

Pattern Now Established For Life of Legislators

By FRANCES LITTELL

Salem—These days are beginning to form a pattern, and we now have a feeling of belonging. We have learned to think of the little house at 320 North 19th street as home.

The Jackson county delegation, Mr. Mann, Phil and Al, are meeting each Thursday immediately after the morning sessions for their weekly conference.

I think the greatest shock for the freshman wives is the first time a page boy approaches you with a broad smile and says to your husband, "May I take your coat, sir?" which he does, and you, (the wife) trot along down the hall behind the page to hang up your own coat on a rack in the hall just outside the legislators' locker room that has individual lockers. The lady legislators also have a locker room of their own. Now we think it's very funny and laugh about it, but the first week it just wasn't funny. The girls who have been here before admit they felt the same way the first time it happened to them.

One of the nice surprises for us, the freshmen, is the friendly comradeship that exists not only between us, the wives and secretaries, but which extends right on up to and including Governor and Mrs. Patterson. It's the expected, rather than the unexpected, to see Governor Patterson in the legislators' hotel rooms—just visiting or more often playing cribbage with them and with no discrimination as to political party affiliations, and Mrs. Patterson visiting with a group of the wives, chatting about children, grandchildren, a new hat, etc. Just like home—the men in their group and the women in ours.

Monday the new 1955 Oregon Blue Book was placed on our desks and the cry immediately went up, "The Blue Book isn't blue!" And it isn't; it's yellow. Many other interesting things have been left on our desks this week, such as two packages of "glad" bulbs from the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce, two cans of salmon, apples from Hood River. Now they tell Al he has to get some Rogue Valley pears, just to keep in step. Last night we found at our door a box of assorted canned agricultural products from all over the State of Oregon. A gift of the Salem Chamber of Commerce. They evidently know what the legislators' salaries are.

Upon Governor Patterson's return from Washington, Al had a short meeting with him. Among other things they talked about the Talent irrigation project. Al seemed pleased with what Governor Patterson said. However, the governor had already given a press release on his and President Eisenhower's talk, and you no doubt will have read it before you see this.

Enjoying this legislative session more than anyone we have met is Mrs. DeArmond, wife of Representative DeArmond of Bend. She greets everyone with the expression, "Isn't it exciting?" And from the grandmother's point of view, she is in a most enviable position because her grandchildren live here, and she sees them every day.

Our secretary of state, Earl T. Newbury, is sporting a trim new mustache. We attended the Shrine Sweetheart ball at the Marion hotel on Saturday eve, and the first person to greet us was Mr. Newbury. The combination of his mustache and the fez was too much for me. I asked Al to introduce me. Mr. Newbury now looks like Errol Flynn, the movie star.

This is the 3rd day of February and the 25th day of the session, also the last day on which bills from the House of Representatives may be introduced. The sessions are getting longer. The bills are increasing in number. There are approximately 600 now, and more to come. The issues and bills are more controversial both in the committee rooms and on the floor, so it's more interesting, too.

One of the busiest persons in the capitol building this week has been Dr. E. R. Durno's friend and colleague, Dr. R. E. Purvine. Seems each and every one of us in both the House of Representatives and the Senate has succumbed to the flu bug, and Dr. Purvine is here in the statehouse every morning through the courtesy of the Medical association.

No afternoon sessions this week due to the lengthy and numerous committee meetings.

Supreme Queen To Visit Oregon

Honoring the supreme queen, Mrs. Charlotte E. Nolte, Baltimore, Md., a special ceremonial will be conducted by Zuleima temple, Daughters of the Nile, Tuesday afternoon, February 8, at 2 p.m. at the Masonic temple Eugene. The rites will be in charge of Mrs. Harriet Guldager, Eugene, temple queen.

The ceremonial, the second to be conducted by Queen Harriet during her term of office, will be followed by a formal banquet and entertainment at Erb Memorial building on the University of Oregon campus. Nile members and their escorts have been invited.

Uniformed units of the temple will participate in the ceremonial. Zuleima patrol, captained by Mrs. Dorothy Morris, will appear in its new uniforms for the first time. Temple dancers will be under the direction of Mrs. Rachel Fischer, and Mrs. Juanita Butler will direct the chorus.

Mrs. Nolte comes to Zuleima temple after visiting in San Francisco and she will be honored next by Nydia temple, Portland.

Next regular meeting of Zuleima temple is scheduled for Saturday, February 12, at Grants Pass Masonic temple. A tea will follow. The annual memorial service will be held during the business meeting which is to begin at 2 p.m.

Roseburg Nile club is in charge of arrangements for the tea.

