Webfoots, Beavers Prime For Last Pair of Games

By UNITED PRESS
The University of Oregon and Oregon State College basketball teams settled down Monday to the task of preparing for the final two contests of their annual four-game series. Oregon invades Corvallis Friday night and Oregon State goes to Eugene Saturday night for the Northern Division finale. Division Champion Oregon State's winning streak was halted at 13 games Saturday

Prep Hoop Teams Eye Tournaments

By UNITED PRESS
Oregon high school basketball teams today eyed district and state tournaments, which are coming up in the next few weeks. The Lakeview Honkers beat Madras 58-44 and Primeville 80-73 over the weekend to clinch at least a tie for the Central Oregon league championships. Redmond, which has one game left with Bend, can still tie the Honkers.

The North Bend Bulldogs edged Marshfield 65-62 Saturday and after dumping Bandon 72-63 Friday, to move two steps closer to tournament play. In Portland, Jefferson stopped Franklin, 60-49, and Cleveland whacked Washington 80-55 for the city's strongest bids for the class A tourney to be held in Eugene.

Highly-rated Milwaukie rolled past Astoria, beset with the flu, 73-44. Beaverton clinched the Tualatin valley league championship with a 77-54 win over Newberg, and are due for district action tomorrow. St. Helen's Needs One Medford won its 17th and 18th straight victories by turning back Ashland 82-57 and 84-45, and St. Helens won its 18th victory by walloping Clatskanie 81-46. St. Helens needs only one more district win to qualify for tournament play.

The Eugene Axemen, 17-3, beat South Salem 68-60 in district six action, and Albany stayed afloat in sub-district seven by outclassing Lebanon 69-29. Pendleton, 7-3, after beating The Dalles Saturday, appears to have clinched a tie in Blue Mountain conference play. Baker and La Grande, both with 6-3 records, meet this weekend to decide the co-championship.

Chieftains Take Fourth From Portland Quintet

Portland — (U.P.)—The agile Chiefs of Seattle University made it four in a row over the Portland University Pilots Sunday night, downing the Portlanders 86-62. The Pilots, who appeared tired after Saturday night's basketball struggle with the Chiefs, couldn't seem to handle Dick Stricklin, 6-foot 8-inch sophomore who connected for a total of 29 points. His sub Ken Fuhrer, added eight more points.

night by a stubborn Washington State crew at Pullman, Wash. Hero of the 68-66 upset by the Cougars was little Ron Bennink who sank a long one-handed push shot with only two seconds of play remaining. 13-1 Record The loss gave the Beavers a 13-1 Division record with only the two games against Oregon left to play. At Seattle, Oregon edged Washington, 60-59, by staving off a last-minute rally by a scappy, but nervous bunch of Huskies. OSC led WSC 28-24 at half-time.

Center Swede Halbrook hit a hook early in the second and guard Bill Toole made two free throws to start off a chain of ties. Then OSC took the lead 34-32, Bennink tied it up 34-31 and the ties came in rapid succession. In the last seconds, WSC center Bruce Olson hit a hook to make it 66-64 and Halbrook sunk a basket to make it 66-66. Then the Cougars got the ball and Bennink went down the court for his long shot. Keep Second By turning the tables on the Huskies, who romped over Oregon 80-60 Friday night, the Webfoots held fast to second place in the division.

The Ducks' scoring was paced by big Jim Loscutt, forward, and guard Howard Page, who each scored 17 points, and forward Jerry Ross with 15, eleven of them from the free-throw line. Washington's Don Sunitch points of the Ducks. But from of his upper front teeth in a first-half collision, but came back in the second half to score eight points of his total. In fact, it was little Sunitch who sparked the Husky rally and nearly pulled the game out of the fire for Washington. After Oregon had built a 53-43 margin midway in the second half, field goals by center Dean Parsons, two by Sunitch and another by forward Ron Olsen brought Washington within two points of the Ducks. But from that time on, the Webfoots managed to stay a point or two ahead until time ran out. Parsons was high point man for Washington with 12, bringing his total in varsity competition to 1,011.

