

Judges Have Tough Time Spotting Future Greats in Annual Science Talent Search

By PATRICIA WIGGINS United Press Staff Correspondent Washington — (U.P.) — How do you spot a future Fermi or Madam Curie in the 12th grade? Three final judges in the 14th annual science talent search grappled with that problem Saturday as they interviewed 32 boys and eight girls from 17 states who are competing for $11,000 in scholarship prize money, courtesy of Westinghouse.

Not Easy Task Dr. Harold A. Edgerton, consulting psychologist from New York City and chief of the tri-umvirate, doesn't claim it is an easy task.

Which would you pick? A youngster who built an electric brain that beat him at parlor games or one who harnessed spiders so that their silk could be wound on spools?

Those are only two examples, Latvian born Agnis Kainajs, 17, Newtonville, Mass., and Vaughn A. Aandahl, 17, Denver, respectively, of the junior geniuses in the running.

Also, what about the difference between boys and girls as far as scientific aptitude goes? Dr. Edgerton is diplomatic when asked.

Finds Deeper Drives In general, he said, in the 14 years he has served as judge in the nationwide talent search, he has found usually "deeper and stronger drives to science" among boys.

But he was quick to point out a girl, Carolyn Littlejohn of Oklahoma City, was the top winner in 1949.

In spite of all the difficulties, Edgerton thinks he has a picture of what the potential scientist should be as he leaves his 'teens, a picture he will use in picking top winners.

He should be "bright, really bright," capable of taking on college and post-graduate work; doing things now which show ingenuity and resourcefulness; capable of working on a team, and one who is stable.

Inquiry into Seattle Communism Scheduled

Seattle — (U.P.) — The second inquiry into Communist party activities in the Seattle area will be held here March 17-19 by the House un-American Activities committee, it was revealed Saturday. Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), new chairman of the committee, said in Washington the hearing will be similar to one conducted here last June.

Pope Given Treatment For Rheumatic Pains

Vatican City — (U.P.) — Pope Pius XII began infra-red treatments Saturday for rheumatic pains in his right shoulder.

Vatican sources said the pains were an old complaint which troubled the Pope occasionally and stressed they were not connected with the Pontiff's recent illness.

The 78-year-old Pontiff was confined to bed during most of December and January because of severe attacks of gastritis and hernia.

Technicians administered the red treatment with a special apparatus used before when damp weather caused rheumatic pains. The sources said the Pope has been troubled with the occasional pains during the last three years.

A Tribute To Rotary International!

This past week the entire nation and the world has saluted Rotary International, upon the occasion of the Golden Anniversary of this fine organization, dedicated to world peace, community service and good-fellowship.

Organized February 23rd, 1905 in Chicago by Paul P. Harris, this association of business and professional men has spread throughout the world—in almost every country except the area behind the iron curtain.

We especially salute the Medford Rotary, which has contributed to a better community here for the past 32 years. Medford Rotarians list among their projects the sponsorship of Jackson County's annual Four-H, F.F.A. Fair and Livestock auction.

TUCKER SNO-CAT Fame of Snow Vehicle Spreading

Ads Spreading Sno-Cats' Fame

The fame of Medford's Sno-Cats is being spread far and wide in two advertisements which will appear this month and next in national magazines, it was revealed Saturday.

The ads were prepared by the International Nickel Company, Inc., which furnishes the nickel steel used in the unique pontoons which are the secret of the Sno-Cat's success.

One ad, published in a recent issue of Business Week, shows a picture of a big, four-pontoon Sno-Cat in the Wasatch mountains, hauling skiers and equipment for a motion picture location crew. The over-snow vehicle was identified by name and by the name of the manufacturer, the Tucker Sno-Cat Corp., Medford.

The motto of the company, "No snow too deep, no road too steep" was used as the main message of the advertisement. The other ad shows an artist's picture of a Sno-Cat in use as it was a couple of winters ago when it helped rescue stranded passengers of a cross-country train held up by snow in the Donner Pass area of California's Sierra Nevada mountains. It too makes use of the motto.

The ad is scheduled to appear in future issues of Collier's, Look, Pathfinder, Saturday Evening Post, Time, Newsweek, U. S. News & World Report, Forbes, and in 30 newspapers in 19 cities, all with a total circulation of nearly 27,000,000.

Now I lay me down to sleep . . .

THE hair so like young corn silk draws appealingly back into the funny little pony tail. Long lashes droop demurely over eyes in which, all day, small lightning fires of mischief flared and flashed. A chirrupy little-girl treble quavers the words . . .

"God bless Mommy . . . God bless Daddy . . ."

You listen. In this moment you understand truly why you were put upon this earth. And as you hear your little girl at her prayers what wouldn't you do to keep her world always warm and confident and secure?

Give love! Of course—first and always!

But, because you've grown up and grown wise in a tough world, you know you have to give material protection, too. And one of the finest forms of material protection is a steadily growing pile of United States Series E Savings Bonds!

Bonds pay good interest—3%, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity. They'll go on earning for as long as 19 years and 8 months, if you wish, paying you back 80% more than you invested!

Bonds offer the world's easiest and surest way to save when you invest in them through the Payroll Savings Plan. On this Plan you can pick any amount you wish (as little as a couple of dollars a week) and have your company's pay office save it out of each check. This is invested in Bonds which are turned over to you. And you'll find you can save successfully no matter how many times you may have tried before and failed.

You can also invest in Bonds automatically and regularly where you bank.

Your little girl, or your little boy, needs all the protection you can give—now. Build it for them, with safe, sure money-earning United States Savings Bonds!
