

Mixed Up Man Changes Tire on Wrong Auto

Portland, Me. — (U.P.)—Bob Llewellyn pulled up alongside Waldo Pray on a downtown street and asked "Whatcha doing?"

"What do you think?" replied Pray. "Changing a flat tire." "It certainly doesn't look flat to me," Llewellyn said. Pray stepped back in annoyance. Then he did a double-take.

In returning to the scene after borrowing a jack, he had jacked up the wrong car, an identical one parked in front of his own.

Back Stairs: Ike's Black Angus Herd

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House
Writer

Washington — (U.P.) — Back stairs at the White House:

The small herd of Black Angus beef cattle being started on the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa., actually had its beginnings years ago in Scotland.

The Black Angus breed was imported to this country in 1873. According to the National Geographic Society, a Scot cattleman would call his Angus herd a collection of "doddies," a term meaning hornless.

Peter Lind Hayes, the comedian who entertained for Mr.

Eisenhower at the White House correspondents' dinner last Saturday, had a chance to compare notes on Army life with the former five star general.

Hays mentioned that they had served in the same Army, but not on quite the same social level. Peter was a technical sergeant, a fact he attributed wryly to "politics." Mr. Eisenhower got a big laugh out of this crack.

Decorator notes from the Eisenhower house at Gettysburg:

They're not having venetian blinds, but white windowshades on rollers. The new garage built as an addition to the barn will hold four cars, once the carpenters and painters get their gear out of the way.

The President is not taking chances about spring being around the corner. He still has heavy snow shelters over the two massive boxwoods flanking the front door of the house.

Duke Ellington, the noted pianist and another entertainer at the banquet last Saturday for the President, arrived at the show rehearsal with no music. Some of the rehearsal personnel seemed surprised.

"What do I need with the music?" the Duke chuckled. "I wrote it."

Mr. Eisenhower probably would like to know that in the 1954 fishing contest of Field & Stream Magazine, one of the winners was Robert L. Rieck who caught a 12-round rainbow trout in the South Platte River, Colo.

The best the President has even been able to do in the South Platte has been about 15 ounces, but it should be pointed out that he normally fishes in a leg of the South Platte so small that a 12-pound rainbow would have difficulty navigating the shallow spots.

The President went to a Masonic breakfast the other morn-

Will-Makers Advised Not To Leave $100,000

Methuen, Mass. — (U.P.) — A lawyer who has practiced his profession for 50 years offers some advice to prospective will-makers.

"Never die and leave $100,000—it causes too much work," said former Special Justice Alhion G. Peirce.

ing and as he entered, a large choir broke into the stirring strains of the "Battle Hymn Of The Republic." Mr. Eisenhower confessed later, "I almost went out to look for a recruiting office."

questions on state and federal questions he has to answer in connection with a $100,000 estate he is probating.
