

TEMPLE AUDITORIUM—Shown above is a view of the interior of a new auditorium at Temple Baptist church, 794 Lozier lane, where revival services now are being conducted. The Rev. Floyd Merrill, Spokane, Wash., is leading the revival which will continue through March 20. The public is invited. The auditorium was dedicated about two weeks ago.

Minister Absent, Men Plan Services

Phoenix—In the absence of the Rev. Otis Swisher, who has been serving the Phoenix Presbyterian church, members of the Men's association will conduct the morning church service Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale Loofbrow will furnish songs.

Other events for those associated with the church include a covered dish dinner next Monday at 6:30 p.m., for the men's association; handicraft classes for girls, Tuesday night; choir practice and boys' handicraft class, Wednesday evening; and a family night, Friday, March 18, at 6:30 p.m.

Those of the vicinity interested are invited to the choir practice at 7 p.m. to take part in music being planned now for Easter.

The family night program will replace a Homemakers class meeting. All families of the church are invited. The committee will furnish dessert and those who attend should take hot dishes and salads. Community singing will be led by Mr. Loofbrow, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Igo and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clafin are in charge of the arrangements. A meeting of the pulpit committee will be held next Sunday after church services.

The girls learn textile painting, knitting and shell work at their handicraft classes and the boys will be instructed Wednesday in making of bows and arrows and fly tying.

Dairy cows in the U.S. produce about 115 billion pounds of milk per year.

Adventist Churches Give Program Funds

Religion must be ready to compete with secular programs for the attention of television viewers, Elder E. F. Coy, pastor of the Seventh - Day Adventist church, announced to his congregation last week. At a recent service the Adventist churches of this district collected over $138.68 toward maintenance of the television program, "Faith for Today," which is shown each Saturday at 4:30 p. m., on KBESTV.
The cost to the denomination to keep the weekly show totals over $500,000 a year, the elder explained. In urging the continued support of the program

Presbyterians Set Welcome Services

The First Presbyterian church will follow up on the city-wide religious census by having a special service at 11 a.m. Sunday morning. Deacons of the church will officially welcome all those who gave the Presbyterian church as their preference in the religious census. Flowers are to be given the visitors.

Dr. D. Kirkland West will preach on "Born to Believe What?" at the morning services. James Baker will be the soloist at both services. In the evening the study of what Presbyterians believe will be continued. The Senior High discussion will be led by Larry Clark, Leroy Ward and Darell Ross, when they will discuss "What Makes Me Strong?"

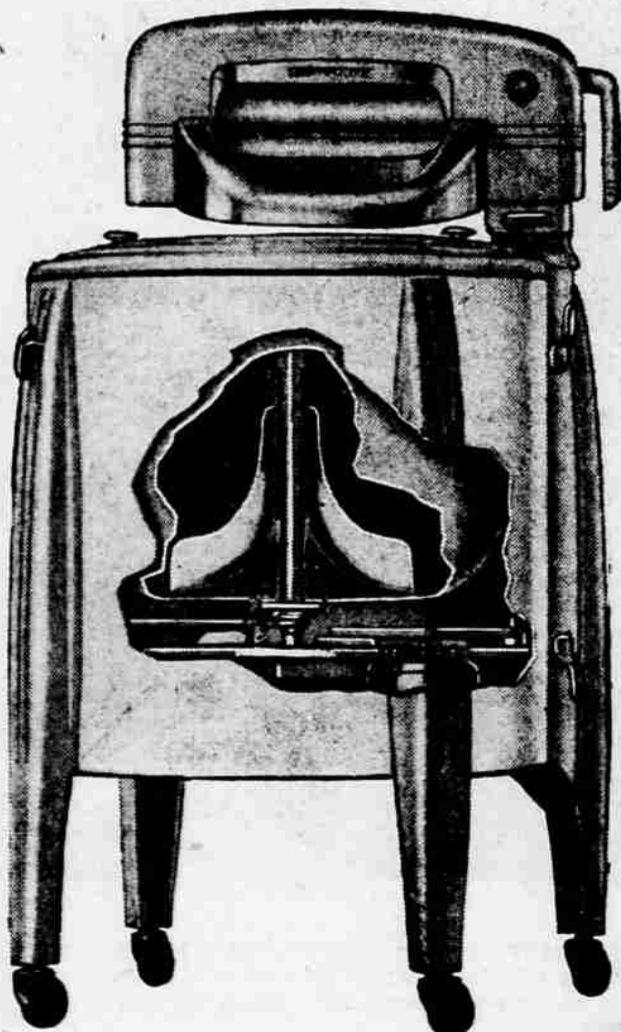

Fireside will be held at the Talk of the Town restaurant at the airport with Mr. and Mrs.

William Fisher in charge. All college age students returning home for vacation will be special guests.

RETURNS $390,000
Chicago — (U.P.) — Robert S. Alexander is returning $390,000 to the government because his firm "made a satisfactory profit" on a Navy contract. Alexander, president of Wells-Gardner Co., said the firm made precision parts for $390,000 less than the contract provided. "We don't believe in gypping the people," he said. "The government is the people and we're the people."

DONOR SATISFIED
Chicago — (U.P.) — An anonymous citizen has sent a crisp $100 bill to the Internal Revenue Bureau here with a note that says: "Somebody made a mistake but I'm satisfied."
