, Ezzard Charles once, and many other famed heavyweight boxers, was kayoed Tuesday night for the first time in his career — by Johnny Holman of Chicago. Brion's record came to an end at 2:27 of the fourth round of the scheduled 10-round bout when Referee Jimmy Perless called a halt with Brion stretched face down on the floor. Holman weighed 204½ pounds to 203 for Brion of Argentina.

Commissioner Clarifies Big Ten Video Stand. Chicago — (U.P.) — The Big Ten merely anticipated legislative action to force more football television up on the colleges when it proposed regional television to the National Collegiate Athletic association, Commissioner Kenneth L. Wilson said today. His statement, answered a charge by Athletic Director Harve Chrouser of Wheaton college that the Big Ten action was designed to cause legislative action to force television for financial gain for the Big Ten. The Wilson - Chrouser exchange came as the NCAA television committee began the last day of a two-day organizational meeting here at which it expected to complete organization and begin discussion of the football TV plan for next fall. "We did not solicit but anticipated legislative interest in a liberalized television program," Wilson said, "and we will resist legislative action which would force unrestricted television."

Joe DiMaggio Has No. 1 Ranking as Candidate For Hallowed Fame Hall. New York — (U.P.) — Joe DiMaggio, as usual, was the No. 1 candidate for election to baseball's Hall of Fame today, but as usual there was no guarantee he'd get in. He didn't miss being elected by much in the voting by members of the Baseball Writers' association last January so it was almost a foregone conclusion he would be formally installed in the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., after the ballots were counted today. Three-Fourths Vote. Upwards of 250 balloters have been cast and a player's name must appear on three-quarters of them to be elected. Each writer is permitted to vote for 10 players who have been active within the last 25 years.

DiMaggio, who closed his brilliant career with the Yankees after the 1951 season, missed being elected by only 14 votes last year, polling 175 out of a possible 252 votes. The former Yankee slugger wound up fourth in the 1954 voting, trailing Bill Terry, Bill Dickey and the late Rabbit Maranville, all of whom were elected.

TV MIXUP. Manchester, N.H. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Walter Luby arrived home from work one evening and found a television set on her porch. Eugene — (U.P.) — Coach Bill Borchers of the University of Oregon praised reserve forward Ed Bingham today for his work against Oregon State last Saturday night and indicated the Medford ace would see considerable action against Brigham Young here this weekend. Cincinnati Seeks 14th

By UNITED PRESS. Cincinnati shoots for win No. 14 in 17 starts and the Oklahoma Aggies and Auburn try to improve their conference standings in the feature games of tonight's slim college basketball program. Cincinnati, flirting with a spot in the national rankings but presently just outside the top 20 is heavily favored in the home game against Ball State. The Southeastern seventh in the South-eastern conference, who have beaten such outfits as Bradley, Indiana, Western Kentucky, Mississippi, and Dayton, have won their last four games. The Oklahoma Aggies, who meet Houston tonight, have won or shared the Missouri Valley conference title in 14 of the last 19 seasons but this year they're figured as outside hopes for the crown. A win tonight would make their league record 2-1 and put them in third place behind Tulsa and St. Louis, both unbeaten in league play.

Auburn, now seventh in the Southeastern conference, will have to beat Georgia Tech to keep from losing that spot to the Engineers. Auburn was the last major college team to remain unbeaten, winning its first seven games, but now has lost two straight. Georgia Tech has won only one of five starts since its astonishing upset of Kentucky.

Light Heavy Listing Led By Andrews

New York — (U.P.) — Paul Andrews of Buffalo, N.Y., was booster into position to negotiate for a light heavyweight title fight today by the Ring magazine's latest ratings. Andrews, 24-year-old protege of Joe Louis, was lifted from fifth to second place among 175-pound contenders because of his upset knockout over Boardwalk Billy Smith.

Smith of Atlanta City was the top contender when Andrews stopped him in the sixth round at Miami on Dec. 29 and snapped Billy's winning streak at eight straight. The defeat dropped Smith to fifth rung. Now, only ex-champion Joey Maxim of Cleveland is ranked above Andrews; but Maxim already has engaged champion Archie Moore in three title fights and lost three decisions. Andrews is in an enviable position for negotiating a title fight.

Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and young Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn remained in their third and fourth berths, respectively. Layne Tipped. In the heavyweight division, Rex Layne of Salt Lake City, Utah, was boosted from ninth to seventh; and Charley Norkus of Jersey City was lifted one notch to ninth. But Jimmy Slade of New York was dropped from seventh to 10th. Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. rose from sixth to fourth among welterweight contenders because of his victory over Al Andrews.

Among lightweights, Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland jumped from 10th to sixth because of his draw with fifth-ranking Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati, Cisco Andrade of Compton, Calif., beaten by third-place Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, dropped from eighth to ninth. Raton Macias of Mexico replaced the retired Jimmy Carruthers of Australia as top bantamweight contender, and Mario D'Agata of Italy moved up to second place. The Ring magazine continued to recognize Robert Cohen of France as world champion although the National Boxing Association recently vacated his crown for failure to defend against Macias.

Policemen, Firemen Set For MOD Tilt

Police really are not wishing anybody any bad luck, not even the firemen, but they can't overlook how a general fire alarm could help them out this evening. The flatfoot oppose the firemen in the first game of a March of Dimes basketball program to-night. Action is at the senior high school. A general alarm would summon all hands among the firemen and leave the coppers alone on the floor.

But that wouldn't be very nice to the fans so the officers of the law will concentrate on giving the smoke eaters a real ball game. "I think we can," reported Lt. C. W. Lacy of the police. "At least, we have lots of enthusiasm." They expect some keen competition by the other protectors of the public, despite the tales of sore feet and sore muscles coming from the firemen.

The two crews are billed for a 7:15 p.m. opener. The other big game of the night will match Andy's Jewellers and Yellow Cab, the unbeaten leaders in the Medford Independent Basketball League at 8:30 p.m. Their tussle tonight will not count in league standings. But unofficial recognition as the top club in this section of Oregon is at stake.

Andy's is mainly ex-Medford high stars. Yellow Cab has gone wider afield in collecting its talent. The quint includes several former prep all-stars. Mayor Earl Miller and City Manager Robert Duff will be foes in a free throw contest.

Sid Gillman Rams' Tutor

New York — (U.P.) — Sid Gillman, brand-new coach of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league, was expected to confer with Club President Dan Reeves and team scouts about the annual player draft which starts Thursday. Terms of Gillman's contract were not announced, but the 43-year-old coach, speaking at his home in Cincinnati, said, "I'm happy with it."
