

Girl Scouts Open Annual Cookie Sale As Camp Benefit

Girl Scouts of the Rogue Valley area will celebrate their 43rd national birthday anniversary by opening the annual cookie sale in the Medford district today. Mrs. Frank Benesh is cookie sale chairman.

Brownies and intermediate scouts will receive their packs of order blanks after school today from their leaders. Sales will continue through March 4 and deliveries will be made between March 5 and 12. Payment for the cookies is due at the time of delivery, stated Mrs. Benesh.

Using the same type cookies as they sold last year, vanilla and chocolate sandwiches with the Girl Scout trefoil stamped on each, Junior and Senior high troops will also maintain booths in down town stores on each Saturday during the cookie sale deliveries.

Proceeds from the cookie sale go to help maintain the established camp, Low Echo. Five cents from the price of each box of cookies will remain in the scout troops to be used for troop expenses during the spring or for camping funds later on.

Mrs. Benesh asked that all calls be made to her at "Cookie Headquarters," which is her home, 12 North Keeneway drive, and her telephone is 3-2907. Assisting Mrs. Benesh and the cookie sale committee is Mrs. W. H. Fisher, 32 Black Oak drive, telephone 2-2570, and the staff of the Girl Scout Offices.

Career Girls Here Too Bossy Says French Businesswoman

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent New York — (U.P.) — American career girls are too bossy and too bossy, says a successful feminine executive from France.

After watching some top flight career women in action here, Nicole Milinaire, television producer, mother of four children and a lively, curvaceous blonde, left for France a little disillusioned.

"They dress well," Nicole said of American career women, "but they don't smile much."

At the age of 33, her own amazing career qualifies Nicole to judge just how much tension and unsmiling hard work goes into an executive's job.

"Is big mistake," said the producer, who occasionally has trouble with English, "to think French women don't understand business. The big difference between us is that American women are good businesswomen and they look it."

Soft and Gentle
"In France, we are good businesswomen, but we try to look soft and gentle... how you say? Like a home wife. But we know very well what we want."

Nicole knew nothing about putting together a television show when she met Sheldon Reynolds, TV director and producer, in Stockholm, Sweden, several years ago. He invited her to the set where they were filming "Foreign Intrigue."

"I was fascinated by what went on behind the cameras," she said. "When I get a chance to learn about it, I work day and night to learn."

Married at 17, a member of the French resistance during the war, jailed briefly by the Gestapo and finally separated from her husband after the war, Nicole had started her own fabric business when she abandoned

Gallant Actress Makes Movie After Amputation; Plays Indian

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent

New York — (U.P.) — Suzan Ball, the gallant glamour girl who married and resumed her movie career after her right leg was amputated, knows she's a mighty lucky woman. She has a sense of humor.

The 22-year-old actress and her handsome husband, actor Dick Long, 27, laugh together over some of the thoughtless remarks and the awkward incidents that happen when people meet Suzan. They could be tragic, but not to this lively young couple in love.

The two of them came here recently for a delayed honeymoon and to promote her latest movie, "Chief Crazy Horse," in which Suzan plays an Indian maiden.

A Tacitful Offense

"I call it 'tacitful offense,'" Dick said, referring to the way Suzan has learned to put people at ease about her artificial leg. "Some people become very uncomfortable when they're around a person who has had something unfortunate happen to them," Suzan explained.

Her right leg was amputated above the knee a year ago after an unsuccessful 10-month fight against cancer, which developed after a fall during the filming of a movie. She and Dick were married three months later.

She Walks Gracefully

Suzan walks gracefully now with her artificial leg, although when she's tired she limps and occasionally at home or in her hotel room here she used crutches.

"The minute you don't walk like a Powers model, with an absolutely glass walk, people think of your legs," she said. "That does make me kind of mad sometimes. The same people never think of their own walking pattern. They may have a terrible gait."

But if she spends any time feeling sorry for herself, it doesn't show in her conversation or her obviously happy companionship with her husband. They have more plans for the future than most couples.

"We go dancing together, and I'll be able to ride horseback," Suzan said. "There's a girl who has two wooden legs who rides horseback. I understand they have a terrible time with her, though. She's always scraping the paint off her legs on the stirrups and they have to keep touching them up."

To Meet

Cebu swamp, Military Order of Lizards, will meet Saturday, February 26, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harry Barneburg, 1297 Sunset avenue. A potluck luncheon will be served.
