Summary of Rogue River Forest Shows '54 Good Year; Sales Up, Fires Down

The 1954 harvest in the Rogue River National forest totaled more than 127,000,000 board feet, according to a summary of the year's activities released by the forest office here this week.

While the allowable cut under a sustained yield plan is only 103,000,000 board feet, the over-cut in 1954 balanced an under-cut accumulated over several years. Some 518,000 trees were planted for reforestation, the report showed.

The fire record in the forest was much better than in 1953, with only 26 fires from all causes, compared with 89 in 1953.

Receipts from the forest totaled $1,436,995, with Jackson county receiving $166,075 and Klamath county $139,153. Josephine, Douglas and Siskiyou counties received lesser amounts.

Here are other details of the report:

Timber

Logging activity was heavier than usual last fall. The market was firm and the open weather has been favorable to logging in the mountains. There were 71 individual timber tracts sold during the year, 54 of which were in amounts of less than $2,000. In most cases timber, which is sold under competitive bid, was purchased at or very near the appraised value.

Preparatory field work on timber to be sold in 1955 was done on three major sales for approximately 60,000,000 feet. Smaller fires and salvage totaling about 20,000,000 feet also will be offered later this winter. Blowdown and insect damage have been light.

The forest continued cooperative management, at cost, of the 2,876-acre city of Medford watershed at Big Butte springs near Butte Falls. Four sales for about 1,250,000 feet of over-mature and salvage timber on the watershed this season returned $16,981 to the city. The 20,000 ponderosa pine seedlings planted in 1953 showed good survival through the summer. Sixty thousand additional trees were planted this year. Rate of growth among the ponderosa pine second growth stands on the city lands is high, with diameter increase up to one inch per year. Selected crop trees in these stands are pruned to improve lumber quality. Tentative recreation plans have been completed by the city for the shore area of Willow reservoir.

Reforestation

Planting of 516,000 seedling trees on 738 acres was completed. During the last three years 2,790 acres have been logged by clear-cutting method. Of that total 1,575 acres have been planted. The remainder is suited to natural regeneration. Experimental direct seeding is being continued with accompanying treatment by chemicals to control seed-eating rodents.

Cone collection is an important fall project to keep nurseries supplied with enough tree seed to meet the demands for planting stock on logged-off land. In the Rogue river area 863 bushels were collected.

Fire Control

Only five acres of forest burned last year. There were 17-man caused fires, five less than last year. The weather was favorable but much credit is due the cooperative efforts of the lumber industry, sportsmen, recreationists and the general public.

Slash burning was completed on 845 acres of national forest clear-cut timber sales and over 39 miles of piled slash along roads in partial-cut areas. There is no carry-over slash to be burned in 1955.

Recreation

Recreational use of the forest continues to increase. It is estimated more than 5,000 people visited the Lake O' Woods area on the Fourth of July. The steady recreation increase makes it difficult to keep abreast of campground maintenance and repair needs because of budget limitations. This year a modest supplemental fund is available. It is being used in part to rehabilitate and improve sanitary facilities at the most heavily used camps. The remainder will be expended for similar improvements at Fourmile lake, where greatly expanded use is resulting from the completion of the new road into that highly regarded fishing area.

The State Game commission planted fish in all main lakes, streams and tributaries. In the more heavily fished areas they follow the practice of staggering stocking through several plantings dates to extend the period of better fishing. All game animals were reported to have wintered satisfactorily. Losses were light. The Rocky Point public shooting area along the west shore of Klamath lake was used extensively last fall, especially during the first weeks of duck season. This national forest land is maintained as a non-charge wild fowl hunting area through cooperative agreement with the State Game commission. Joint meetings were held last spring with Game commission biologists to obtain their counsel regarding wildlife habitat preservation on timber sale areas.

Grazing

Grazing permits were issued to 106 livestock operators to graze 6,733 cattle and 4,100 sheep on national forest summer range.

Permanent study plots are being established on each grazing allotment as one means to determine condition and trend of forage plants and to serve as a guide to stocking for proper utilization of the range. Stockmen are invited to participate in the establishment of the plots as well as subsequent gathering of data therefrom and its interpretation.

Range reseeding was confined to experimental plots this year. There are eight revegetation and species plots maintained in cooperation with livestock associations and the livestock service. Two new plots were established last summer.

Engineering

Maintenance was done on 426 miles of road, 596 miles of trail, and 300 miles of telephone line. Four permanent bridges were built, including one major structure across the main stem of Rogue river near Woodruff Meadows. Timber sales financed one of these new bridges. Two major culvert installations were made by Forest Service crews.

Location and construction surveys were completed on almost 80 miles of timber sale roads. Loggers built 39.3 miles of access road financed by the sales.

Work is now complete on the Fourmile lake road and it is no longer necessary to travel the unsafe ditch line route to reach this favorite fishing spot.

Lands

We are hopeful the mining claim problem at Union Creek which involved some 57,000 acres soon will be resolved. All the claims in question now have been contested following examination by federal mineral examiners who found no evidence of mineral in commercial quantity. A large number of the claims have been invalidated this year through failure of the claimants to request or appear at hearings or to substantiate validity under the law. Hearings have been held on the remainder.

Exchange of administrative jurisdiction of certain lands between the Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management was authorized by Act of Congress this year. O&C lands, which are administered by the Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service lands are intermingled over an appreciable area of western Oregon. One main purpose of the Congressional act was to authorize exchange of these lands between the two agencies in a manner to eliminate the intermingled pattern and simplify administration.

To date agreement has been reached on general areas to be exchanged, and methods of evaluation are being developed. The act provides that acreage exchanged shall be approximately equal within each county and values exchanged shall balance approximately in the over-all exchange.