91 Different Models Of Aircraft Produced

Washington—(U.P.)—To maintain American air supremacy in commercial and military aviation, the United States aircraft industry today is producing 91 different models of airplanes, exclusive of pilotless aircraft. Planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association, said its recent survey showed that 28 different airframe manufacturers have a total of 65 military aircraft models in production—ranging from night liaison types to supersonic bombers. In addition, 26 models of civil aircraft are being built for the world commercial market. The AIA survey also showed that nine models of military helicopters are in production and that six helicopter models are available to the commercial market.

Significant indication that we are maintaining leadership in the air is that, for the first time, engine manufacturers are building more different models of jet engines than of piston engines, the magazine said. Colorado has 13,022 miles of trout streams and 2,311 trout lakes, according to latest figures, a boon for fisherman. All of these streams and lakes are open to the public.

Faber Heads SO Baseball League Again

Portland State college meets Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande tonight in an attempt to wrap up the Oregon Collegiate conference basketball championship. The Mountaineers, with a 7-5 league mark, are the only conference member with a mathematical chance of doing the Vikings out of the title. PSC has an 11-1 record.

In the Northwest conference tonight, College of Idaho (12-1) hosts Willamette (6-6), at Caldwell and Whitman, (3-9), hosts Linfield (4-9) at Walla Walla, Wash. In other games this week Southern Oregon journeys to Klamath Falls to meet Oregon Tech tomorrow night, and EOCE will meet Oregon college at Monmouth both Friday and Saturday.

League directors voted in Bandon as the fifth or six member of the SOL. They all expressed favor toward admitting Bend but delayed a final positive vote. The representative from the central Oregon city did not have full authority to commit his club to the circuit but promised to notify directors in one week of the Bend organization's decision. Bandon pointed to a team nucleus right within its community with young, promising players coming up from the high school. Bend was in search of faster competition and a loop slate which would provide more games.

Seeks Leadership The league is intensely interested in bringing Roseburg into the fold and persons from that community outlined the lack of finance and leadership which kept them out of the loop last year. It was decided yesterday that Roseburg representatives, with the help of Bill Chatham of the Drain club, should contact the best leaders it could find in the Umpqua valley metropolitan area and try to organize a group to handle baseball. A report will be made at the next SOL session Sunday, March 6, at the Roseburg city hall.

Directors in the meantime will also contact Coos Bay-North Bend and Glendale which are rumored interested. If eight teams join the circuit, it is the consensus that the loop will operate in two divisions. The schedules would be arranged to bring travel to a minimum. A round robin would be played among four teams in a division with each team to face two teams in the other division also in a home and home set up.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—SEVEN

Mike Souchak Texas Titlist

San Antonio, Tex.—(U.P.)—Former football player Mike Souchak, the new Texas Open champion, won his first golf tournament since turning professional in a spectacular manner — by breaking two PGA competitive records and tying another. The unheralded Durham, N.C., golfer won the championship Sunday with a 65 that gave him a 27-under par 257 for 72 holes, a new PGA record.

Fred Haas, Jr., of Claremont, Calif., who had been trailing Souchak closely and went into the finals only two strokes off the leader's pace, faded to a 70 in bad weather and finished with 264, seven strokes behind. Souchak's 257 set a new PGA nine-hole record and his 60 the first day of the tournament tied the PGA mark for an individual competitive round. His 257 for 72 holes broke the old PGA 72-hole record of 259 shared by Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Chandler Harper.

FLYING PAYS OFF

Miami Beach, Fla.—(U.P.)—Fay Crocker, an outstanding exponent of the "try, try again" school, won her first professional golf tournament in 29 tries when she scored a one-stroke victory over Patty Berg Sunday in the $5,000 Serbin Open. Miss Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, shot a two-over-par 76 on the final 18 for a 72-hole total of 296 and $1,000 first money.
