Riotous Comedy To Be Produced By Senior Class

A riotous comedy that was made into one of the most successful and original motion pictures ever produced has been chosen as the presentation of the 1955 senior class of Medford High school. This is "Heaven Can Wait," the play written by Harry Segall which became the movie "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," scheduled for presentation here in its original, full-length form at the High school auditorium for two performances, March 28-29.

"Heaven Can Wait" is the story of a messenger who made a mistake, and delivered the wrong person too soon. In this case the messenger is on the staff of "Mr. Jordan," a sort of "superintendent of operations" in heaven. His error was in snatching the wrong person from earthly life and delivering him to the pearly gates before his time was up. The victim is a self-confident prize-fighter named Joe Pendleton, who is outraged that his activities in life were unfairly cut short, and insists to the celestial guardians that he be given a rain-check with which to go back to earth and accomplish his mission—of becoming a champion.

"Mr. Jordan," embarrassed at the mistake that has landed Joe in this fix, would like to adjust the unfortunate error, and try to return Joe to his original earthly body. But then he discovers that his body had been cremated. The suspense of this heart-warming fable grows out of the search of the heavenly authorities for another suitable body, and the hilarious complications and adventures that ensue as the pugilist is indeed returned to earth in the body of a most unlikely person.

St. Mark's Evening guild announce a change of date for the next meeting. The meeting will be held Tuesday, March 15, in the parish house at 8 p.m.

Miles to be in charge of favors; Mrs. Harper Hamilton, decoration chairman; Mrs. William Blackledge, table setting; Mrs. William Duhaime, refreshments; Mrs. Robert Woody, clean-up; Mrs. Sheridan Scott, tables; Mrs. Ralph Cuthall, prizes; Mrs. Eddie Simmonds, tickets; Mrs. R. ### Kitchen Precautions Prevent Accidents

Lincoln, Neb. — (U.P.) — Accidents in the kitchen, one of the most hazardous spots in the house, can be avoided. It just means a few everyday precautions, says Helen Becker, rural health specialist at the University of Nebraska.

Some of her suggestions: Turn handles of cooking utensils to the back of the stove.

Use a safe step ladder to reach high shelves and other difficult storage places.

All electric appliances near the sink should be grounded.

Electric cords, switches and plugs should be in good condition.