Chapter AA

Chapter AA, PEO sisterhood, will meet at the home of Mrs. John Moffat, 34 Berkeley way, February 9, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. R. W. Clancy and Mrs. Otto Emig will assist the hostess and a president's letter will be read during the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Burt and two small sons, 2130 East Jackson boulevard, are on a winter vacation in southern California. The four are shown here enjoying an early morning walk on the desert after a breakfast ride at Smoke Tree ranch, Palm Springs, where they are guests.

Federated Garden Clubs Plan Flower Show School

Final plans for a flower show school will be completed at a business meeting of Siskiyou district, Oregon Federation of Garden club, this week. It is set for Tuesday, February 8, at 10:30 a.m. in Girls Community club, Medford.

Mrs. A. O. Floyd, Medford, district chairman, will preside and the session is to close at 2:30 p.m.

The flower show will be held in the Central Point Grange hall March 8-10. Discussion on the show will be led by Mrs. Gaston Floux, Central Point, chairman.

Mrs. Floux states that the general public is invited to attend the classes on March 8 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and March 9 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. A nominal charge will be made for auditing the classes. The meeting March 10 is to be reserved for examinations of the Federated members.

Instructors for the classes will be the state horticulture chairman, Mrs. Harry O. Smith, Cave Junction, and the state flower show chairman, Mrs. C. F. Gregg, Eugene. Mrs. Smith will lecture on horticulture and Mrs. Gregg will discuss flower show arrangement practice. Both topics will be discussed each day.

Anyone interested in attending these classes and wishing further information may call one of the following committee members: Mrs. Floux, general chairman, 192-X Central Point; Mrs. E. W. Jermark, Ashland.

Dinner Planned For Daughters; Party Announced

D. King of the Medford Masonic Blue lodge, a guest at the Wednesday session of Medford Bethel, Jobs Daughters, brought to the Bethel an invitation to attend a no host dinner March 18. Following the dinner the members will exemplify their work for the Blue lodge.

Miss Barbara Roach, past queen, presided in the absence of the queen, Miss Alexa Hibbard, who was ill.

The Wednesday event also was attended by Mrs. Jack Ward, worthy matron of Reames chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and Morris Boughner, worthy patron.

Plans were made for a skating party Tuesday, February 15 at the Rogue Valley ballroom. Members from the Medford DeMolay attended the closing ceremony and refreshments were served in the dining room. The valentine theme was used for decorating. Dancing also was a diversion.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Lana Lambo and Mrs. Frank Lambo; Miss Elsa Voegtly and Mrs. Robert Voegtly; Miss Judith Bell and Mrs. Robert Bell; Miss Kay Little and Mrs. Clyde Ramsey; Miss Frances Flink and Mrs. F. L. Flink; Miss Sylvia Baker and Mrs. Baker.

Roxy Gardeners Announce Session

Roxy Gardeners will meet on Wednesday, February 9 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Dupray, 3475 Lone Pine road, Mrs. A. E. Sidener and Mrs. W. A. Lowery will be assistant hostesses.

The program being arranged by Mrs. F. W. Fogelquist is on "dichondra and other ground covers."

Tudor Guild Plans Show Next Month

Tudor guild members plan a spring style show the first to be given by the group, Monday, March 21 at 8 p.m. The event will be held at the Tally Ho dining room at Talent so that Medford, Ashland and other valley persons may conveniently attend. The dining room, ordinarily closed on Mondays, has been reserved for this occasion, which will benefit the Oregon Shakespeare Festival scholarship fund.

Dessert and coffee will be served during intermission and both Medford and Ashland merchants are participating in furnishing apparel for the show. Men's and women's clothing will be modeled.

H. Paul Kliss, a festival actor now with Oumansky's Magic Ring theater in Portland, will be here especially to serve as commentator for the show.

Cochairmen for the event are Mrs. B. F. Cope, and Mrs. Williams Dawkins, both of Ashland.

Reservations in the Medford vicinity should be made by calling Mrs. C. Rease Braley, telephone 3-1843. Both men and women are invited to attend.

The guild is a non-profit organization formed to work for the festival association and each year furnishes scholarships for festival actors. It is through such benefit events that the members raise the needed finances.

The next regular meeting will be held March 2 at the home of Mrs. Rose Tavenor Robinette, 912 Siskiyou boulevard, Ashland. The meeting when the final plans for the style were made was held February 2 at the home of Mrs. John Thompson in Ashland.

Miss Glenna James On School Faculty

Miss Glenna James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. James, 1426 Euclid avenue, has accepted a teaching position at the Columbia public grade school at Seattle. Miss James, a 1953 graduate of Whitworth college, has been doing post graduate work at the University of Washington at Seattle. She received her bachelor of arts degree in education at the university last December.
