Stanford, Calif. — (U.P.) — Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations administration, predicted last night that President Eisenhower and Vice-President Richard Nixon will be "successfully drafted" for another term in 1956.

He said Mr. Eisenhower has gained new stature for his handling of the Formosa crisis, and that Nixon is doing a "splendid job."

The FOA chief spoke at Stanford university before the Western College conference on American foreign policy. Tonight he will speak before the World Affairs Council at Los Angeles.

Stassen told an overflow crowd at Stanford that he felt prospects of peace in the Far East have been brightened by Congress' firm decision to grant the President extraordinary powers to deal with the Formosa question.

He credited Democratic Sen.

Walter George of Georgia, who supported the President's request for the powers, for "acting in the finest tradition of American statesmanship."

In the main body of his speech, Stassen said that "America's long range policies must consider the day when Communism is no longer a danger."

"Without minimizing a danger that looms large and very real," he said, "the long-range policies we devise and pursue must prepare us for the day when aggressive Communism is no longer a factor."

He admitted that Communist exploitation in Asia presents problems that must be faced now, but that the situation, "if difficult, is reasonably hopeful."

"Under current mutual security legislation about 60 per cent of our funds have been allocated for free Asia as compared to only 12 per cent in 1952," Stassen said. "A good portion of these funds will be used for technical assistance work, and development assistance to meet the demand for capital development."

Dead Boy's Skin Grafted To Girl

Cincinnati, O. — (U.P.) — Surgeons today termed successful a skin-grafting operation which transferred skin from a dead boy's body to the badly-burned body of 7-year-old Sherry Cassada.

Surgeons said the operation, while only a temporary measure, will provide time for Sherry's health to improve to the point where her own skin can be grafted to her badly-scared back. The live tissue was taken from Ronnie Wilson, 14, who died in St. Mary's Hospital here from injuries suffered in an Oct. 2 auto accident.

The grafted tissue will live from six to eight weeks, doctors said.

Sherry was severely burned over 75 per cent of her body a year ago when she wandered too close to a fire in her back yard.

Ronnie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Wilson of Osgood, Ind., struck by the death of their son who never regained consciousness, decided to help Sherry when surgeons said it would improve her chances to lead a normal life.
